Nuclear Pact Hailed, LBJ Vows U.S. Role

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson, in a surprise visit to the United Nations, congratulated the General Assembly Wednesday on approving the treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons and promised vigorous American efforts to de-escalate the nuclear arms race.

Johnson told the assembly in a 12-minute speech that the nuclear nonproliferation pact was "the most important international agreement in the field of disarmament since the nuclear age began."

Johnson entered the assembly hall shortly after the delegates approved the treaty 95-4 with 21 abstentions. Albania, Cuba, Tanzania and Zambia voted no. The resolution of approval recommended that all nations sign and ratify the treaty as soon as possible.

Albania and Cuba boycotted the President's speech, but those who heard him gave him the standing ovation before and after that is customary when a chief of state speaks to the assembly.

A few hours later, the assembly adjourned its 22nd session which began Sept. 19, recessed Dec. 19, and resumed April 24 to deal with the nonproliferation treaty and the U.N. effort to end South Africa's control over South-West Africa.

The nuclear treaty, first presented last August by the United States and the Soviet Union in the Geneva Disarmament Committee, binds signatory nations with nuclear weapons not to transfer them to other countries and nations without such weapons not to acquire them.

Legal Papers Served In Firemen's Dispute

Kingston's mayor, alderman-at-large, Common Council, treasurer and clerk were served with legal papers today in the continuing battle between the city and its firemen over wages for the fire fighters.

The papers are answerable in State Supreme Court, Albany, on June 28 at 10 a. m. Attorney for the firemen is S. James Matthews.

The petitioner is Robert Gollnick, president of Kingston Uniformed Fire Fighters Association Local 461, on behalf of the members of the local.

The petition is against Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, Alderman-at-large T. Robert Gallo, all 13 members of the Common Council. City Treasurer and Clerk were also named.

'Ghoulis, Distasteful'

Joe Answers RFK Aides

By LYNN MULVANEY

Bouncing back after bitter charges of hypocrisy were leveled at him by two top Kennedy aides, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick called a hurried news conference in New York City yesterday to denounce the Kennedy men's tactics as "ghoulis" and "distasteful."

Earlier in the day, Frank Mankiewicz, the late senator's press secretary, and Pierre Salinger, an advisor to Kennedy, unleashed a sharp attack against the Ellenville Democrat who is Eugene Nickerson's chief rival for the senatorial nomination next Tuesday.

The two aides, endorsing Nickerson, said Resnick had made "a life-time career out of attacking the motives, record and principles of Senator Kennedy."

They quoted Resnick as saying that Kennedy was "ruthless," "a political boss" and a man who "doesn't care whose dead body he steps on."

Salinger added that now Resnick "attempts to portray himself as a great admirer of Senator Kennedy."

Countering, Resnick said he was among the many who had criticized Senator Kennedy's campaign for the presidency.

"But this morning these men singled me out. Why? There is only one reason, Mr. Nickerson is hoping to get some votes out of it."

Resnick's office also called the Freeman today to say that reports in various newspapers around the state saying that the congressman was the only one of 41 congressional delegates in the state not to receive an invitation to RFK's funeral are false.

Resnick said he did receive an invitation and he did attend the funeral, and the fact is evidenced by television films showing him there.

Unusually elaborate security precautions surrounded President Johnson's visit to New York and to U.N. headquarters.

Mankiewicz said the attack was not leveled because of Resnick's refusal to support Kennedy for the presidency.

"This is not a case of political opposition. Resnick chose from the beginning not to make a question of issues but a question of personalities."

Nickerson, the 49-year-old Nassau County executive, had planned to campaign throughout the state with Kennedy in the final days before Tuesday's primary.

Since Kennedy's assassination he has abandoned sidewalk campaigning and is scheduled for some "low key" speeches before some "quiet groups."

But, after a three-way television debate Tuesday night with the two men facing their opponent Paul O'Dwyer, candidate of the Coalition for a Democratic Alternative, Resnick charged Nickerson with using Kennedy's grave as a soapbox. It's the lowest thing I have ever seen in politics."

Nickerson was the surprise choice of the Democratic Committee at its nomination meeting in March. Kennedy's forces dominated the committee, but Resnick won more than 25 percent of the votes.

Fear Spreads in Saigon As Reds Warn of Raids

SAIGON (AP) — Threats of a new ground attack and 100-rock-135 missions Wednesday over the southern panhandle. Their primary targets were highways, and trucks and cargo barges.

100-Day Shelling
The enemy's Liberation Radio broadcast warnings that the shelling of the capital would be renewed Monday and would continue for 100 consecutive days with nightly barrages of 100 rockets. It told the Saigonese to flee from the city.

Senior U.S. officials expressed doubt that the Viet Cong was capable of carrying out the rocket threat.

They said that the enemy might be able to get 100 rockets into position for one spectacular bombardment, but they could not possibly keep it up.

There were reports also that Viet Cong infantrymen would renew their attacks on the capital Saturday after laying off a week. Several propaganda leaflets were found in northern Saigon saying guerrillas would seize the area and the residents should go at least 500 yards away from their homes to avoid the fighting.

In light scattered action today, the Viet Cong hurled 20 mortar shells at an ammunition dump four miles northwest of the capital before dawn and shelled two provincial capitals. But Saigon itself had one of its quietest nights since ground and rocket attacks on the city began May 5.

June 15 Attack
Enemy soldiers captured earlier this month during street fighting in the capital said they had been ordered to pull back June 5 for a 10-day rest period. They said the attack, bolstered by fresh battalions, would resume June 15.

B-52s continued the saturation bombing campaign against North Vietnamese positions in the central highlands near Laos. The eight-engine bombers flew raids Wednesday night and this morning against enemy troop concentrations and gun positions north of Dak To.

Hanoi Studies Warning

PARIS (UPI) — North Vietnam today studied a stern American warning its failure to scale down the Vietnam War could imperil the future of preliminary talks on the conflict.

Ambassador-at-Large W. Averell Harriman of the United States delivered the warning Wednesday at the eighth negotiating session, describing Communist shelling of Saigon as an "act of terror" which could have "serious consequences" for the talks.

The Viet Cong failed to shell Saigon for the first time in 13 days overnight. They launched a mortar and infantry attack against an ammunition dump at the north edge of the capital but did not shell Saigon itself. It was not known if the American warning had anything to do with the lull.

In Washington, State Department sources said U.S. officials were becoming impatient over the lack of progress in the talks.

In the air war over North Vietnam, American pilots flew 135 missions Wednesday over the southern panhandle. Their primary targets were highways, and trucks and cargo barges.

GI Toll 380
U.S. military headquarters reported that 380 Americans were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, the lowest toll in five weeks. It was 58 less than the previous week.

The announcement said 2,739 Americans were wounded in action, more than 1,000 below the figure for the previous week. It said 1,360 of them required hospitalization.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 392 government soldiers were killed last week and 1,156 wounded, compared with 345 killed and 1,163 wounded the week before.

The two allied commands said 2,134 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were killed last week. It was the lowest enemy toll since the week ending April 27, when 2,110 dead were reported.

Meanwhile throughout South Vietnam, shells, rockets, bombs and bullets cut down hundreds on both sides as the North Vietnamese U.S. peace talks drag on in Paris. And the bloodiest of all battlefields is this region near the demilitarized zone.

A young Marine lieutenant directed his driver to check out a bridge on the road near this much-shelled combat base. A heavy duty truck followed.

As the Jeep approached the bridge a terrific explosion destroyed the span and sent shrapnel into the bodies of the Leath-erneck. When the smoke cleared, two were dead, a third was dying and Cpl. Robert Barnes, 19, Little Rock, Ark., the Jeep driver, felt rivulets of blood coursing from face and neck wounds.

One Navy doctor assigned to the Marines says "the big dying" along the DMZ started about the time preliminary peace talks opened in Paris last month.

After the talks were agreed to American troops facing the North Vietnamese frontier zone suffered more dead and wounded than in any previous month of the war. But no up-to-date figures are available.

Understandably, many Leath-erneck are cynical about the talks, which seem to them to be going nowhere.

Convict's Girl Nabbed For Smuggling Guns

ATLANTA (UPI) — A prison spokesman revealed today that the two guns were smuggled through a visitor's restroom pipeline to four convicts who held 21 hostages in Atlanta federal prison for 28 hours until their grievances were published.

Arrested by the FBI and charged with taking the .22 caliber and .32 caliber pistols into the prison was attractive Arlene Anna Granito, 25, fiancée of one of the four inmates.

Miss Granito of Newark, N.J., a former waitress, was picked up at a hamburger stand across from the fortress-like prison and held under $25,000 bond pending a hearing before a U.S. commissioner today.

The four prisoners, serving a total of 185 years on murder and bank robbery sentences, released their hostages unharmed about noon Wednesday after a newspaper, listing their complaints on the front page, was delivered to them in their barricaded room.

The rebellious prisoners, Ivan Daniel Neighbors, 25, serving 120 years for kidnapping and murder; Robert W. Gorman, serving 30 years for bank robbery; Ralph M. Lepisco, 25, serving 20 years for bank robbery and Frederick Freeman Leister Jr., 34, serving 15 years for bank robbery, were placed in "segregation" awaiting possible legal or disciplinary action.

Authorities said Miss Granito visited Lepisco, her fiancée, last Sunday. At that time, officials said, two pistols, four hacksaw blades and 100 rounds of ammunition were smuggled to the prisoners.

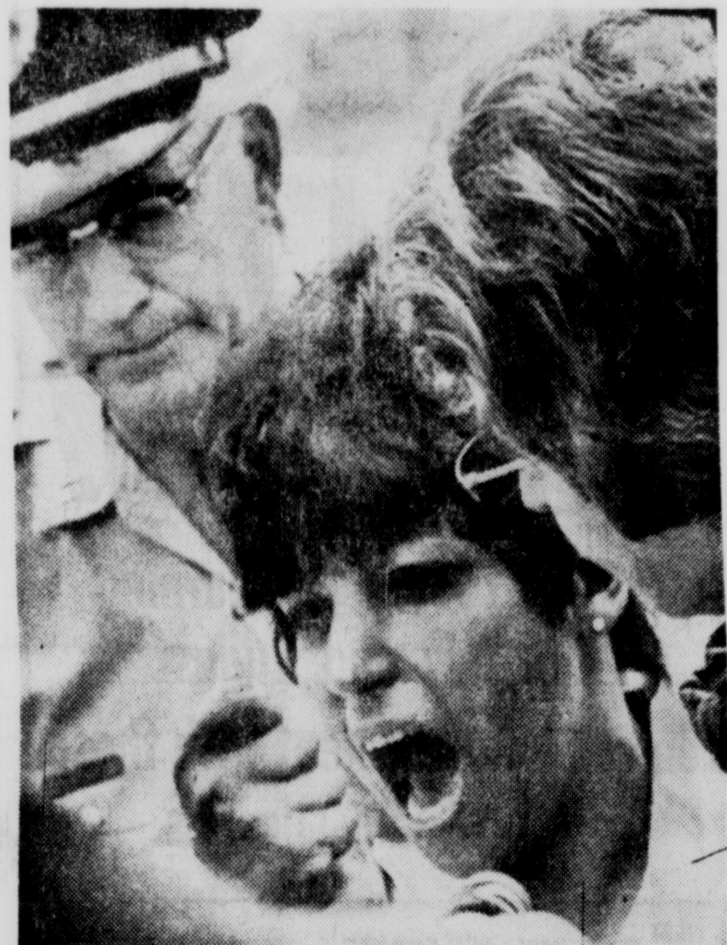

A line was dropped through a plumbing pipe that ran from the second floor detention area to the rest room in the visitors area downstairs, according to the prison spokesman. The guns and ammunition were attached to the line by the smuggler and then drawn upstairs through the pipe by the convicts.

The four convicts planned to escape the prison, but were surprised while trying to saw their way through the window of a second floor restroom in the administration building. Using the guns, they started taking hostages as prison employees began arriving for work around 8 a.m., EDT, Tuesday.

The hostages, including seven women, "were assured from the outset" we would not be harmed, associate Warden J. W. Land said. Two of the women became ill and were released. Two men later were let out, one to deliver a list of grievances for publication in the Atlanta Journal—the condition under which the convicts told authorities over a telephone intercom system, they would surrender.

When the Journal came out, it was sent up to the prisoners, who read their list of grievances in print. The article listed poor food, a lack of news coverage of prison life, dirty trays and utensils in the prison dining room, a charge that homosexuals worked in the dining room, and that a "goon squad beat troublesome prisoners as the main complaints."

ARRESTED — Arlene Granito of Newark, N. J., girlfriend of bank robber Ralph M. ## Ray Announces Advanced Grant For JFK Park Swimming Pool

By HUGH REYNOLDS

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan announced the advance of $15,000 from the State Conservation Department today to build a swimming pool at John F. Kennedy Park.

The $15,000 loan coupled with a $15,000 grant from the state will provide the funds for the pool which Garraghan expects to be completed by July 1. Work is expected to begin June 24 after signing of formal contracts with the state and approval by the County Health Department. The Palisades Interstate Park Commission will act as liaison.

The pool will be constructed by Paddock Pool Builders Inc. of Albany. It will measure 25 by 50 feet with a three and a half foot depth and be used to teach children how to swim.

The pool will be above ground for the most part and will be constructed with neumatically applied concrete.

Garraghan also announced today that plans for a new pavilion to be built near the pool are in their final stages. The Common Council approved funds for the pavilion at its May meeting, part of a $29,000 bond issue for recreation purposes.

The pavilion will measure 60 by 27 feet and will contain lock-er rooms, toilet facilities, storage rooms and a snack bar.

According to Garraghan, the city will not have to pay back the $15,000 loan from the state until the state's 1969-1970 fiscal year.

Mankiewicz said the attack was not leveled because of Resnick's refusal to support Kennedy for the presidency.

"Finally, in keeping with our obligations under the treaty, we shall, as a major nuclear power, promptly and vigorously pursue negotiations on effective measures to halt the nuclear arms race and to reduce existing nuclear arsenals."

OK Budgets In Dutchess

Rhinebeck and Red Hook year's proposed budget 2.1. School District voters went to Residents there approved a budget of $1,598,708, up $239,000 over last year by a vote of 502 to 249.

Voters also approved a transportation proposition 622-124 and filled two board vacancies. Hans Boehm, appointed to the school board last year, won a one-year term with 626 votes. He was unopposed for his seat.

In another contest, the incumbent, John Grim, was successful over his challenger, Richard Sugatt, with a vote of 388 to 315. Grim's term is for five years.

In Red Hook, voters passed the $2,269,494 budget by a majority of 235. The budget is up $315,399 from last year. Approval was also given for the sale of the Tivoli School and property with 275 persons sanctioning the move. In one contest for a school board seat, incumbent Francis Raddett was successful. He was unopposed.

Discuss Cars, Buildings, Barges At Esopus Town Board Meeting

Solutions for the problem of Ulster Park, St. Remy, the 213-Salem Road intersection, derelict cars, buildings and the scene of two fatal traffic accidents were reported at Wednesday night's meeting of Esopus Town Board held at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

At a previous meeting of the board it had been reported that there were four derelict buildings which were an eyesore and in some instances hazardous to children. It was determined at that time to write to the owners for action in alleviating the situation. George H. Freer, supervisor, reported two of the buildings are being refurbished by the owners and the remaining two will be razed under a contract awarded to Jack Spineveber Construction Company. The old Goat Farm on Union Center Road, Ulster Park and the old butcher shop in Connelly will be demolished. Cost of demolition will be added to the tax bill of the owners, Supervisor Freer said.

Will Tow Cars
The problem of junk cars was also solved with the announcement that Buck's Scrap Iron Company will tow away any junk car for $5 and dispose of the vehicle. There is no charge if the junk vehicle is delivered to Buck's site.

Supervisor Freer said that property owners with junk cars on their property will be notified and given 45 days to have the vehicles removed. If not removed the town will have the vehicle or vehicles removed and the $5 charge put on the tax bill of the property owner involved.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers notified the township that they are planning to remove all debris from the Hudson River including sunken barges, rotting piers and other hazards.

The notice announced that a public hearing was scheduled for Tuesday, June 18, at 1 p. m. at the Corps of Engineers Office in Poughkeepsie, and invited the public to report the location of any sunken barges and other hazards in the water.

Supervisor Freer saved the town $400 last month when he solved the need for 11 additional ballot boxes to be used for the primary elections Tuesday. The standard ballot boxes cost $40 each. However, a check with the Board of Elections disclosed that any box of suitable size with lock could be used for the primary election. The supervisor purchased 11 metal fishing tackle boxes with locks at $2 each.

State Grievance Day
The Board of Assessors reported that the current assessment roll is completed and Grievance Day has been scheduled for Tuesday, June 18 in the assessor's office of the Town Hall during regular business hours.

The Rev. Daniel L. Ogden, pastor of Port Ewen Reformed Church reporting for the Ross Park Commission told of setting up a four or five year plan for beautification and improvement of facilities. The funds needed will come out of the regular appropriations for park use.

The Town Board voted to allocate funds for preliminary evaluation for enrolling some 30 town employees under the State Retirement Plan.

Esopus Landowners Association representatives asked if the association could purchase the old schoolhouse in West Park from the town to be used as a clubhouse and meeting room. The delegation was told that under the terms of the original contract with the school district, the property if not used for public purposes would revert back to the school district.

Supervisor Freer reported on the roving Town Board meetings held each month in various communities of the township in addition to the regular meeting the second Wednesday of each month. Freer said, "It is difficult if not impossible to know the proper action to take unless we see the situation for ourselves." The last session was held June 4 when the board traveled to Union Center.

Onteora Voting Today

The Onteora School District voters in the Onteora School District will stand for only a $60,000 reduction of the original proposed budget. Replacing the defeated May budget, the present proposed school expense sheet represents a $60,000 reduction from the original $3,936,879 submission.

The school system serves students in Boiceville, Phoenicia, West Hurley and Woodstock.

The tax hike required to meet the budget estimates caused the defeat in May and, in the opinion of one taxpayer, the $60,000 reduction may not be enough of a cut.

"It remains to be seen whether the voters in the Onteora School District will stand for only a $60,000 reduction of the original proposed budget."

Defeating school budgets is not the way to get legislative action," the ad read. It went on to note: "Denying children an adequate education will not accomplish changes in the present tax structure. Don't take it out on the kids!"

Robinson said the reduction would "still leave a net increase to be raised by additional property taxes of $238,580 in addition to the already high school taxes."

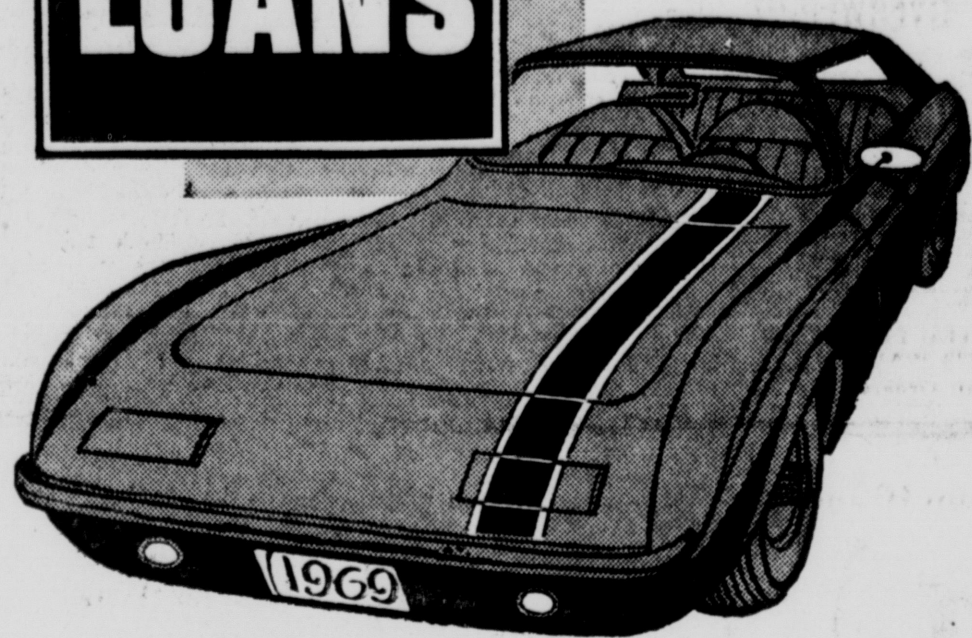

In yesterday's issue of The Freeman, an organization called the Onteora Citizens Committee urged area residents to vote "yes" on the budget in a paid advertisement.

"If you're concerned about increased property taxes, work through your state and county legislators to change the present tax laws. Defeating school budgets is not the way to get legislative action," the ad read.

Bake Sale

The Women of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Woodstock, will have a bake sale in front of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman, beginning at 9:30 a.m., Saturday. Homemade items including bread, cake, pickles, jams and jellies will be sold for the benefit of the church.

OK Budgets In Dutchess

Rhinebeck and Red Hook year's proposed budget 2.1. School District voters went to the polls yesterday and endorsed each of their proposed school budgets for the 1968-69 school year.

Rhinebeck, which last year went through four referendums before agreement on a budget could be reached passed this year's proposed budget of $1,598,708, up $239,000 over last year by a vote of 502 to 249.

Voters also approved a transportation proposition 622-124 and filled two board vacancies. Hans Boehm, appointed to the school board last year, won a one-year term with 626 votes. He was unopposed for his seat. In another contest, the incumbent, John Grim, was successful over his challenger, Richard Sugatt, with a vote of 388 to 315. Grim's term is for five years.

In Red Hook, voters passed the $2,269,494 budget by a majority of 235. The budget is up $315,399 from last year. Approval was also given for the sale of the Tivoli School and property with 275 persons sanctioning the move. In one contest for a school board seat, incumbent Francis Raddett was successful. He was unopposed.

Discuss Cars, Buildings, Barges At Esopus Town Board Meeting

Solutions for the problem of Ulster Park, St. Remy, the 213-Salem Road intersection, derelict cars, buildings and Route 213 area, Port Ewen and the scene of two fatal traffic barges were reported at Connelly. The next roving board mishaps. It was noted that a meeting will be held June 18, yield sign now controls traffic. The supervisor is writing to at the intersection. According to the State Transportation Department requests, Freer has asked for partment in regard to the Route stop signs or a traffic signal.

At a previous meeting of the board it had been reported that there were four derelict buildings which were an eyesore and in some instances hazardous to children. It was determined at that time to write to the owners for action in alleviating the situation. George H. Freer, supervisor, reported two of the buildings are being refurbished by the owners and the remaining two will be razed under a contract awarded to Jack Spinnewer Construction Company. The old Goat Farm on Union Center Road, Ulster Park and the old butcher shop in Connelly will be demolished. Cost of demolition will be added to the tax bill of the owners, Supervisor Freer said.

Will Tow Cars

The problem of junk cars was also solved with the announcement that Buck's Scrap Iron Company will tow away any junk car for $5 and dispose of the vehicle. There is no charge if the junk vehicle is delivered to Buck's site.

Supervisor Freer said that property owners with junk cars on their property will be notified and given 45 days to have the vehicles removed. If not removed the town will have the vehicle or vehicles removed and the $5 charge put on the tax bill of the property owner involved.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers notified the township that they are planning to remove all debris from the Hudson River including sunken barges, rotting piers and other hazards.

The notice announced that a public hearing was scheduled for Tuesday, June 18, at 1 p. m. at the Corps of Engineers Office in Poughkeepsie, and invited the public to report the location of any sunken barges and other hazards in the water.

Supervisor Freer saved the town $400 last month when he solved the need for 11 additional ballot boxes to be used for the primary elections Tuesday. The standard ballot boxes cost $40 each. However, a check with the Board of Elections disclosed that any box of suitable size with lock could be used for the primary election. The supervisor purchased 11 metal fishing tackle boxes with locks at $2 each.

Pick Albany And Buffalo As Targets

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People says Albany and Buffalo have been singled out as "target cities" for non-violent action this summer.

Jerry Guess, New York-New England field director for the NAACP, said Wednesday Albany had been chosen because of its "numerous problems."

Although he did not comment on the NAACP's plans for Buffalo, the scene of violence last summer in predominantly Negro neighborhoods, Guess did discuss the Albany situation.

The national leadership of the NAACP, he said, has approved "massive, collective non-violent protest activities to dramatize local, state and national attention upon discrimination in employment, de facto school segregation and discrimination in the rental and sale of houses."

"Unless something is done in Albany in the next few months, the forces of violence and destruction will reign supreme," Guess said.

The comments by Guess, made in a telephone interview with radio station WGY in Schenectady, came just one day after officials of the local NAACP chapter voted to conduct a rent strike and adopt a selective boycott.

That action was taken after Albany Mayor Erastus Corning rejected a list of 67 demands, dealing mainly with economic and housing problems, as "threatening in nature."

Guess termed the mayor's action as "shocking and disgraceful."

In Buffalo, the president of the state NAACP said demonstrations would be held there "sometime in July or August."

Donald R. Lee said the protests, to be aimed mostly at City Hall, would "be handled by the local NAACP with the assistance of an outside 'task force.'"

The head of the active civil rights group BUILD, however, predicted that "unless the NAACP have changed their tactics, we can't see the NAACP as an effective force in Buffalo."

William Gatter, president of the organization, said it was not likely that BUILD and the NAACP would be able to work together this summer.

"Unless there has been some miraculous change in their makeup, I don't see how we can," Gatter said. "The two groups are organized differently."

Student Leaders Make Plans To Spread Campus Revolts

Leaders of the radical student group that disrupted college campuses across the country during the past year now are talking of spreading their gospel of revolution to America's working classes.

The objective, said one national officer of Students for a Democratic Society, is "an alliance between students and workers—like in France."

Carl Davidson, SDS national secretary, said as the first step an undisclosed number of SDS members are taking summer jobs in big-city factories and are moving into blue-collar neighborhoods.

"We will learn how the workers think and how they live," Davidson said. "Then we can organize."

SDS, which claims 35,000 members on more than 200 campuses, has made similar attempts at community organizing in the past—generally without success.

In 1963, it launched Economic Research and Action Projects (ERAP) in slum areas of 10 cities, but two years later dissolved the ERAP structure.

"Our rhetoric sometimes gets ahead of our programs," Davidson said.

The renewed talk of expanding off campus follows two developments:

1. A year of unprecedented unrest on U.S. campuses, beginning with demonstrations against the Vietnam war and the military draft and ending with a paralyzing student strike at Columbia University.

2. The wave of disorders in France, sparked by a student-worker alliance that plunged President Charles de Gaulle's government into its gravest crisis.

Some SDS members contend the group should maintain its campus orientation, at least for present, and forget about trying to organize workers. Thus, the proposals for community organizing may touch off debate at an 11-hour plenary session today at the SDS annual convention at Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Newsman covering this week's convention are handed a nine-point memorandum stating that no one can be quoted directly or indirectly. And reporters were excluded from two workshops Wednesday.

But in the days preceding the convention, The Associated Press interviewed scores of SDS officers and members from Brooklyn to Berkeley. The bold talk of converting SDS into a broadly based home for all radicals cropped up repeatedly in these interviews and in various SDS documents.

"You're not a student forever," Davidson said as he ate apple pie in a restaurant near the SDS national office in Chicago and talked of the off-campus organizing plans—a project he dubbed "Discover America."

The 24-year-old Penn State graduate, who sports a shaggy mustache and wears heavy boots, plans to move to Philadelphia as an organizer after his term as national secretary ends this weekend.

Decentralization Delay Bill Signed

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — A plan that delays decentralization of the New York City school system for at least another year was signed into law Wednesday by Governor Rockefeller.

The measure directs an expanded city board of education to draw up a decentralization plan and submit it to the legislature and the State Board of Regents for approval next year.

Rockefeller's action ended speculation that he might veto the bill and call a special session of the legislature this summer to enact a strong decentralization plan that could take effect sooner.

Sided With Regents

The governor had reportedly sided with the regents in favoring a strong solution to the racially touchy question, this was scrapped in the closing hours of the 1968 legislature. The lawmakers finally adopted the milder plan after a week of discussion failed to bring agreement on any self-implementing plan.

"While the bill may not be satisfactory to all persons concerned, it sets up a framework for proper action," Rockefeller said in a memorandum accompanying the signing.

He noted the measure calls for increasing membership on the school board from nine to 13. The new members will be appointed by Mayor John Lindsay from a list submitted to him by a selection committee.

The selection panel is also increased by three members appointed directly by the mayor.

"The bill was adopted by the legislature after considerable study and debate and expresses their clear feeling of the need for decentralization and their desire to consider and act upon a plan to be presented at the next regular session," Rockefeller said.

Attempts to enact a stronger bill failed when no compromise could be found between the demands of the United Federation of Teachers and liberal city legislators.

The teachers were afraid they would lose much of their job security rights if liberal demands to give newly created local boards extensive powers were met.

At one point teachers union president Albert Shanker said he "had the votes to block any bill" which he felt would be harmful to the teachers, especially proposals giving local boards hiring and firing powers.

Threats Made

The explosive measure also drew threats of a sit-in in the governor's office from a group of liberal legislators demanding a stronger plan.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, one of the leaders who worked around the clock to seek a solution, finally accepted the mild plan, noting he "was tired of having upstate Republicans bail New York City out of its problems."

Display the Flag

Flag Day will be observed tomorrow throughout the country. All citizens should participate in its observance through simple, reverent and colorful participation by displaying the flag.

The chief purpose of Flag Day is to openly and publicly demonstrate our devotion to the national emblem. We should display the flag where everyone can see it.

In recent years there has been an unfortunate tendency to neglect to display the flag on patriotic occasions. If we will just stop and consider what sacrifices have been made to keep "Old Glory" flying, we will not neglect to display it prominently.

While the observance is nationwide, Flag Day has a special significance in New York State, for it was at Fort Stanwix in Rome, New York that the red, white and blue colors were first raised in battle during the American Revolution.

It also was in New York that the first official public observance of Flag Day was proclaimed by a State official in 1887. That year, the Governor of the Empire State ordered the display of "Old Glory" over all the public buildings in the state, leading the way to national recognition of our flag's birthday.

For nearly a year after the Declaration of Independence, we had no national flag. We had been fighting the British under a modified Union Jack. After the break, Revolutionary troops were going into battle under all sorts of banners.

To solve the problem, Congress finally passed the Flag Resolution of June 14, 1777. The resolution adopted called for 13 stripes of alternate red and white, with a union of 13 stars of white in a blue field, representing the new constellation.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York rejected paid commercial broadcasts in subways as an invasion of privacy. Subway riders would have been a captive audience, unlike people who can turn off the commercials in the privacy of their own homes, if they get bored.

Supreme Court Reprieve

Thirteen states have abolished the death penalty, but the U.S. Supreme Court has issued the most effective reprieve yet fashioned. By a 6 to 3 vote, the court disapproved most of the 400-odd death sentences outstanding in the United States.

The decision capped a series of court-made laws that has made it increasingly difficult to convict criminals and, now, almost impossible to punish the most serious among them with the ultimate punishment.

The outcries that have greeted previous decisions favoring criminals are mild compared to the one that rose across the country from prosecutors and police over the decision that it is unconstitutional to sentence to death a prisoner convicted of murder by a jury from which members opposed to capital punishment have been automatically excluded.

The decision struck at a basic practice in criminal law. Traditionally, jurors are excused from serving in a first degree murder case when they say they are opposed to capital punishment and could not render a verdict that carries that penalty with it.

Justice Potter Stewart, for the majority, ruled the prosecution may exclude prospective jurors "who will not even consider returning a verdict of death," but must abandon its long-standing practice of sweeping exclusion of those who register only general religious or philosophical objections in advance of trial. The court said that the trial judge must inquire further to determine if the juror's mind is closed on the penalty issue.

It is this kind of hair-splitting that has shaken public confidence in the court in criminal matters and caused attempts in Congress to override the court. It certainly plays havoc with law enforcement in capital punishment cases. The public view was expressed in the dissenting opinion by Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White. They said the court is imposing its own bias on lower courts in a ruling that would produce juries biased against the imposing a lawful death sentence.

The one-time managing editor of the Lexington, Ky., Herald, J. J. Shouse, became chairman of the Democratic National Committee from 1929 to 1932, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected President. Shouse broke with Roosevelt and wrote a book, "You Are the Government," critical of the New Deal. His death at 88 recalled the beginning of the social revolution in America.

Andrew F. Brimmer, the first Negro Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, rejected Negro separatism as contrary to U.S. policy. Predominantly black communities will doubtless be able to exercise strong political power in urban communities, he said, but a viable all-black economy is not at all promising. He spoke for moderate, common sense Negroes.

Suspect J. E. Ray May Have Had Accomplices

WASHINGTON — The most amazing thing about the capture in London of James Earl Ray, suspected assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., is the tremendous amount of work that had to be done in order to accomplish this.

"Fingerprints," a word much used but little understood, were the key, and few people realize what an enormous task was involved in identifying the suspected killer of Dr. King. Latent prints found on items near the scene of the King shooting on April 4 were not clear enough or complete enough to enable an identification to be made from fingerprints on file with the FBI.

The break in the Ray case came ten days after the shooting of Dr. King when the FBI located a rooming house in Atlanta where the suspect, then known as Eric Starvo Galt, had stayed and where he had left some papers. Included in these were maps, on one of which there was a clear print of one finger. But this was enough for the FBI, even though there are more than 188 million cards in its fingerprint files, representing nearly 82 million individuals.

To narrow the search, the FBI made certain assumptions on the basis of what was known about the suspected killer, including the likelihood that the man sought was a fugitive from justice, and the identity cards of nearly 2,000 fugitives were then subjected to an "eyeball" search by the FBI identification experts. Within a few hours, it was determined that the print belonged to James Earl Ray, who was found to have more than a dozen sets of fingerprints in FBI files. Copies of Ray's prints were sent to police agencies abroad. When he was picked up in London, fingerprints definitely identified him as the wanted man.

Fingerprinting is regarded as the only fool-proof system of identification. No two persons have identical prints. The appearance of an individual can be changed—hair can be dyed, eyeglasses worn, teeth pulled, mustaches or beards grown or shaven. But the pattern of fingerprints cannot be altered. It runs through layers after layer of skin, and, though it can be temporarily hidden by the removal of the flesh at the ends of the fingers or by burning them with acid, the same ridges will reappear as the scars heal.

Fingerprints as a means of identification goes back hundreds of years. Chinese documents of the eight century refer to fingerprints being impressed upon business contracts. The first authenticated record of official use of fingerprints in the United States occurred in 1882, when a man in charge of a field project of the U.S. Geological Survey working in New Mexico put his own print on commissary orders to prevent their forgery.

It was in 1902 that the New York Civil Service Commission began the first known systematic use of fingerprints in the United States. Police and prisons quickly picked up the method for identification of criminals, and the same system was adopted in 1905 by the United States Army. In 1924, the identification division of the FBI consolidated fingerprint records from all the various agencies, including many not concerned with law enforcements or criminals. The international exchange of fingerprint data was initiated in 1932.

Once an individual's fingerprints are on file, his identity can be determined no matter how many aliases he uses or physical changes he may make. Thus, James Earl Ray assumed different names and disguises, and carried fraudulent identification as he moved around from country to country. There was, however, no way by which he could change his fingerprints.

The big question now is where Ray got the money for his trips and the various documents he used in traveling under assumed identities. The suspicion is growing that he may have had accomplices in this country as well as in Canada, and the whole affair has the appearance of a planned conspiracy. In the search for possible associates, fingerprints undoubtedly will play a major role as they have brought about the capture of James Earl Ray, who now will be tried on a murder charge as the assassin of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Complete for Gore
"We have had some evidence introduced," wrote Perian, "which places the major responsibility (for TV gore) on the three networks. The legislation that we are drafting is directed at the networks and centers around giving the FCC increased power to insure that the networks adhere to their own standards of broadcasting.

"While the networks tend to point to writers and producers as those who are responsible for objectionable program content at earlier hearings, subsequent testimony and subpoenaed documents we now have in our possession prove that the networks are in a position to do control program content.

"Similar documents have been obtained relating to all three networks and should be in the public record to justify the introduction of the bill, the provisions of which are justified based on the subpoenaed records. . . .
"With the documents we have in hand, it is apparent that while not much can be done in relation to the writers, the producers, the advertisers, and the sponsors, the focal point of control is with the networks.

"It is here that the documents indicate almost complete lack of responsibility to children in the entertainment portions of their schedule, with the rating competition dictating all decisions. It is here that activities on the part of the federal government would be most effective and most justifiable."

Macabre TV Increases
Another staff study submitted to Dodd on the subject of TV violence was written by Ralph Garry of Boston University. He was asked to give an objective analysis of the evidence in the subcommittee files.

"Staff inventory shows that the industry has taken no steps to regulate itself," he reported to Dodd. "Not only have programs with a large dosage of violence trebled, but the portrayal of the macabre and sadistic has increased. . . .
"Research evidence submitted by experts acknowledged by the television industry rejects the oft-used excuse that violence and aggression on television relieves children of such feelings.

"In spite of prior statements by network personnel that if such programs could be shown as harmful they would be stopped, network officials ignored or rejected the research evidence.

"Networks control programming to a greater degree than heretofore, not only because costs are such that few sponsors can afford a long series, but as much because of network policy of obtaining partial financial ownership.

"Networks have exploited the use of sex, crime, and violence to attract or hold audience, although maintaining the opposite or minimizing same. . . .
"It is interesting to note," added the Garry study, "as regards the well-being of children, that network personnel are fully cognizant of the size of audience viewing programs but not number of children, indicating their lack of concern."

"My recommendation regarding the future course of the investigation is that we document and fix responsibility for recent network program policy."

Again, Dodd ignored the advice of his own consultant and locked up the study in the committee files.

Another Suppressed Memo
The subcommittee's press aide, Gene Gleason, pointed out in another suppressed memo that the networks also put commercial interests ahead of the public interest in presenting news.

"While television news operates under the guarantee of a free press," he wrote, "it does not operate very well. A prime example: The first Canaveral shot was one of the big news events of this year. Yet the biggest news show—the Huntley-Brinkley show—gave it only minimal coverage and virtually no filmed footage.

"Why? The fuels used at Canaveral were supplied by a competitor of the sponsor. The show and the men were severely criticized for this weakness. I could cite a dozen more examples of news censorship which is wholly undesirable in any fair representation of the news."

It will be interesting to see what, if anything, the FCC now does to remedy TV crime and the effect it has on the increased crime rate today.

Drew Pearson Says Senator Tom Dodd Suppressed Reports on Television Crime

GUN CONTROL

As early as Feb. 21, 1963, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson wrote a column urging a ban on mail-order guns and promoting a strict gun-control bill.

The importance of gun control regulation has now been recognized publicly by President Johnson and various other leaders following the recent assassinations.

WASHINGTON — Locked in the files of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee is evidence that the television networks have helped to spread violence in this country. This may well have contributed to the recent wave of assassinations. For TV has brought murder and mayhem into American homes as daily culture, replacing the nursery stories that used to be taught to children. Jack and Jill have been shoved aside by the man and the girl from U.N.C.L.E.

Juvenile delinquency committee documents fix the blame squarely on the networks which, in pursuit of higher ratings, have filled the video tubes with sex and violence. Staff studies accuse the networks of putting profits ahead of public responsibility.

These studies, written more than six years ago, were suppressed, ironically, by the same Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., who introduced the gun control bill to curb violence. His staff felt violence could be reduced by restraining the TV networks from teaching it to children. But Dodd didn't want to embarrass the powerful networks. He went after guns instead.

The President can do something about this by appointing a public-minded new member of the Federal Communications Commission. He has had no openings for some time but has one now.

One of the significant reports locked in the files was written by staff director Carl Perian, who recommended legislation to compel the networks to practice better broadcasting standards. His report, dated Jan. 22, 1962, was suppressed by Dodd.

"We have had some evidence introduced," wrote Perian, "which places the major responsibility (for TV gore) on the three networks. The legislation that we are drafting is directed at the networks and centers around giving the FCC increased power to insure that the networks adhere to their own standards of broadcasting.

Mayhem on City Streets Continues at Bloody Pace

By MIKE ROYKO

CHICAGO — The country mourned over the weekend. People looked over their hearts.

This is what it is like in Chicago when people go into morning and look into their hearts.

It was hot Saturday night so Nathan Ross and his sister walked to the lake. On the way back, they stopped to rest. Ross has deformed feet and he's 58, so he tires easily.

While they were sitting on a front porch, a man ran up to Ross. His sister says she doesn't know who he was or why he did it. The man shot Ross in the head and killed him. Then he ran away just like that. Maurice Lee, 26, took a walk, too. He was walking with his wife when a gang of kids jumped him. He struggled and one of them shot him in the head. Mrs. Lee went home a widow.

A man stood in front of a judge and was told he must never hit his son that hard again or next time he'd go to jail. The 9-year-old had stolen a can of shoe polish. His father taught him right from wrong by splitting his head so it took 10 stitches to close, and whipping open cuts in his back.

Lamar McCoy figured that if Bonnie and Clyde and Jesse James could do it, he could do it. So he got a gun and went looking for money, just like a folk hero.

He went in a restaurant and drew on a woman cashier. She pulled out a gun and shot him in the head. She was lucky. Sometimes the robber is shot. More often, the store keeper is. But with millions of guns around, the battle never ends.

Thomas Daniel, a gas station attendant was just cleaning his gun. The doctors say he will survive despite the large hole it made in his abdomen.

In the case of Buy Bibbs, somebody insulted somebody else in a tavern. The details will come out later when an inquest is held into Bibbs' death.

Abder Rayyan was both erasing anybody. He was in his grocery store when two men came in and shot him in the head. The police figure they were mad at him because he's a Jordanian and it was their way of avenging Sen. Kennedy's death. Just like in the better westerns they probably have seen.

And somebody broke into Mrs. Sophie McAlvenny's apartment and strangled her. She was a widow and a cripple.

John Hicks was quarreling with a friend over how to raise dogs. The friend finally settled the argument by stabbing Hicks in the heart.

Jim McPherson was stabbed 11 times but he was lucky enough to survive. As far as anyone can tell, he was just walking near the lake on the far north side when half a dozen young men felt like killing him.

At about the same hour, the county morgue got the bodies of a man named Driver and a woman named Young. They didn't know each other and had nothing in common, except that their respective mates had stabbed them to death during domestic quarrels. It is cheaper in the long run, to hire divorce lawyers.

In a park in the suburb of Chicago Heights, some teenagers got angry about something. Insults, the police say. Scott Christ died at the age of 18 of a knife wound.

If she's lucky, Margaret White will live. The police came by her street just in time to grab the man who was standing over her with a bloody brick in his hand.

By police standards, it was a fairly quiet weekend in Chicago.

There were only five murders with guns, and three or four with knives, plus a strangulation.

Of course, there were hundreds of other people put into hospitals fist and feet, bottles and bats.

There also were assaults on the nervous system. People on one street couldn't sleep much after some punks tossed homemade bombs on their porches, shattering dozens of windows. Nobody knows why. Just for fun, probably.

There were wife beaters and children beaters, street corner brawls, dozens of people who settled quarrels slugging someone.

We can't even begin to list all of those. I'm paid to write a column, not a daily book.

Assassin—a Faceless Man
all little fellows, zeroes, ciphers."

In a new book to be published in the fall, Dr. Menninger writes of Lee Harvey Oswald:

"Thwarted in repeated efforts to have someone pay attention to his puffed up insignificance, this nobody had concealed himself in a warehouse whence he could overlook thousands of his despised fellow citizens.

"Far below him they were singing hosannas to their radiant beloved young leader who, despite sneers and smears from a few other envious nonentities, had hidden smilingly in an open car through happy throngs of admirers. From his point of vantage far above, the insignificant but ambitious misfit watched intently through a telescope until the right moment.

"The little man in the warehouse was no longer anonymous."

Assassins have a sense of self-importance they feel is not being recognized by others, said Dr. Menninger.

"Remember Emily Dickinson's poem," he asked, and then quoted, "I'm a nobody, who are you?"

"You are a nobody, too."

"There are a lot of nobodies in the world and some of them want to be somebodies," he went on.

"One way to become famous instantly is to do something to famous people or go up to the top of a tower and shoot a mass of people."

The motivation, the psychiatrist believes, is far more personal than it is political or social."

Humphrey Not McCarthy, Inherits Kennedy Strength

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON (NEA)

The realities offer little support for the optimism of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's forces that, with the death of Robert Kennedy, they will become a truly major threat to front-running Vice President Humphrey for the 1968 nomination.

Even as the news of Kennedy's assassination was dominating the world scene, quiet assurances were coming to Humphrey's aides that decisive new strength would now be coming his way.

While Kennedy still lived, the vice president's agents privately counted upwards of 1,400 convention delegate votes for their man—leaving out the 118 Illinois total tied to Mayor Richard Daley. This judgment may not have been warranted then, but it surely is today.

McCarthy's handicaps as Humphrey's only remaining rival are severe. He lost six of the eight primaries he entered (including little-noticed Florida). His only victories came in Wisconsin and Oregon.

No amount of giddy nonsense about "moral victories" from McCarthy managers and followers can transform losing percentages ranging from 42 down to 20 into genuine political successes.

Furthermore, in the process of losing three-fourths of his primary campaigns, McCarthy disclosed a glaring inability to win the so-called "gut" vote—Negro, other nonwhite, national minority, blue collar—which most Democratic leaders still see as the foundation rock for their success in national elections.

Where he was entered and that vote was major, Kennedy got it. In New Hampshire and Wisconsin, President Johnson got much of it, though he was just a write-in in one case and had actually signified his intent not to run by the time he was measured on the ballot against McCarthy in Wisconsin.

The postmortem polling evidence indicates, moreover, that a good share of the suburban white vote which kept swelling McCarthy's primary totals did not support his crucial antiwar views and thought of him as in a largely conservative mold.

There had to be more than a little suspicion, too, that this vote was in considerable part anti-Kennedy and might have gone to Humphrey had he been openly on the ballot in contested states.

Where party crossovers were allowed, as in Wisconsin, the signs suggested that anti-Kennedy Republicans were further boosting McCarthy—with the full intent to vote for the Republican nominee in November.

All aside from their fuzzy effusions equating defeat with victory in place after place, the McCarthy forces have consistently blinded themselves to the fact that so much of his vote has come from people who either wanted simply to block Kennedy or misread the Minnesota senator's real nature and political bent.

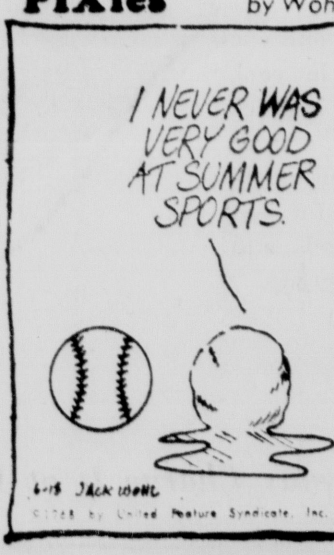

Party leaders in California (where the delegation tied to a victorious Kennedy is now released), Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York are unlikely to be so blinded. They do not see McCarthy as a winning type in vital Democratic areas.

Humphrey, old-time "gut-vote" liberal, is the more natural inheritor of the late Bob Kennedy's impressive strength.

On top of this, the vice president has from the outset cashed in heavily on the very strong loyalist strain which prevails in the Democratic party. Tens and tens of delegates have been his almost without a struggle. They would have been the President's had he decided to run again.

In truth, this great delegate base which Humphrey acquired so quickly is the incontestable proof that Kennedy was acting not from fear but from sound political judgment and advice when he hesitated so long over challenging the deeply entrenched loyalist forces. Behind Humphrey, those forces today are stronger than ever.

Display the Flag

Flag Day will be observed tomorrow throughout the country. All citizens should participate in its observance through simple, reverent and colorful participation by displaying the flag.

The chief purpose of Flag Day is to openly and publicly demonstrate our devotion to the national emblem. We should display the flag where everyone can see it.

In recent years there has been an unfortunate tendency to neglect to display the flag on patriotic occasions. If we will just stop and consider what sacrifices have been made to keep "Old Glory" flying, we will not neglect to display it prominently.

Drew Pearson Says

Senator Tom Dodd Suppressed Reports on Television Crime

GUN CONTROL
As early as Feb. 21, 1963, Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson wrote a column urging a ban on mail-order guns and promoting a strict gun-control bill.

The importance of gun control regulation has now been recognized publicly by President Johnson and various other leaders following the recent assassinations.

WASHINGTON — Locked in the files of the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Subcommittee is evidence that the television networks have helped to spread violence in this country. This may well have contributed to the recent wave of assassinations.

For TV has brought murder and mayhem into American homes as daily culture, replacing the nursery stories that used to be taught to children. Jack and Jill have been shoved aside by the man and the girl from U.N.C.L.E.

Juvenile delinquency committee documents fix the blame squarely on the networks which, in pursuit of higher ratings, have filled the video tubes with sex and violence. Staff studies accuse the networks of putting profits ahead of public responsibility.

These studies, written more than six years ago, were suppressed, ironically, by the same Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn., who introduced the gun control bill to curb violence. His staff felt violence could be reduced by restraining the TV networks from teaching it to children. But Dodd didn't want to embarrass the powerful networks. He went after guns instead.

The President can do something about this by appointing a public-minded new member of the Federal Communications Commission. He has had no openings for some time but has one now.

One of the significant reports locked in the files was written by staff director Carl Perian, who recommended legislation to compel the networks to practice better broadcasting standards. His report, dated Jan. 22, 1962, was suppressed by Dodd.

Complete for Gore
"We have had some evidence introduced," wrote Perian, "which places the major responsibility (for TV gore) on the three networks. The legislation that we are drafting is directed at the networks and centers around giving the FCC increased power to insure that the networks adhere to their own standards of broadcasting.

"While the networks tended to point to writers and producers as those who are responsible for objectionable program content at earlier hearings, subsequent testimony and subpoenaed documents we now have in our possession prove that the networks are in a position to and do control program content.

"Similar documents have been obtained relating to all three networks and should be in the public record to justify the introduction of the bill, the provisions of which are justified based on the subpoenaed records. . . .

"With the documents we have in hand, it is apparent that while not much can be done in relation to the writers, the producers, the advertisers, and the sponsors, the focal point of control is with the networks.

"It is here that the documents indicate almost complete lack of responsibility to children in the entertainment portions of their schedule, with the rating competition dictating all decisions. It is here that activities on the part of the federal government would be most effective and most justifiable."

Macabre TV Increases
Another staff study submitted to Dodd on the subject of TV violence was written by Ralph Garry of Boston University. He was asked to give an objective analysis of the evidence in the subcommittee files.

"Staff inventory shows that the industry has taken no steps to regulate itself," he reported to Dodd. "Not only have programs with a large dosage of violence trebled, but the portrayal of the macabre and sadistic has increased. . . .

"Research evidence submitted by experts acknowledged by the television industry rejects the oft-used excuse that violence and aggression on television relieves children of such feelings.

"In spite of prior statements by network personnel that if such programs could be shown as harmful they would be stopped, network officials ignored or rejected the research evidence.

"Networks control programming to a greater degree than heretofore, not only because costs are such that few sponsors can afford a single series, but as much because of network policy of obtaining partial financial ownership.

"Networks have exploited the use of sex, crime, and violence to attract or hold audience, although maintaining the opposite or minimizing same.

"It is interesting to note," added the Garry study, "as regards the well-being of children, that network personnel are fully cognizant of the size of audience viewing programs but not number of children, indicating their lack of concern.

"My recommendation regarding the future course of the investigation is that we document and fix responsibility for recent network program policy."

Again, Dodd ignored the advice of his own consultant and locked up the study in the committee files.

Another Suppressed Memo
The subcommittee's press aide, Gene Gleason, pointed out in another suppressed memo that the networks also put commercial interests ahead of the public interest in presenting news.

"While television news operates under the guarantee of a free press," he wrote, "it does not operate very well. A prime example: The first Canaveral shot was one of the big news events of this year. Yet the biggest news show—the Huntley-Brinkley show—gave it only minimal coverage and virtually no filmed footage.

"Why? The fuels used at Canaveral were supplied by a competitor of the sponsor. The show and the men were severely criticized for this weakness. I could cite a dozen more examples of raw censorship which is wholly undesirable in any fair representation of the news."

It will be interesting to see what, if anything, the FCC now does to remedy TV crime and the effect it has on the increased crime rate today.

Mayhem on City Streets Continues at Bloody Pace

By MIKE ROYKO

CHICAGO — The country mourned over the weekend. People looked into their hearts.

This is what it is like in Chicago when people go into morning and look into their hearts.

It was hot Saturday night so Nathan Ross and his sister walked to the lake. On the way back, they stopped to rest. Ross has deformed feet and he's 38, so he tires easily.

While they were sitting on a front porch, a man ran up to Ross. His sister says she doesn't know who he was or why he did it. The man shot Ross in the head and killed him. Then he ran away just like that. Maurice Lee, 26, took a walk, too. He was walking with his wife when a gang of kids jumped him. He struggled and one of them shot him in the head, Mrs. Lee went home a widow.

A man stood in front of a judge and was told he must never hit his son that hard again or next time he'd go to jail. The 9-year-old had stolen a can of shoe polish. His father taught him right from wrong by splitting his head so it took 10 stitches to close, and whipping open cuts in his back.

Lamar McCoy figured that if Bonnie and Clyde and Jesse James could do it, he could do it. So he got a gun and went looking for money, just like a folk hero.

He went in a restaurant and drew on a woman cashier. She pulled out a gun and shot him in the head. She was lucky. Sometimes the robber is shot. More often, the store keeper is. But with millions of guns around, the battle never ends.

Thomas Daniel, a gas station attendant was just cleaning his gun. The doctors say he will survive despite the large hole it made in his abdomen.

In the case of Buy Bibbs, somebody insulted somebody else in a tavern. The details will come out later when an inquest is held into Bibbs' death.

Abder Rayyan wasn't bothering anybody. He was in his grocery store when two men came in and shot him in the head. The police figure they were mad at him because he's a Jordanian and it was their way of avenging Sen. Kennedy's death. Just like in the better westerns they probably have seen.

And somebody broke into Mrs. Sophie McAlvenny's apartment and strangled her. She was a widow and a cripple.

John Hicks was quarreling with a friend over how to raise dogs. The friend finally settled the argument by stabbing Hicks in the heart.

Jim McPherson was stabbed 11 times but he was lucky enough to survive. As far as anyone can tell, he was just walking near the lake on the far north side when half a dozen young men felt like killing him.

At about the same hour, the county morgue got the bodies of a man named Driver and a woman named Young. They didn't know each other and had nothing in common, except that their respective mates had stabbed them to death during domestic quarrels. It is cheaper in the long run, to hire divorce lawyers.

In a park in the suburb of Chicago Heights, some teenagers got angry about something. Insults, the police say. Scott Chriss died at the age of 18 of a knife wound.

If she's lucky, Margaret White will live. The police came by her street just in time to grab the man who was standing over her with a bloody brick in his hand.

By police standards, it was a fairly quiet weekend in Chicago.

There were only five murders with guns, and three or four with knives, plus a strangulation.

Of course, there were hundreds of other people put into hospitals fist and feet, bottles and bats.

There also were assaults on the nervous systems. People on one street couldn't sleep much after some punks tossed homemade bombs on their porches, shattering dozens of windows. Nobody knows why. Just for fun, probably.

There were wife beaters and children beaters, street corner brawls, dozens of people who settled quarrels slugging someone.

Assassin—a Faceless Man

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Chicago Daily News Service

CHICAGO — They are anonymous, embittered, disorganized attention-seekers.

They burst into the limelight, flutter like a moth for a few seconds in the incandescence of horrified world attention, then vanish from sight, leaving behind a hundred million shocked grief-stricken mourners.

Such is the identifying mark of the assassin, in the belief of Dr. Karl Menninger, the famed Chicago psychiatrist.

"Every assassin since Brutus has been a faceless man he points out. 'Erutus was a distinguished man who thought he was doing his duty. But there haven't been many of that order. The rest were all little fellows, zeroes, ciphers."

In a new book to be published in the fall, Dr. Menninger writes of Lee Harvey Oswald:

"Thwarted in repeated efforts to have someone pay attention to his puffed up insignificance, this nobody had concealed himself in a warehouse whence he could overlook thousands of his despised fellow citizens.

"Far below him they were singing hosannas to their radiant beloved young leader who, despite sneers and smears from a few other envious nonentities, had ridden smilingly in an open car through happy throngs of admirers. From his point of vantage far above, the insignificant but ambitious misfit watched intently through a telescope until the right moment.

"The little man in the warehouse was no longer anonymous.

Assassins have a sense of self-importance they feel is not being recognized by others," said Dr. Menninger.

"Remember Emily Dickinson's poem," he asked, and then quoted: "I'm a nobody, who are you?"

"You are a nobody, too." "There are a lot of nobodies in the world and some of them want to be somebodies," he went on.

"One way to become famous instantly is to do something to famous people or go up to the top of a tower and shoot a mass of people."

The motivation, the psychiatrist believes, is far more personal than it is political or social.

Humphrey Not McCarthy, Inherits Kennedy Strength

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The realities offer little support for the optimism of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's forces that, with the death of Robert Kennedy, they will become a truly major threat to front-running Vice President Humphrey for the 1968 nomination.

Even as the news of Kennedy's assassination was dominating the world scene, quiet assurances were coming to Humphrey's aides that decisive new strength would now be coming his way.

While Kennedy still lived, the vice president's agents privately counted upwards of 1,400 convention delegate votes for their man—leaving out the 118 Illinois total tied to Mayor Richard Daley. This judgment may not have been warranted then, but it surely is today.

McCarthy's handicaps as Humphrey's only remaining rival are severe. He lost six of the eight primaries he entered (including little-noticed Florida). His only victories came in Wisconsin and Oregon.

No amount of giddy nonsense about "moral victories" from McCarthy managers and followers can transform losing percentages ranging from 42 down to 20 into genuine political successes.

Furthermore, in the process of losing three-fourths of his primary campaigns, McCarthy disclosed a glaring inability to win the so-called "gut" vote—Negro, other nonwhite, national minority, blue collar—which most Democratic leaders still see as the foundation rock for their success in national elections.

Where he was entered and that vote was major, Kennedy got it. In New Hampshire and Wisconsin, President Johnson got much of it, though he was just a write-in in one case and had actually signified his intent not to run by the time he was measured on the ballot against McCarthy in Wisconsin.

The postmortem polling evidence indicates, moreover, that a good share of the suburban white vote which kept swelling McCarthy's primary totals did not support his crucial antiwar views and thought of him as in a largely conservative mold.

There had to be more than a little suspicion, too, that this vote was in considerable part anti-Kennedy and might have gone to Humphrey had he been openly on the ballot in contested states.

Where party crossovers were allowed, as in Wisconsin, the signs suggested that anti-Kennedy Republicans were further boosting McCarthy—with the full intent to vote for the Republican nominee in November.

All aside from their fuzzy effusions equating defeat with victory in place after place, the McCarthy forces have consistently blinded themselves to the fact that so much of his vote has come from people who either wanted simply to block Kennedy or misread the Minnesota senator's real nature and political bent.

Party leaders in California (where the delegation tied to a victorious Kennedy is now released), Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York are unlikely to be so blinded. They do not see McCarthy as a winning type in vital Democratic areas.

Humphrey, old-time "gut-vote" liberal, is the more natural inheritor of the late Bob Kennedy's impressive strength.

On top of this, the vice president has from the outset cashed in heavily on the very strong loyalist strain which prevails in the Democratic party. Tens and tens of delegates have been his almost without a struggle. They would have been the President's had he decided to run again.

In truth, this great delegate base which Humphrey acquired so quickly is the incontestable proof that Kennedy was acting not from fear but from sound political judgment and advice when he hesitated so long over challenging the deeply entrenched loyalist forces. Behind Humphrey, those forces today are stronger than ever.

Work of the SPCA

Editor, The Freeman:

The SPCA is currently under fire from both the head of a local radio station and a City of Kingston alderman. The former calls for a "non-partisan committee to wage war on pigeons and dogs," the latter is arranging for the pigeons to be "trapped and shipped to Canada for use as trap shooting targets." It is little wonder that both are antagonistic toward the SPCA, a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The alderman, who is concerned about the City's getting "its money's worth" from its $4,000 annual SPCA contribution, is unconcerned about the 30 to 35 dollars spent on each trap. The cost of crating and shipping the birds to Canada she accepts without question. If the birds were to be resettled there in less populated areas, I would say it was money well spent. However, for them to be eventually blown to bits by practicing hunters seems merely an expensive and cruel postponement of what could be done humanely immediately after their capture.

The demand for action on both the pigeon and dog problems is legitimate, but the over 700 unlicensed dogs are the responsibility of the City offices, not the SPCA. I am a resident of the Township of Rosendale and within a month of the licensing deadline the Town Clerk is calling reminders to delinquent owners. A call or two is usually sufficient to make each person pay his fee. Clamping down on delinquent owners by this or more stringent means would whittle down the number to a figure that could be handled by our SPCA staff.

The alderman believes that the answer is rather to hire a City dog catcher and turn the animals over to the SPCA. Under these circumstances our shelter, even if it were equipped to care for such an enormous number of dogs, would be under no obligation to do so. Besides the salary of a dog catcher, the City would have to provide and maintain a vehicle for this purpose. Since it is the law that these dogs must be held for five days, kennels would have to be built and maintained, food purchased and the unclaimed destroyed and disposed of. Does the alderman believe she can accomplish this for $4,000?

Towns with dog wardens are not as dependent upon the services of the SPCA to collect stray and injured animals. Unfortunately, in Ulster County, these are in the minority. As a result, our two ambulances must cover practically the entire county. In spite of this it has been my experience as a veterinarian that they are doing an excellent job. For example, last month a friend called, begging me to hurry to Stone Ridge to treat a seriously injured Bassett hound, whose owner was unknown. When I arrived twenty minutes later, Mr. Adams of the SPCA was already at the scene, ready to rush the injured animal to a veterinarian had I been unavailable. This is the type of work the SPCA is intended to perform.

As I mentioned earlier, the law requires that a stray animal be held five days before being placed or destroyed. I would like to emphasize how fortunate we are in having truly kind and concerned people manning our SPCA. Because of their hope that someone will soon adopt them, countless cats and dogs remain weeks and even months beyond their allotted five days.

Despite the shelter's limited funds, it pays to have a sizable number of female dogs spayed before placement. They also request that those adopting female cats and dogs have them spayed. Those unable to afford this are put in touch with Friends of Animals, an organization which subsidizes this important work. Unfortunately these efforts to prevent unwanted litters are not enough. If the critics of our shelter really want to do something about the dog problem, let them turn their energies and facilities toward the education of the public concerning indiscriminate breeding of pets. Our SPCA is not crowded because of the strayed and abandoned adult animals, but because of the endless litters.

Many people feel that it is unnatural and unfair to prevent animals from reproducing, some use pets to teach their children the facts of life. Regardless of the reason, our SPCA is the natural dumping ground for the results. I often hear people say, "We just took our litter to the shelter. They'll find homes for them." This is wishful thinking. The supply is so much greater than the demand during most seasons that only a fraction can be placed. Until people realize that uncontrolled breeding is a cruelty rather than a kindness our shelters will continue to bulge.

The cost of operating the SPCA for a year is $24,000. The $4,000 from the City of Kingston and the $6,000 from the County are the only monies they can rely on. The balance must be obtained from donations and fund raising projects such as raffles and bake and rummage sales. One officer runs an obedience training school, another sells plants and handicrafts to raise money. When one considers that the salaries of three employees must be paid, ambulances purchased and kept, food and veterinary bills paid and the facilities maintained and repaired, it is amazing that so much is done with so little.

Sincerely,
DR. ANDRE ROSS

A Child's Thoughts

Editor, The Freeman:

This is the first letter to the editor I have ever written because I was an American in the majority with my feelings but never the strength to support and voice them. I am no longer an apathetic American. I am joining the minority; I have an opinion and I have the energy now to voice it.

My job as a teacher has contributed to this energy. This morning I was asked to discuss the Robert Kennedy assassination with my class. We discussed our responsibility as Americans and the sacrifices that are made by men who try to support those of us who are shirking our responsibility. One child said, "It seems like all the people that try to help us get killed." We decided that this must be happening because we are not protecting those good people who are trying to help us.

A child put the following thoughts on my desk before she went for recess:

"It makes me sad to think that people don't like other people just because they have long hair or they are Roman Catholics. This is what happened to Robert Kennedy and John F. Kennedy. About five years ago John Kennedy was assassinated and yesterday Robert Kennedy was assassinated. There is only one son in the whole Kennedy family that is left. Let us all say a prayer for the rest of the family but first we all should be glad that the Kennedys are holding out as much as they can. The people that killed or assassinated Robert and John Kennedy did not know how much experience they both had. Now let us pray for the rest of the Kennedy's that they have a better life than what they have been having for about 10 years. Amen. Even though people who did not like the two Kennedys who were assassinated and those who don't like the rest of the Kennedy's please pray for them every night. Thank you. You are responsible. I am too."

I changed the spelling of the word assassinated in this student's composition; I hope we will never have to put it on a list of common spelling words. When I was the age of my students I saw this word only in relation to the assassination of President Lincoln in my history book. Now we see it alive in the news and we have seen it at least three times in the last five years. What is happening to us?

We vote down school budgets; admitting that the system is good and money is needed to run it. Many Nos say the budget is O.K. but we can't afford the taxes. Are we being responsible when children are forced to pay in their education for our apathy? It is easier to take five seconds and push the "NO" lever than it is to sit down and write letters to those you elected (or did you bother to elect them) who can change the law. It would have been easier for me to have a cup of coffee and prepare and mark papers for tomorrow.

I hope my student's message in this letter brings a reader to the minority; the minority who has an educated opinion and the time and energy to express it. "Thank you. You are responsible. I am too."

Support Young Teams

Editor The Freeman

I am writing this letter for all the kids in the Kingston area who play in some form of organized baseball. These kids are not only getting a bang out of playing our national pastime, but I think also they are learning a lesson in discipline, teamwork, and more important how to compete against other competition in fair, head to head "combat." However, it seems to me that the support they get from the local citizens is a disgrace.

I was at Dietz Stadium both Thursday night and tonight and people who showed up for both games you could fit in a sardine can. These kids need not only financial support but the support of the hometown people. So I urge all the citizens of Kingston to come out and watch these kids and see how our boys learn to be good, clean, loyal Americans instead of rioting, dirty, bearded, morons who could care less about America and her future.

Come out and watch these kids and encourage them and root for them because among them are our future leaders. Show them that we do care for the young people and that they hold the future glory of America and not the dooped minority.

See you at the stadium.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 11 — Vice President Hubert Humphrey has taken over the lead in trial heat races against both Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Humphrey trailed both men in May.

Humphrey currently wins the vote of 42 per cent of the nation's likely voters to 36 per cent for Nixon and 14 per cent for Ex-Alabama Gov. George Wallace, running on the American Independent party ticket.

The Vice President's margin over Rockefeller is smaller, 39 per cent to 36 per cent, with Wallace coming in at 17 per cent. Rockefeller does better than Nixon because of his greater appeal to dissident Democrats.

Recent Events Had Little Impact

The findings reported today are based on a national sample of likely voters completed just prior to the California primary. A subsequent check-back with a sample of the same voters, conducted immediately following the primary and the tragic shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy, revealed little appreciable change in support for any of the candidates.

Humphrey has steadily gained ground since he announced his candidacy in early spring. In the two previous surveys, reported in May and April, Nixon led Humphrey.

Rockefeller also led the Vice President in May. (Rockefeller was not included in the April trial heat contest).

This was the question asked of 1,570 adults nationwide: The results based on likely voters:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If Richard Nixon (Nelson Rockefeller) were the Republican candidate, and Hubert Humphrey were the Democratic candidate, and George Wallace were the candidate of a third party, which man would you like to see win?"

The following table shows the trend in trial heats since April:

Nixon - Humphrey - Wallace

	June	May	April
Humphrey	42	36	34
Nixon	36	39	43
Wallace	14	14	9
Undecided	8	11	14

Rockefeller - Humphrey - Wallace

	June	May	April
Humphrey	39	33	—
Rockefeller	36	40	—
Wallace	17	16	—
Undecided	8	11	—

Besides the salary of a dog catcher, the City would have to provide and maintain a vehicle for this purpose. Since it is the law that these dogs must be held for five days, kennels would have to be built and maintained, food purchased and the unclaimed destroyed and disposed of. Does the alderman believe she can accomplish this for $4,000?

Towns with dog wardens are not as dependent upon the services of the SPCA to collect stray and injured animals. Unfortunately, in Ulster County, these are in the minority. As a result, our two ambulances must cover practically the entire county. In spite of this it has been my experience as a veterinarian that they are doing an excellent job. For example, last month a friend called, begging me to hurry to Stone Ridge to treat a seriously injured Bassett hound, whose owner was unknown. When I arrived twenty minutes later, Mr. Adams of the SPCA was already at the scene, ready to rush the injured animal to a veterinarian and I been unavailable. This is the type of work the SPCA is intended to perform.

As I mentioned earlier, the law requires that a stray animal be held five days before being placed or destroyed. I would like to emphasize how fortunate we are in having truly kind and concerned people manning our SPCA. Because of their hope that someone will soon adopt them, countless cats and dogs remain weeks and even months beyond their allotted five days.

Despite the shelter's limited funds, it pays to have a sizable number of female dogs spayed before placement. They also request that those adopting female cats and dogs have them spayed. Those unable to afford this are put in touch with Friends of Animals, an organization which subsidizes this important work. Unfortunately these efforts to prevent unwanted litters are not enough. If the critics of our shelter really want to do something about the dog problem, let them turn their energies and facilities toward the education of the public concerning indiscriminate breeding of pets. Our SPCA is not crowded because of the stray and abandoned adult animals, but because of the endless litters.

Many people feel that it is unnatural and unfair to prevent animals from reproducing, some use pets to teach their children the facts of life. Regardless of the reason, our SPCA is the natural dumping ground for the results. I often hear people say, "We just took our litter to the shelter. They'll find homes for them." This is wishful thinking. The supply is so much greater than the demand during most seasons that only a fraction can be placed. Until people realize that uncontrolled breeding is a cruelty rather than a kindness our shelters will continue to bulge.

The cost of operating the SPCA for a year is $24,000. The $4,000 from the City of Kingston and the $6,000 from the County are the only monies they can rely on. The balance must be obtained from donations and fund raising projects such as raffles and bake and rummage sales. One officer runs an obedience training school, another sells plants and handicrafts to raise money. When one considers that the salaries of three employees must be paid, ambulances purchased and kept, food and veterinary bills paid and the facilities maintained and repaired, it is amazing that so much is done with so little.

Sincerely,
DR. ANDRE ROSS

A Child's Thoughts

Editor, The Freeman:

This is the first letter to the editor I have ever written because I was an American in the majority with my feelings but never the strength to support and voice them. I am no longer an apathetic American—I am joining the minority; I have an opinion and I have the energy now to voice it.

My job as a teacher has contributed to this energy. This morning I was asked to discuss the Robert Kennedy assassination with my class. We discussed our responsibility as Americans and the sacrifices that are made by men who try to support those of us who are shirking our responsibility. One child said, "It seems like all the people that try to help us get killed." We decided that this must be happening because we are not protecting those good people who are trying to help us.

A child put the following thoughts on my desk before she went for recess: "It makes me sad to think that people don't like other people just because they have long hair or they are Roman Catholics. This is what happened to Robert Kennedy and John F. Kennedy. About five years ago John Kennedy was assassinated and yesterday Robert Kennedy was assassinated. There is only one son in the whole Kennedy family that is left. Let us all say a prayer for the rest of the family but first we all should be glad that the Kennedy's are holding out as much as they can. The people that killed or assassinated Robert and John Kennedy did not know how much experience they both had. Now let us pray for the rest of the Kennedy's that they have a better life than what they have been having for about 10 years. Amen. Even though people who did not like the two Kennedys who were assassinated and those who don't like the rest of the Kennedy's please pray for them every night. Thank you. You are responsible. I am too."

I changed the spelling of the word assassinated in this student's composition; I hope we will never have to put it on a list of common spelling words. When I was the age of my students I saw this word only in relation to the assassination of President Lincoln in my history book. Now we see it alive in the news and we have seen it at least three times in the last five years. What is happening to us?

We vote down school budgets; admitting that the system is good and money is needed to run it. Many of us say the budget is O.K. but we can't afford the taxes. Are we being responsible when children are forced to pay in their education for our apathy? It is easier to take five seconds and push the "NO" lever than it is to sit down and write letters to those you elected (or did you bother to elect them) who can change the law. It would have been easier for me to have a cup of coffee and prepare and mark papers for tomorrow.

I hope my student's message in this letter brings a reader to the minority; the minority who has an educated opinion and the time and energy to express it. "Thank you. You are responsible. I am too."

Support Young Teams
Editor The Freeman

I am writing this letter for all the kids in the Kingston area who play in some form of organized baseball. These kids are not only getting a bang out of playing our national pastime, but I think also they are learning a lesson in discipline, teamwork, and more important how to compete against other competition in fair, head to head "combat." However, it seems to me that the support they get from the local citizens is a disgrace.

I was at Dietz Stadium both Thursday night and tonight and people who showed up for both games you could fit in a sardine can. These kids need not only financial support but the support of the hometown people. So I urge all the citizens of Kingston to come out and watch these kids and see how our boys learn to be good, clean, loyal Americans instead of rioting, dirty, bearded, morons who could care less about America and her future.

Come out and watch these kids and encourage them and root for them because among them are our future leaders. Show them that we do care for the young people and that they hold the future glory of America and not the doped minority.

See you at the stadium.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 11 — Vice President Hubert Humphrey has taken over the lead in trial heat races against both Richard Nixon and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. Humphrey trailed both men in May.

Humphrey currently wins the vote of 42 per cent of the nation's likely voters to 36 per cent for Nixon and 14 per cent for Ex-Alabama Gov. George Wallace, running on the American Independent party ticket.

The Vice President's margin over Rockefeller is smaller, 39 per cent to 36 per cent, with Wallace coming in at 17 per cent. Rockefeller does better than Nixon because of his greater appeal to dissident Democrats.

Recent Events Had Little Impact

The findings reported today are based on a national sample of likely voters completed just prior to the California primary. A subsequent check-back with a sample of the same voters, conducted immediately following the primary and the tragic shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy, revealed little appreciable change in support for any of the candidates.

Humphrey has steadily gained ground since he announced his candidacy in early spring. In the two previous surveys, reported in May and April, Nixon led Humphrey.

Rockefeller also led the Vice President in May. (Rockefeller was not included in the April trial heat contest).

This was the question asked of 1,570 adults nationwide:

The results based on likely voters:

"Suppose the presidential election were being held today. If Richard Nixon (Nelson Rockefeller) were the Republican candidate, and Hubert Humphrey were the Democratic candidate, and George Wallace were the candidate of a third party, which man would you like to see win?"

The following table shows the trend in trial heats since April:

Nixon - Humphrey - Wallace

	June	May	April
Humphrey	42	36	34
Nixon	36	39	43
Wallace	14	14	9
Undecided	8	11	14

Rockefeller - Humphrey - Wallace

	June	May	April*
Humphrey	39	33	—
Rockefeller	36	40	—
Wallace	17	16	—
Undecided	8	11	—

*(Rockefeller not included in April survey)

Humphrey Tops Rockefeller, Nixon in Latest Test Races

A comparison of the patterns of support for Rockefeller and Nixon in races against Humphrey and Wallace shows Rockefeller winning the support of 23 per cent of Democrats, compared to 11 per cent for Nixon. Nixon, on the other hand, is far stronger with the GOP rank-and-file than is Rockefeller.

Nixon currently trails Humphrey among both men and women, but Rockefeller leads Humphrey among women.

Both Nixon and Rockefeller tie Humphrey in the Midwest. They fall behind the Vice President in the East and South, but lead in the Far West.

Support for George Wallace in the South cuts into the anti-Administration vote and hurts both GOP candidates, enabling Humphrey to lead in this region. Of the two Republicans, Rockefeller is hurt more by the Wallace vote.

The following table shows the pattern of support in both trial heat races by key groups:

FCC Is Asking To Revoke the Channel 4 Licenses

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has been asked to revoke the license of WNBC-TV, the flagship station of the NBC television network, on the ground that it has failed to broadcast enough antismoking messages.

The request was made Wednesday by John F. Banzhaf III, executive director of Action on Smoking and Health. It was Banzhaf's complaint against WNBC-TV, New York, that led the FCC to extend the fairness doctrine to cigarette advertisements in June 1967. The FCC did not specify how many messages should be broadcast by radio and television stations.

Banzhaf said WNBC-TV was chosen for monitoring "at random" and that the test case should serve as a warning to other stations across the country that are not complying. He said 40 to 60 persons had monitored the station during two one-week periods, from April 1-7 and April 15-20. During the first week, the petition said, there were 59 cigarette commercials and six warning messages. During the second, it charged that antismoking messages were "inconsequential and minimal compared with the barrage of cigarette commercials."

NBC said in a statement that WNBC-TV "has regularly scheduled antismoking announcements which, in NBC's judgment, fully comply with the FCC ruling of last year. The record of the station in providing a well-rounded program service, with particular emphasis on news and public affairs programming, is outstanding."

"I know, if TV hadn't been invented, I wonder what other crooked line of work these people would've gone into?"

Significant Proposal Seen in Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The first significant proposal in separate company level talks between the United Steelworkers Union (USW) and 11 major steel firms has developed in preliminary negotiations here with U. S. Steel — the biggest producer.

It was reported Wednesday that the USW, whose contract with the basic steel industry expires midnight July 31, proposed to U. S. Steel an agreement providing incentive, or bonus pay for all basic steel workers.

The union was reported to have asked the agreement be changed before the contract expiration to "provide full incentive coverage."

Incentive Improvements
The union also wants a boost in incentive guarantees by a percentage to be negotiated and also seeks improvement of incentive plans which now produce "low payment."

Preliminary contract talks on the company level were underway in eight cities and dealt with working conditions, contract language, grievance and arbitration procedure, military leaves and other non-economic issues in the pact covering 450,000 basic steel industry workers. The current talks are a prelude to money issues in the contract which will be taken up here on June 24.

Charles Younglove, chairman of the USW's group negotiating with National Steel in Detroit, said the meetings were concerned with "gutting issues."

These included local issues such as subcontracting, seniority, jurisdictional problems, safety and health.

"These are real gutty issues and they will have to be settled before there can be an overall settlement," Younglove said.

He said subcommittees were working on problems but were making little headway. He said jurisdictional problems were "causing many hard feelings among our people" and added health and safety measures need a "procedure that will work."

Talks "Plodding Along"

William Caples, vice president of industrial relations for Inland Steel in Chicago, said negotiations were "plodding along."

"Negotiations are proceeding in a time schedule as originally planned by the union and company," he said.

A union spokesman in Clayton, Mo., where talks were being held with Armco Steel, said it was "too early to talk in terms of progress."

"We have been presenting our points of view," Lloyd McBride said, "and we are in the early stage of negotiation. The first session was satisfactory."

Other union bargaining sessions were being held with Republic Steel in Cleveland; Youngstown Sheet & Tube in Youngstown, Ohio; Colorado Fuel & Iron in Denver; and Bethlehem Steel in New York.

Jones & Laughlin Steel, Allegheny Ludlum Steel and Pittsburgh steel bargainers also were meeting in Pittsburgh with the USW.

Voluntary Tax Proposal Beat By Methodists

NORTH CHILL, N.Y. (AP) — A resolution calling upon member churches to pay taxes voluntarily on all property not used directly for worship purposes has been rejected by delegates to the annual meeting of the Western New York Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Heated debate before the vote Wednesday centered on the questions of what would constitute taxable income and on the same scale or on the basis of what it could afford. The delegates, representing nearly 300 congregations, approved a resolution setting the minimum annual salary for pastors at $6,200 and the minimum for lay workers at $5,800.

They referred to committee a gun-control resolution calling upon President Johnson to sign the limited bill now before him and to pursue stronger controls in future legislation.

In another vote, the delegates approved formation of an emergency fund to assist urban areas troubled by poverty problems. The resolution authorizes the conference treasurer to establish a line of credit up to $25,000 for the fund.

The four-day meeting, which ends Friday night, is being held on at Robert's Wesleyan College in this Rochester suburb.

Local Death Record

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Although glaciers cover an eighth of Iceland's 39,768 square miles, the island's name is misleading because warm waters carried north by the Gulf Stream mitigate winter temperatures, making them similar to those in New York City, says The World Almanac. Much of Iceland's soil is nonarable, causing 90 percent of the wealth to be derived from fishing.

FCC Is Asking To Revoke the Channel 4 License

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has been asked to revoke the license of WNBC-TV, the flagship station of the NBC television network, on the ground that it has failed to broadcast enough antismoking messages.

The request was made Wednesday by John F. Banzhaf III, executive director of Action on Smoking and Health.

It was Banzhaf's complaint against WCBS-TV, New York, that led the FCC to extend the fairness doctrine to cigarette advertisements in June 1967. The FCC did not specify how many messages should be broadcast by radio and television stations.

Banzhaf said WNBC-TV was chosen for monitoring "at random" and that the test case should serve as a warning to other stations across the country that are not complying.

He said 40 to 60 persons had monitored the station during two one-week periods, from April 1-7 and April 15-20. During the first week, the petition said, there were 59 cigarette commercials and six warning messages. During the second, he charged that antismoking messages were "inconsequential and minimal compared with the barrage of cigarette commercials."

NBC said in a statement that WNBC-TV "has regularly scheduled antismoking announcements which, in NBC's judgment, fully comply with the FCC ruling of last year. The record of the station in providing a well-rounded program service, with particular emphasis on news and public affairs programming, is outstanding."

"Y'know, if TV hadn't been invented, I wonder what other crooked line of work these people would've gone into?"

Significant Proposal Seen in Steel Talks

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The first significant proposal in separate company level talks between the United Steelworkers Union (USW) and 11 major steel firms has developed in preliminary negotiations here with U. S. Steel — the biggest producer.

It was reported Wednesday that the USW, whose contract with the basic steel industry expires midnight July 31, proposed to U. S. Steel an agreement providing incentive, or bonus pay for all basic steel workers.

The union was reported to have asked the agreement be changed before the contract expiration to "provide full incentive coverage."

Incentive Improvements

The union also wants a boost in incentive guarantees by a percentage to be negotiated and also seeks improvement of incentive plans which now produce "low payment."

Preliminary contract talks on the company level were underway in eight cities and dealt with working conditions, contract language, grievance and arbitration procedure, military leaves and other non-economic issues in the pact covering 450,000 basic steel industry workers.

The current talks are a prelude to money issues in the contract which will be taken up here on June 24.

Charles Younglove, chairman of the USW's group negotiating with National Steel in Detroit, said the meetings were concerned with "gummy issues."

Voluntary Tax Proposal Beat By Methodists

NORTH CHILL, N.Y. (AP) — A resolution calling upon member churches to pay taxes voluntarily on all property not used directly for worship purposes has been rejected by delegates to the annual meeting of the Eastern New York Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Heated debate before the vote Wednesday centered on the questions of what would constitute taxable income and whether each church would pay on the same scale or on the basis of what it could afford.

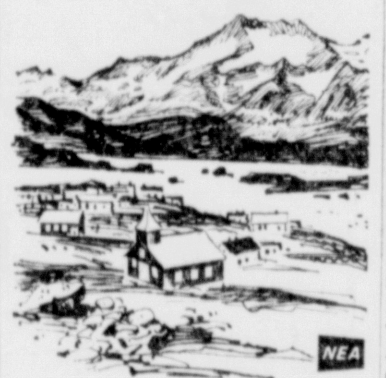

The delegates, representing nearly 300 congregations, approved a resolution setting the minimum annual salary for pastors at $6,200 and the minimum for lay workers at $5,800.

They referred to committee a gun-control resolution calling upon President Johnson to sign the limited bill now before him and to pursue stronger controls in future legislation.

In another vote, the delegates approved formation of an emergency fund to assist urban areas troubled by poverty problems. The resolution authorizes the conference treasurer to establish a line of credit up to $25,000 for the fund.

The four-day meeting, which ends Friday night, is being held on at Roberts Wesleyan College in this Rochester suburb.

Arrest Women After 9W Mishap

Two Poughkeepsie women were arrested at 11:20 p. m. Wednesday after Troopers Brian O'Connor and Jerry Henne of the Highland sub-station stopped a car in which they were riding on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd.

Trooper J. F. Czaplicki said Winona Wynkoop, 35, of 202 Main Street, was charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. She refused to submit to a blood test, authorities said. A passenger in the car, Flora Dayriddle, 28, same address, was booked for public intoxication after she reportedly caused a disturbance after the arrest of the other woman.

Both were taken before Lloyd Town Justice Linn Baker, who fixed bail and adjourned hearing until a later date.

Educator in Red Hook Heads School Council

Duplicate Bridge

Recent winners at the JCC Duplicate Bridge Club were:

North-South was won by Mrs. C. R. Edwards and Miss Doty Maroon. Second place was Mrs. H. Rakov and Dr. Paul Perlman with third spot going to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berlieth.

On the East-West side Ted Kraut and Milt Popick tied with Bud Schaefer and Fred Stern for first position. Third place was won by Stan Kaplan and Milt Dubin.

The first session of the Open Pairs Club Championship will be held this Thursday, 7:30 p. m. at the JCC.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Perlman were the JCC novice bridge winners last week. In second place was Candy Bott and Sue Alexander. Mr. and Mrs. Fred DelRosario took third position.

The last game of the spring series will be held this Wednesday at the JCC.

Kingston City Schools Consolidated superintendent.

Other officers of the regional school organization elected at the annual meeting are:

John Skawski, superintendent of schools, Peekskill, vice president; William Moran, superintendent of schools, Valley Central, treasurer and William J. Hagerty, professor of education at the State University College, New Paltz, executive secretary.

Executive committee members are Joseph Foley, New Paltz Central School board of education; William Tierney, Wappingers board of education; Robert Roda, supervising principal, Cold Spring; Michael Griffin, Arlington superintendent of schools and William Hannan of Cold Spring.

Advisory committee members are Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, Saugerties superintendent of schools; Burton Silberman, Monroe Woodbury superintendent of schools and William Landauer, former Red Hook board member.

The council includes 54 school systems in the Mid-Hudson Valley in the counties of Dutchess, Ulster, Orange, Putnam and upper Westchester. With headquarters at the State University College at New Paltz, the council acts as a regional coordinating organization with area program for board members, school administrators, teachers and non-teaching school personnel. The council was organized in 1950.

'Ballet Center'

NEW YORK (AP) — Lincoln Center was "Ballet Center" on June 4, 5 and 6. The New York City Ballet was dancing at the New York State Theater, during its eight-week spring season. Stars of the Bolshoi were dancing at the Metropolitan Opera, as part of a month-long run there.

And at Philharmonic Hall, the promenade series included a new pas de deux to Tchaikovsky's "Suite for Orchestra Nos. 1 and 2."

Jacques d'Amboise and Melissa Hayden of the New York City Ballet danced the pas de deux at the promenade concerts. On June 5, Miss Hayden also crossed Lincoln Center Plaza to dance the title role of "Firebird" with the New York City Ballet.

On June 6, D'Amboise, who choreographed the pas de deux he and Miss Hayden danced, "plaza hopped" to dance in the diamonds section of "Jewels" with the New York City Ballet.

Legislature Tonight

Action Due on College Contracts

The County Legislature will act on the awarding of contracts totaling $48,891 for alterations to the Community College under Phase II, at its meeting tonight in the county office building.

The resolution, if approved, would authorize the Legislature's chairman, Peter J. Savago to enter into contract with the following:

George H. Swart Inc., general contracting, $19,607; J. H. Matthews & Sons Inc., heating and ventilating, $2,225 and plumbing $5,250; Joe E. O'Connor Inc., electrical work, $4,925; and Kewanee Technical Furniture Company for biology laboratory and prep room equipment, $16,884.

The contracts cover alterations to existing all-purpose and science buildings under a portion of Phase II of the Community College at Stone Ridge. A proposal to study county-wide mosquito control which includes a stipulation providing for 50 per cent reimbursement to the Ulster County Agricultural Society to provide funds for the operation of the County Fair at New Paltz in August.

Another resolution calls for the establishment of a committee to study possible improvements of facilities in various libraries throughout the county.

The legislators will also act on the annual appropriation of $5,500 to the Ulster County Agricultural Society to provide the new law.

Arrest Women After 9W Mishap

Two Poughkeepsie women were arrested at 11:20 p. m. Wednesday after Troopers Brian O'Connor and Jerry Henne of the Highland subdivision stopped a car in which they were riding on Route 9W in the Town of Lloyd.

Trooper J. F. Czaplinski said Winona Wynkoop, 35, of 202 Main Street, was charged with driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. She refused to submit to a blood test, authorities said. A passenger in the car, Flora Daymple, 28, same address, was booked for public intoxication after she reportedly caused a disturbance after the arrest of the other woman.

Both were taken before Lloyd Town Justice Linn Baker, who fixed bail and adjourned hearing until a later date.

Station Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission said Wednesday it had approved an application by Adeline R. Edmonds, trading as Radio Cornwall, for a standard broadcast station in Cornwall, N.Y.

The station will operate on 1170 kilocycles.

Rhinebeck Hospital Labor Pact Signed

A three-year labor contract has been negotiated and agreed upon by Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck and the Dutchess County Hospital Employees Association representing the nursing staff of the hospital.

Michael C. Mazzarella, hospital administrator, termed the final document "mutually satisfactory" to both parties.

"The salary increases and other benefits named in the contract are in line with increases previously scheduled for nursing services and relative to other departments in the hospital," Mazzarella reported.

Terms of the contract, which became effective Monday, June 10, include an eight per cent salary increase for the first six months with a one per cent increase during the next six-month period and a four per cent increase per year for the remainder of the contract.

Other salary adjustments will include operating room on-call time, evening and night duty and duty in the coronary care and intensive care units. The hospital has agreed to increase retirement benefits during the third year of the contract and to longevity benefits for each five years of service for full-time employees.

Dues for membership in the Association have been set at $60 a year.

Representing NDH during negotiations was the New York City law firm of Simpson, Thacher and Bartlett. Acting for DCHEA was Jack Economou, Poughkeepsie lawyer. Signing the contract was DCHEA President Mary J. Bateman and Mazzarella.

No Need to Worry Over Utilities Price Drop

Q — Last year, worried by inflation, we were advised to buy 200 Pacific Northwest Bell at 19 and 100 Iowa Power & Light at 32. They promptly went down and stayed down. We have $77,000 in savings, own our home, live comfortably in retirement with no debts. Have you specific recommendations for us?—C.C.

A — First, hold your utilities. I'm glad to say that your adviser selected two solid, conservative equities yielding around 5 per cent which should respond favorably whenever the cost of money relaxes. No one can tell, though, when that time may come. While rates are stiffening, good income stocks are bypassed by large-scale money managers looking elsewhere for higher returns. Earnings of the utilities are also hit by high money rates when new financing is required. Both your companies have reported rising net income without interruption for the past decade, but Pacific NW Bell's share net eased off in 1967 when the exercise of rights included in a debenture offering increased the number of shares.

Q — I'm 12 years old and have $2,100 in a credit union paying 5½ per cent. Lately I became interested in stocks and own 10 Tonka and 6 Boise Cascade. Should I take all my savings or only half to buy another stock?—D.F.

A — Congratulations on an excellent start in managing money. I'd use only half your reserve to buy 12 shares each of Radio Corp. and Winn-Dixie Stores. Both will help your capital to grow, together they broaden diversification and each provides dividends to be added to your savings account.

(Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally, but will answer all questions possible in his column.)

Paris Is Quiet, Riots Elsewhere

PARIS (AP)—The French government's ban on street demonstrations gave Paris a quiet night, but disturbances in some provinces kept police busy. In three cities students demonstrated Wednesday night without police interference.

Police used tear gas to scatter demonstrators in Strasbourg and Poitiers. But in Marseille, Bordeaux and Caen students paraded with shouts of defiance against President Charles de Gaulle, and the police did not go into action.

The rebellious students at the University of Paris called off a demonstration against De Gaulle's government warned that all street demonstrations would be "pitilessly dispersed." The government also ordered dissolution of seven extremist students groups.

The ban on street demonstrations is to remain in effect until the end of the National Assembly election June 23 and 30. The government cracked down after two days of mounting violence in which two workers were killed.

The Latin Quarter was relatively calm Wednesday night with small groups of students strolling about under the eye of reinforced police.

Negotiations continued in an effort to secure the return to work of about a million workers still on strike, mainly in the metallurgical and automobile industries.

No violence was reported on the labor front. The government appeared to have won a breathing spell but no one was underestimating the possibility of new trouble.

Jaycee Slate Is Installed

Richard Rydstrom was installed as the new president of the Kingston Jaycees at a recent candlelight ceremony held at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

Other officers installed were: William Fredericks, vice president; Charles Fuscardo, executive vice president; John Dunston, secretary; Dennis McGirr, treasurer and Victor Locke, state director.

The installation of the Jaycee officers was conducted by Paul DeLisio, District 2 president. Albert Trowbridge, master of ceremonies opened the banquet with a tribute to the late Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Trowbridge noted that the late senator was selected by the U. S.

Hertz, Warner Issues Review

Hertz, Warner & Co., in its current monthly review, states that "the technical position continues strong and in fact, has improved."

The report attributes this to three factors: demand for securities on the part of university endowment funds, new mutual funds and variable annuities established by insurance companies, and the desire of savings and loans to establish mutual funds.

These factors continue to increase the demand for securities, says the report, while the supply has not risen materially. Mergers and tenders, it is pointed out, have in some instances eliminated common stock, and while the new issue market is active currently, the dollar amount appears lower than it was several years ago.

"For the longer term we favor accumulation of well established companies in areas of social rather than technical problems. These areas include: housing, transportation, education and job training, health and service industries."

First Federal Lists New Hours

Deweese W. DeWitt, president, First Federal Savings and Loan Association, today announced the bank's summer hours which will become effective on Monday, June 24 and continue through Friday, Aug. 30, 1968.

Monday through Thursday hours will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., at both the Main Office, 235 Fair Street, and the Central Broadway Office, Broadway at O'Neil Street. Friday hours will be 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Drive-in Window at the main office will be open continuously from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., on Monday through Thursday. The Friday schedule will be 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

This schedule will provide five and one-half more banking hours each week for the convenience of customers and still enable employees to have longer weekends.

Doolittle Notes New Installation

Holcombe W. Thompson, manager of the Kingston office of Doolittle and Co., a division of Advest, member New York Stock Exchange, announced today installation of an Ultronic Stockmaster Stock Price Quotation System in the firm's office at 48 Main Street.

The electronics device transmits instantly the latest reported prices, and other up-to-the-minute market information on several thousand stocks listed on the New York and American Stock Exchanges and in the over-the-counter markets. This new reporting system means that Doolittle and Company's clients will get market news in Kingston just as quickly as investors in New York City.

Interested persons are invited to visit the Main Street office at their convenience during trading hours to see a demonstration of this device in operation.

GU Reports New High Sales for 5-Week Period

Sales of The Grand Union Company for the five-week period ended June 1, 1968 totaled $95,056,909, it has been announced by the large food and general merchandise retailing chain. This represents a new high for the period and an increase of 12.9 per cent over sales of $84,230,437 in the comparable period of 1967.

For the first 13 weeks of the company's current fiscal year through June 1, sales were a record $244,352,745, an increase of 12.8 per cent over sales of $216,595,355 in the corresponding period a year ago.

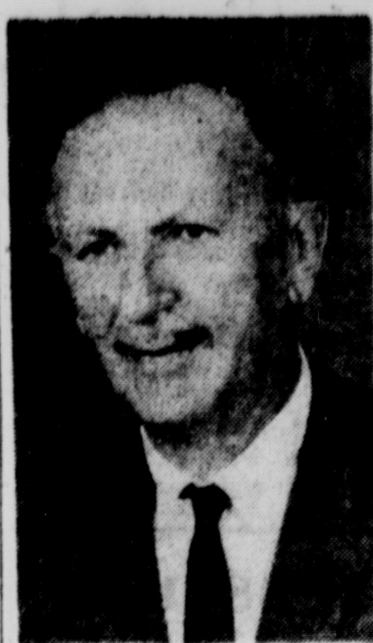

The Grand Union has announced the promotion of Edward (Ned) E. Meara to the position of national packaging and supply buyer for the company. He will be responsible for the purchasing of all wrapping and miscellaneous supplies and stationery for the company's 563 retail outlets in 11 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Guys Company

Penn-Dixie Cement Corporation announced today it has reached an agreement in principle to purchase the business of the Guy H. James Construction Company of Oklahoma City, Okla. Guy H. James Construction Company reported gross revenues for the year ending Sept. 30, 1967 of $8,976,000 and net income of $303,000. The James Company was established in 1931 and its principal business is the construction of dams, locks, powerhouses and bridges. The terms of the purchase were not disclosed.

Penn-Dixie is a diversified manufacturer of cement, steel products, chemicals and crushed stone. Sales are currently running at a rate in excess of $100,000,000 per year.

Jerome Castle, president of Penn-Dixie, stated: "Guy H. James Company has a high degree of compatibility with our present operations and is a further step in our expansion program. It should add 15 to 20 cents per share to our earnings for 1969."

CHAIRMAN — George Rusk, president of Kingston Trust Company, was named chairman of Group VI at the annual meeting of the New York State Bankers Association held recently at the Concord Hotel at Kamesha Lake. He succeeds Frederick Palmer, president of the Tappan Zee National Bank, John J. Hughes, president of First National Bank of North Tarrytown, was elected vice-chairman, and Carl M. Berry, president of Marine Midland National Bank of Southeastern New York, Poughkeepsie, was named secretary-treasurer.

Promote Krembs At IBM Facility

The promotion of Dr. George M. Krembs to senior engineer and Advanced Technology manager has been announced by Dr. William B. Itner III, manager of IBM's Kingston Laboratory.

Dr. Krembs joined IBM Kingston in March 1964 as a staff engineer in Graphic Product Technology. He was promoted to project engineer and manager, Advanced Graphic Technology, in August 1965, and to development engineer in that area in February 1967, a position he has held until his present promotion.

Dr. Krembs graduated magna cum laude from Notre Dame University, with a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. He received his Ph.D. degree in electrical engineering from Stanford University in 1959.

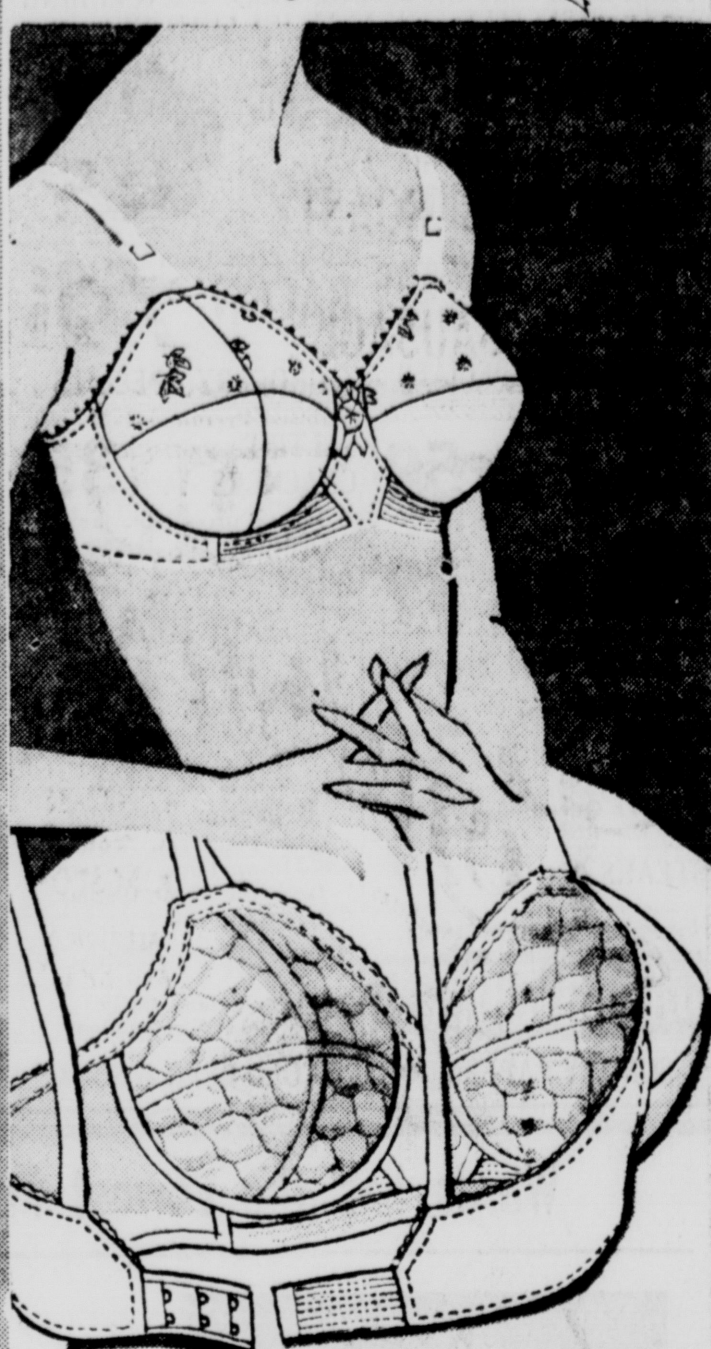

He, his wife Shirley, and their four daughters, reside in Hyde Park.

Tragic Start for Boating Season

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Atlantic coast got off to a tragic start this year with the loss of eight lives in a rough water accident off Wells Beach, Maine.

The victims drowned when their 15-foot boat capsized in rough seas which came up suddenly in the Atlantic near the mouth of the Mousam River off Wells Beach. One other occupant of the boat survived.

The tragedy points to again the chief cause of fatalities in pleasure boating—overloading. It was the primary cause of the 1,312 boating deaths recorded in 1967.

Richard Rouleau, the local police chief, said of the Wells Beach accident: "It was awfully unnecessary. Someone was using poor judgment."

If nothing else, the incident serves to emphasize the importance of National Safe Boating Week, proclaimed this year by President Johnson for June 30 to July 6.

During this period, such groups as the U. S. Power Squadrons, U. S. Coast Guard and its auxiliary, Red Cross and Boy Scouts, go all-out with posters, banners, bumper stickers, films, speeches, etc., to emphasize water safety in boating communities.

In its 10-year official history, National Safe Boating Week has been credited with being a prime factor in holding down deaths and injuries among boating enthusiasts whose number during that span has grown from an estimated 34 million to 43 million.

For example, the 1,312 fatalities reported for 1967 were six less than were recorded the previous year; boating accidents dropped from 4,350 in 1966 to 4,113 in 1967.

As Capt. David Oliver of the Coast Guard, chairman of the National Safe Boating Committee, put it: "Our general aim is that Safe Boating Week be the kickoff for a continuing safety program through the year."

In a recent interview with Boating magazine, Capt. Robert T. Norris, who is replacing Captain Oliver as head of the

$33,487 Sliced From RV Budget, Voting by School District 21st

The newly revised budget of the Rondout Valley School District, if adopted, will mean a decrease of 61 cents per thousand dollars of true value ($23.46), according to a board of education newsletter sent out to district taxpayers this week.

The reduced budget will be presented to the voters Friday, June 21.

Following a series of work meetings, the board cut an additional $33,487 from the originally submitted budget. The new budget is $3,819,538, opposed to the former $3,853,025.

Most of the reductions in the amended budget for 1968-69 have been made in the area of supplies and equipment. Some savings have been effected in extra-curricular activities, adult education and custodial salaries, repairs, and ground improvement.

The newsletter emphasizes the belief of the board that the originally-projected budget was sound and basic, and that the cuts were made arbitrarily.

Further reductions, the board feels, would markedly impair the quality of the educational program.

The proposition to purchase new school buses has also been revised downward from the original request for two carryalls and two 67-passenger buses. The board will now ask for authorization to purchase two carryalls and one 67-passenger bus. These vehicles are not additions to the school bus fleet, but replacements for those which have outlived their usefulness.

If the buses are not approved, the present vehicles will be retired and independent bus service will be contracted. The cost to the taxpayer will in no way be reduced, the board contends.

Informational meetings have again been scheduled to enable district voters to ask any questions they may have about the amended budget. Today, the first of the meetings will be held at the Kerhonkson School. On Friday, there will be one at the Accord School; on Monday, at Marlletown; and on Tuesday, at the Rosendale School, all at 7:30 p. m.

A second district-wide meeting will take place at 7:30 p. m. on Thursday, June 20, at Rondout Valley High School, to be followed on Friday, June 21, with voting from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., also at the high school.

Registration by June 15 will enable qualified district residents to vote on the revised budget. In addition to the regular 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. registration hours during each school day, the four elementary schools will be open to registrants on Saturday, June 15, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. Places of registration are: Town of Rochester residents, Accord School; Town of Wawarsing, Kerhonkson School; Town of Marlletown, Marlletown School and Town of Rosendale, Rosendale School.

Brother Thomas G. Sickler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sickler of 66 Garden Street, this

Upon the successful completion of the ten-day course he will qualify as a certified Red Cross Water Safety Instructor and be eligible to teach Red Cross swimming and life saving courses.

The Camp Kiwanee Aquatic School is directed by Frank B. Holland, American National Red Cross field representative. It is the largest of 25 aquatic schools in operation throughout the country whose combined enrollment is over 300.

Brother Sickler plans to teach swimming at Camp LaSalette, Ipswich, Mass.

The victims drowned when their 15-foot boat capsized in rough seas which came up suddenly in the Atlantic near the mouth of the Mousam River off Wells Beach. One other occupant of the boat survived.

The tragedy points to again the chief cause of fatalities in pleasure boating—overloading. It was the primary cause of the 1,312 boating deaths recorded in 1967.

Richard Rouleau, the local police chief, said of the Wells Beach accident: "It was awfully unnecessary. Someone was using poor judgment."

If nothing else, the incident serves to emphasize the importance of National Safe Boating Week, proclaimed this year by President Johnson for June 30 to July 6.

During this period, such groups as the U. S. Power Squadrons, U. S. Coast Guard and its auxiliary, Red Cross and Boy Scouts, go all-out with posters, banners, bumper stickers, films, speeches, etc., to emphasize water safety in boating communities.

In its 10-year official history, National Safe Boating Week has been credited with being a prime factor in holding down deaths and injuries among boating enthusiasts whose number during that span has grown from an estimated 34 million to 43 million.

For example, the 1,312 fatalities reported for 1967 were six less than were recorded the previous year; boating accidents dropped from 4,350 in 1966 to 4,113 in 1967.

Miami Beach, Chicago Prepare For '68 National Conventions

(Editor's Note: This August Republicans will convene in Miami Beach to nominate their presidential candidate and Democrats will meet in Chicago. This dispatch reports on how the two cities are coming along in their preparations, with emphasis on security problems).

By DAVID M. SULLIVAN

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago, site of more political conventions than any other city in the nation, is getting ready for what is being billed as the biggest of them all.

At least 50,000 Democratic party delegates, alternates, workers, hangers-on and newsmen are expected to converge on the city for the event.

According to Democratic National Chairman John Bailey, 7,500 newsmen are being assigned to cover the convention, which begins Aug. 26, and city officials hope nothing happens to distract the journalistic attention from the political drama unfolding in the international amphitheatre.

Several groups, including Negro militants, peace advocates and "yippies," have threatened to disrupt this, the city's 34th national political convention.

Officials will not discuss their plans for a tranquil convention but say, off the record, they are prepared for anything.

The 12,000-man Chicago police force will be bolstered by at least 3,000 men from the suburban area, most of them trained in riot procedure.

Police-manned helicopters will patrol the routes from downtown Chicago, where most of the delegates will be billeted, to the convention site, hardly the stock yards.

Officials, according to some reports, are considering transporting dignitaries to the amphitheatre by helicopter. A helicopter pad is available on the roof of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, where President Johnson presumably will be housed if he stays overnight in Chicago.

A total of 1,000 federal agents are available for convention duty, according to another source. This group includes men from the Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other agencies as well as U.S. marshals.

Secret Service agents already have been reported surveying the city for drawing up security plans.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley has repeatedly stated the convention will not be disturbed by any agitators of any variety.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — When Miami Beach made its successful bid last year for the Republican National Convention

it had neither an adequate hall, nor the communications facilities to handle the massive news coverage demanded.

But this month the city is almost ready for the opening of the August 5-10 GOP meeting with a convention hall doubled in size and set up with trainloads of communications equipment — from teletype switchboards to a microwave TV tower.

For a start, Miami Beach had a 16,000-seat convention hall with a small adjoining auditorium. A new hall seating 18,000 was rushed to completion in May, complete with color tv facilities and 1,900 tons of air conditioning equipment.

The older portion of convention hall and the auditorium has been transformed into facilities for the estimated 6,000 reporters, commentators and technicians expected to be on hand.

The huge space will be jammed with newsrooms, television vans and darkrooms, criss-crossed by lines for more than 300 teletype machines in the hall and in Miami Beach hotels.

Officials estimate the Republican nominating session will bring 40,000 visitors to town. But, for a town famous for its tourism, hotel space was the least of its problems.

During the convention, patrolmen will go on 12-hour shifts. Extra officers will be brought in from neighboring cities, as well as the county sheriff's office and the Florida Highway Patrol.

A police operation center will be established near the hall. Officials said. From there all units will be under direct radio control. Security within the hall will be handled by private agencies.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Chicago, site of more political conventions than any other city in the nation, is getting ready for what is being billed as the biggest of them all.

At least 50,000 Democratic party delegates, alternates, workers, hangers on and newsmen are expected to converge on the city for the event.

According to Democratic National Chairman John Bailey, 7,500 newsmen are being assigned to cover the convention, which begins Aug. 26, and city officials hope nothing happens to distract the journalistic attention from the political drama unfolding in the international amphitheatre.

Several groups, including Negro militants, peace advocates and "yippies," have threatened to disrupt this, the city's 34th national political convention.

Officials will not discuss their plans for a tranquil convention but say, off the record, they are prepared for anything.

The 12,000-man Chicago police force will be bolstered by at least 3,000 men from the suburban area, most of them trained in riot procedure.

Police-manned helicopters will patrol the routes from downtown Chicago, where most of the delegates will be billeted, to the convention site, hardly the stock yards.

Officials, according to some reports, are considering transporting dignitaries to the amphitheatre by helicopter. A helicopter pad is available on the roof of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, where President Johnson presumably will be housed if he stays overnight in Chicago.

A total of 1,000 federal agents are available for convention duty, according to another source. This group includes men from the Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and other agencies as well as U.S. marshals.

Secret Service agents already have been reported surveying the city for drawing up security plans.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley has repeatedly stated the convention will not be disturbed by any agitators of any variety.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — When Miami Beach made its successful bid last year for the Republican National Convention

it had neither an adequate hall, nor the communications facilities to handle the massive news coverage demanded.

But this month the city is almost ready for the opening of the August 5-10 GOP meeting with a convention hall doubled in size and set up with trainloads of communications equipment — from teletype switchboards to a microwave TV tower.

For a start, Miami Beach had a 16,000-seat convention hall with a small adjoining auditorium. A new hall seating 18,000 was rushed to completion in May, complete with color tv facilities and 1,900 tons of air conditioning equipment.

The older portion of convention hall and the auditorium has been transformed into facilities for the estimated 6,000 reporters, commentators and technicians expected to be on hand.

The huge space will be jammed with newsrooms, television vans and darkrooms, criss-crossed by lines for more than 300 teletype machines in the hall and in Miami Beach hotels.

Officials estimate the Republican nominating session will bring 40,000 visitors to town. But, for a town famous for its tourism, hotel space was the least of its problems.

During the convention, patrolmen will go on 12-hour shifts. Extra officers will be brought in from neighboring cities, as well as the county sheriff's office and the Florida Highway Patrol.

A police operation center will be established near the hall, officials said. From there all units will be under direct radio control. Security within the hall will be handled by private agencies.

Awards Are Due for Three County Residents

RALPH BRACH

Three Ulster County residents were among 560 individuals and organizations who have been selected to receive Rural Service Awards in an announcement made by Bertrand M. Harding, acting director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Douglas S. Meyers Jr., president of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., announced that Ralph Brach of Wallkill, Calvin E. Tann Jr. of Ellenville and Mrs. Carmen Perez of Plattkill will be given their awards at the annual meeting of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc. Wednesday, June 19, at 8 p.m. in the County Legislature Room, County Office Building.

The awards, the second of a series, are in recognition of outstanding achievements at the state and local level by individuals and groups "who are making a significant contribution to alleviating poverty in rural America, with preference for achievement in race relations and/or employment opportunities." The first awards were for service in urban areas. Both awards will be given annually.

The Citations

The citation for each of the Ulster County recipients reads as follows:

"Mr. Brach, a business and professional man in the community, picks up, with his own truck, Surplus Food in Kingston and delivers it to the delivery point in Wallkill.

He was instrumental in starting the Senior Citizens Club in Wallkill. He also saw the need for and helped to start the Ambulance Corps for Wallkill.

Mr. Brach was one of the founding members of the Southern Ulster Family Service Center and serves on its local Advisory Board.

His activities as a civic-minded member of the community include the following: founder of the Little League in Pine Bush; the force behind the setting up of a Recreation Park for local youngsters in Wallkill; member of the Planning Board in Wallkill on a volunteer basis; chairman of the County Planning Board.

Mr. Brach has been a strong supporter of local community action from its early beginnings."

"Mr. Calvin E. Tann Jr. is the one person who helped form and as a volunteer keeps in operation the Food Surplus Distribution program of the Wawarsing Neighborhood Service Center. This program services 450 people."

Mr. Tann is chairman of the Citizens Council, a group of poverty level families who locate and define common problems, set priorities, and come up with the answers.

He is vice president of the Wawarsing Advisory Board and also vice president of the County Community Action board of directors.

Mr. Tann devotes many hours from his normal business activities to service to the community at any time and in any capacity it is needed."

"Mrs. Perez, a secretary of the local Advisory Board of the Southern Ulster Family Service Center. She also serves as secretary of the PTA in Plattkill and has worked with the Citizens Advisory Board of Wallkill School System. She has an intimate knowledge of, and works closely with the large Puerto Rican community in this area. As a result of these contacts she is well acquainted with the local poverty group and makes frequent referrals to the Center."

Mrs. Perez has given much volunteer time to work with Spanish speaking children who have language difficulties in school. She also teaches English to Spanish speaking adults.

Mrs. Perez also works with the migrant group by keeping up with the living conditions under which this Spanish speaking group labors."

7-Office Nominations
Nominations for the Rural Awards were made by the seven regional offices of OEO and approved in Washington. Recipients include mayors, businessmen, governors, newspapers, chambers of commerce, Community Action Agency directors, educators, welfare workers, clergymen and representatives of the poor.

Miss Josephine Nieves, director, Northeast Region, U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity in confirming the awards stated: "This award, like our Urban Service Award, is going to a number of individuals and agencies all over the country. It should stand as a reminder that we are faced with an enormous challenge and responsibility. It is the symbolic of the battle in which we are joined and which has given hope to millions of Americans, who, but for these efforts, are faced with the agonizing prospect of misery, deprivation, and alienation."

"With this certificate goes my personal word of gratitude and heartfelt congratulations for a job well done. It is my fervent hope that together with renewed spirit we can move forward in attacking the problems that persistently plague the residents of our rural areas."

Although the award honors efforts at the state and local level, many of the recipients are nationally known. Gov. Phillip W. Hoff of Vermont, Dr. Isaac Beckes, president of Vincennes University in Indiana; Fay Bennett, executive director of the National Sharecroppers Fund; Cesar Chavez of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, Delano, Calif.; and Aaron Henry, state president for NAACP in Mississippi, were honored for their contribution to the betterment of rural life.

A number of mayors and officials of small towns were also selected, including Mayor M. B. Hood, Plainville, Tex.; Mayor Ned Moore of Opp, Ala.; J. J. Hood, chief of police of Missoula, Mont.; State Senator Richard Liebert, Kansas; and Miss Bernice Thomas, Clackamas County welfare administrator of Oregon City, Oregon.

Among the newspapers and newsmen receiving awards were the McClatchy Newspapers of Sacramento, Calif.; Dwayne Walls of the Charlotte Observer; North Carolina; James K. Batten, Knight Newspapers, Washington, D.C.; Leonard Gaudin, Raleigh Register, West Virginia; and Bert Schorr of the Wall Street Journal, Washington, D.C.

Gollnick Invited To Panel

The Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, temporary community organizer of the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center, has been invited by the New York State Office of Economic Opportunity to be one of the panelists at the Conference on Building Rural New York.

The session will be held at the State University Agricultural and Technical College, Delhi, June 20 and 21. Co-sponsor is the Technical Action Panel of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The Rev. Dr. Gollnick is coordinator of the health and aging program of the Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. For the past year he has set up programs for the aging around the county and because of his success, Dr. J. M. Sable, director of the state OEO asked him to participate in the Delhi conference which is concerned with rural poverty. Local programs for the aging have been established in Kingston, Saugerties, Highland and Ellenville. The Rev. Dr. Gollnick is now in the process of setting up additional groups in New Paltz and Poughkeepsie.

Health and Welfare of the Senior Citizen will be one of the panel topics to be considered during the two day session. Other topics are industrial development; physical development of rural areas; expansion of job opportunities; coordination of government agency services; migrant labor problems and educational opportunities.

Two Injured In 212 Crash

Two persons were injured at 12:40 a. m. today when their cars were involved in a collision on Route 212 at the intersection of Yerry Hill Road, Woodstock.

Kingston State Police said the vehicles were driven by Geoffrey Bare, 20, of Route 32, New Paltz, and Patricia Bernpohl, 27, of 50 Overlook Road, Woodstock.

According to a report of Trooper A. J. Scarselli of the Kingston substation of state police, Bare was overtaking the Bernpohl vehicle who was attempting to make a left turn into Yerry Hill Road, when the mishap occurred.

Bare sustained lacerations of the chin and multiple abrasions of the face. The Woodstock woman was treated at Benedictine Hospital for contusions of the forehead.

On Probation

William Wenzel, 21, of Port Ewen was sentenced to a three-year probation period by County Judge Raymond J. Mino Wednesday in County Court following a plea for leniency by the defendant's attorney, S. James Matthews.

Wenzel's guilty plea abruptly halted a jury trial in April after one day of testimony. He pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of a depressant drug.

Matthews pointed out that Wenzel had no prior record and that since the offense in March 1967, he had been working and attending evening classes in college. Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher joined in the recommendation of leniency. Bail was exonerated.

County Fair Plans

The Ulster County Fair will be held again this year on Libertyville Road, three miles southwest of New Paltz on the Ulster County Farm.

Fair dates are August 9, 10 and 11. The Ulster County Agricultural Society, C. C. DuMond, Jr., president and Joseph Cassano, manager of the fair announce that plans are already underway for making the fair larger than last year's with many more attractions for all.

Anyone interested in obtaining tent space or open areas for commercial use may contact Cassano as soon as possible at 7 Hasbrouck Place, New Paltz.

Exhibits will be offered in the following departments: horses, cattle, poultry, fruit, vegetable, other livestock, Grange, 4-H, educational and homemaking.

Mettacahonts

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Rauch recently entertained their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rauch and family from Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. John Troin of Rosendale were recent visitors at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Troin and family.

Mrs. Mildred Ebert entertained supper guests recently. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Osterhoudt recently entertained callers.

By BOB HARING
GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — Glassboro marks its place in history with the same country college calm which helped get it selected for a historic meeting of world leaders a year ago.

No strident signs or gaudy souvenir stands point the way to Hollybush, the mansion where President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin conferred for nearly 10 hours last June 23 and 25.

A visitor can drive past the mansion without realizing it. He cannot enter without an invitation, because it is the private home of Dr. Thomas E. Robinson, president of Glassboro State College.

For a few hours on June 4, the nation's attention was focused again on Glassboro when President Johnson returned to the campus to deliver the commencement address.

Off Regular Routes

Glassboro is off most regular tourist routes, although it is just 20 miles from Philadelphia. Yet "quite a few" travelers pause to ask the way from U.S. Rt. 322 to Hollybush, a service station operator noted.

History ultimately will decide how important the Glassboro meeting was.

But in late June of 1967, the world seemed to be seething toward a lethal boiling point. The Middle East smoldered from the Arab-Israeli war two weeks earlier.

Kosygin had flown to America to appear at the United Nations, denouncing Israel and the United States.

With crisis at its most critical, the Hollybush summit was arranged.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes, a leading supporter of President Johnson, offered a site in New Jersey as a compromise to prevent either world leader from having to visit the other. Glassboro State College was chosen as a quiet middle ground.

Robinson clearly recalls circumstances of the selection. Hughes called about 5:30 p.m., he said, "and asked whether there were many people on campus. We said no, that during this week, between the end of school and the opening of summer session, very few people were on campus.

"He said, 'Would there be arrangements where we could hold a small conference of 12 people.' And we said yes, lots of places."

An hour later, the Robinson telephone rang with the news— from someone who heard a broadcast bulletin—that what he had envisioned as "a small conference of a few state officials" would instead be the first meeting in six years of American and Soviet leaders.

Instant Reaction

So instant was the reaction, Robinson recalled, that the White House had to contact a campus custodian to relay word for the college president to call.

White House staff members, college employees, newsmen, telephone company employees who gathered for a glimpse of the history.

Glassboro--History to Rate Importance

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

PREMIER KOSYGIN

By BOB HARING

GLASSBORO, N.J. (AP) — Glassboro marks its place in history with the same country college calm which helped get it selected for a historic meeting of world leaders a year ago.

No strident signs or gaudy souvenir stands point the way to Hollybush, the mansion where President Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin conferred for nearly 10 hours last June 23 and 25.

A visitor can drive past the mansion without realizing it. He cannot enter without an invitation, because it is the private home of Dr. Thomas E. Robinson, president of Glassboro State College.

For a few hours on June 4, the nation's attention was focused again on Glassboro when President Johnson returned to the

Off Regular Routes

Glassboro is off most regular tourist routes, although it is just 20 miles from Philadelphia. Yet "quite a few" travelers pause to ask the way from U.S. Rt. 322 to Hollybush, a service station operator noted.

History ultimately will decide how important the Glassboro meeting was.

But in late June of 1967, the world seemed to be seething toward a lethal boiling point. The Middle East smoldered from the Arab-Israeli war two weeks earlier.

Kosygin had flown to America to appear at the United Nations, denouncing Israel and the United States.

With crisis at its most critical, the Hollybush summit was arranged.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes, a leading supporter of President Johnson, offered a site in New Jersey as a compromise to prevent either world leader from having to visit the other. Glassboro State College was chosen as a quiet middle ground.

Robinson clearly recalls circumstances of the selection. Hughes called about 5:30 p.m., he said, "and asked whether there were many people on campus. We said no, that during this week, between the end of school and the opening of summer session, very few people were on campus.

"He said, 'Would there be arrangements where we could hold a small conference of 12 people.' And we said yes, lots of places."

An hour later, the Robinson telephone rang with the news— from someone who heard a broadcast bulletin—that what he had envisioned as "a small conference of a few state officials" would instead be the first meeting in six years of American and Soviet leaders.

Instant Reaction

So instant was the reaction, Robinson recalled, that the White House had to contact a campus custodian to relay word for the college president to call.

White House staff members, college employees, newsmen, telephone company employees and others worked through the history.

long night preparing for the Friday meeting in the presidential home on the rich green college campus in the southern New Jersey city of 15,000.

By the time the Kosygin caravan arrived from New York salesmen with souvenir flags and ice cream also were on the grounds to serve the thousands of students and townspeople who gathered for a glimpse of the history.

County Fair Plans

The Ulster County Fair will Rules, regulations and premium lists will soon be available. be held again this year on Libertyville Road, three miles southwest of New Paltz on the Ulster County Farm.

Fair dates are August 9, 10 and 11. The Ulster County Agricultural Society, C. C. DuMond, Jr., president and Joseph Cassano, manager of the fair announce that plans are already underway for making the fair larger than last year's with many more attractions for all.

Anyone interested in obtaining tent space or open areas for commercial use may contact Cassano as soon as possible at 7 Hasbrouck Place, New Paltz.

Exhibits will be offered in the following departments: horses, cattle, poultry, fruit, vegetable, other livestock, Grange, 4-H, educational and homemaking.

Mettacahonts

Mrs. Louis Fincke and Mrs. Leslie Osterhoudt were in Harrington Park, N. J., recently, visiting at the home of Mrs. Fincke's son, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fincke and family.

Mrs. Jack Welch and Mrs. Charles Bell were recent callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Osterhoudt.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Rauch recently entertained their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rauch and family from Monticello.

Mr. and Mrs. John Troin of Rosendale were recent visitors at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Troin and family.

Mrs. Mildred Ebert entertained supper guests recently. Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Osterhoudt recently entertained callers.

Wedding Vows Are Taken Here

Miss Beverly Jean Oblak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Oblak of Hartwick, became the bride of Donald Lee Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice of West Hurley, on Saturday, May 25, at First Baptist Church of Hartwick.

The Rev. Nevin E. Schindler officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Bertha Lindberg sang traditional wedding selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Harriet Geywitz. Arrangements of white and purple lilies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an organza gown fashioned with an empire waist and scalloped sleeves. Venice lace bodice and sleeves. Venice lace also accented the hemline and detachable wattleuon chapel train. Her silk illusion bouffant veil was held by a lace organza, pearl trimmed, headpiece. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, ivy lilies of the valley and baby's breath.

Miss Barbara Oblak of Hartwick was maid of honor for her sister. Her Nile green bouffant mesh lace gown featured daisy trim and an empire waist. An organza band edged the hemline. A daisy headpiece held a short veil and she carried a Colonial bouquet of daisies, lilies of the valley, carnations and pink roses.

Attendants were Cynthia Herrschaft, Long Island, cousin of the bride; Migdalia Jimenez, Flushing; Bonnie Gagne, Syracuse. Their pastel colored gowns of yellow, pink and blue were fashioned identically to that of the maid of honor and they carried Colonial bouquets of daisies, lilies of the valley and carnations.

Wayne Rice of West Hurley was best man for his brother.

Ushers were Michael Riggio, Lee Molyneaux and Kevin Ryan, all of West Hurley.

After the wedding, a reception for 125 guests was held at Hickory Grove, Cooperstown. For her wedding trip to Florida, the bride selected a multi-colored pastel linen dress with beige accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Edmeston Central School, attended Ulster County Community College, and was employed by American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Cooperstown.

Her husband, an alumnus of Ontario Central School, also attended Ulster County Community College, and is employed by Woodstock Lumber and Supply Company. He is a member of the U. S. Army Reserves.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice will reside at Coddington Apartments, Wittenberg Road, Bearsville.

BPW Top Hat Award

The New York State Commerce Department Women's Program and two members of its advisory Woman's Council are among ten national winners of the 1968 Top Hat Awards of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., according to an announcement from the club's headquarters in Washington, D. C. Awards will be presented at a special ceremony during the Federation's National Convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota on July 23. Miss Guin Hall, Deputy Commissioner of the New York State Commerce Department Women's Program, will accept the award on behalf of her department.

Two of the winners, Dr. Dorothy Gregg, Assistant Staff Director for Educational Services for U. S. Steel Corporation, and Mrs. Amelia E. Reichert, who has just been promoted from Second Vice President to full Vice President of the New York Life Insurance Company, are members of the New York State Woman's Council appointed by Governor Rockefeller to advise the State Commerce Department's Woman's Program. The New York Medical College also was named for an honor, giving New York State four out of the ten awards.

The awards are presented annually by the 49-year old national organization of working women in recognition of significant contributions made toward advancing the status of employed women. In citing the New York State Commerce Department's Woman's Program, the announcement read, "In recognition of its continuing efforts to achieve full economic utilization of the womanpower in New York State. In 1967 alone, the Woman's Program was responsible for: 36 speeches by staff members of 'Job Horizons for New York State Girls and Women,' more than 10,000 publications, a major portion of which were devoted to job and career information for women; clinics, workshops and meetings attended by nearly 42,000 women and students; 59 meetings with educators and leaders in business and industry, women's professional organizations, clubs, and community work to assist in planning special vocational programs for women; and newsletters and news releases carrying news for and about working women and women seeking employment. Outstanding among the Woman's Program list of achievements are: (1) establishment (in cooperation with the State University of New York) of special vocational programs and career courses for women in two-year colleges which have been incorporated into school programs throughout the State; (2) development of a curriculum on 'Back to Work' Workshops for Women in cooperation with State Education's Adult Education Division; and (3) responsibility for planning and conducting the first 'Governor Rockefeller's Conference on Women' in 1966."

The New York State Commerce Woman's Program, which has offices in New York City and Albany, was established in 1945 under the direction of the late Hon. Jane H. Todd, who served as Deputy Commissioner until 1955 and again from 1959 until her retirement in 1960. Miss Todd died in November, 1966.

Succeeding Miss Todd as deputy commissioner was her assistant of seven months, Miss Guin Hall of New York City and Amagansett, L.I., a former Herald Tribune woman's page reporter whose career also included service in U.S. Coast Guard SPATIS and a position as a buyer for a West Coast department store. Listed in "Who's Who in the East" and "Who's Who of American Women," Miss Hall is a member of many business women's organizations (New York League of Business and Professional Women, Zonta Club of New York, Theta Sigma Phi, a journalism fraternity; Newspaper Women's Club of New York; National Home Fashions League and Advertising Women of New York in which she holds an honorary membership). She is also on the boards of Greater New York Safety Council; Elder Craftsmen Shop; Farm-City Council and St. Luke's Home of Morningside House.

ULSTER COUNTY BPW — Activities for the Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, an affiliate of the National and International BPW Clubs, ended for the summer with a gala dinner at The Hedges in West Park Tuesday night. On hand for the festivities were (L-R) Mrs. Virginia Neher, first vice president and program chairman; Miss Mae Evans, prospective member and guest; Miss Mary Polhemus, president; Sister Mary Charles, prospective member and guest; and Mrs. Mary Fisher, second vice president and membership chairman. The club received Criteria Club citations from both the National and State Federations in recognition of its outstanding programs and achievements during the past year. Two membership awards were received also. The Ulster BPW Club will adjourn for the summer with committees working in preparation for the fall season. (Freeman photo by Krub).

Mrs. Mary E. Tobin of White Plains, assistant deputy commissioner of the Women's Program, began her career as a fashion model and fashion commentator. Before joining the Woman's Program staff in 1962, she was a member of the Travel Promotion Division of the State Commerce Department. Mrs. Tobin is vice-president of the White Plains Business and Professional Women's Club and advisor to the Volunteer Services Bureau of Westchester County.

Mrs. Lorena Cooper of Scarsdale, consultant to the Women's Program on Special Projects, is in charge of such programs as the Job Fiesta, to be held June 29th, which will match job seekers with New York City employers needing office help. For eleven years Mrs. Cooper owned and operated a chain of fashion specialty shops. Prior to this she developed and operated a mail order furniture and appliance business. She is a member of the board of directors of the United Nations Association and past president of the Garden Club of Westchester.

The Woman's Program has three business consultants who advise women and special interest groups on marketing products and establishing or expanding businesses. Mrs. Blanche McIntosh of New York City, Senior Business Consultant, has been with the Woman's Program since 1947. Her background includes work with a book publisher and retail merchandisers. She served also as coordinator in community relations for the National Girl Scouts. Another Senior Business Consultant, Mrs. Mildred Meskil of Albany, retired last February after 47 years of state service.

Two recent business consultant additions to the staff are Mrs. Rita Duggan of Albany and Miss Peg Maloy of the New York City office. Both have extensive backgrounds in business — Mrs. Duggan in retailing (former assistant manager of Flah's Stuyvesant Plaza Store) and Miss Maloy in public relations and broadcasting (Ford Motor Company, New York Hilton Hotel and stations WRUN and WIBX in Utica).

Newsletters and news releases issued by the Woman's Program are written by Mrs. Peggy Bendel of the New York City office who entered State service shortly after graduation from college in 1965, working first in travel promotion in Albany. Mrs. Bendel also handles preparation of speeches and editing of publications.

Handling the extensive workload that results from the efforts of these able women are Mrs. Clorinda Rivette of Woodside, a former legal secretary who is active in the National Secretaries Association and serves as secretary to Miss Hall; Miss Isabel Zarzycki of Latham, 24 years in State service, who is senior stenographer in the Albany office, and Miss Ann Matheis of Queens Village, general stenographer, New York City office.

Honor Past Officers
Kingston Chapter No. 155, Order of Eastern Star, held its last meeting before summer recess with a tribute to Flag Day and honoring the past matrons and past patrons. The worthy matron, Helen Piwowarski, and worthy patron, George Radcliffe, presided.

A patriotic program was given with worshipful past master, Arthur Janssen, reciting the "Ode to the Flag" and special music was presented by the Frances Gould Ensemble. Gifts were presented to the past matrons and past patrons from the chapter.

The conductress reminded the membership of the annual pilgrimage day to the OES Home at Oriskany on July 27. She requested all to turn in their donation of salable articles so the box could be mailed by July 4. The next officers club meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. Lillian Boyle at 15 Washington Avenue.

There will be a public pinochle card party at the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, on Friday, June 21, at 8 p.m.

Picnic-Meeting
The Licensed Practical Nurses of Ulster County Division will hold their last meeting for the season in conjunction with a picnic at 226 Tremper Avenue on Thursday, June 20, at 5:30 p.m., rain or shine.

Special entertainment has been planned and members are requested to bring a gift. Reservations should be made with Elizabeth Scully by June 17.

Linda Short Weds Duane Baxter

Miss Linda Louise Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Short Sr., of 127 East Stout Avenue, Port Ewen, was married to Duane Burton Baxter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Baxter Sr. of 638 Delaware Avenue, Kingston, on Sunday, June 9, at Port Ewen Methodist Church.

The Rev. Cecil McFarland officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Charlene Heldron, cousin of the bridegroom, was organist. She accompanied Kenneth Hyatt who sang traditional wedding selections. Arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sheath style gown of organza fashioned with floral embroidery and accented by Venise lace edging. The crescent waistline was secured by a double bow and her bouffant train was chapel length. A silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized crown of tiny roses and seed pearls.

Miss Celia Donato of Kingston and Mrs. Patricia Short, Kingston, sister-in-law of the bride, were maid and matron of honor, respectively. They wore apple green karate gowns in the empire style, with shirred skirts. The mid-length sleeves and necklines were encircled with silk braid. Double crowns with waterfall tulle veils served as their headpieces.

Attendants were Mrs. Janet Baxter, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Kingston; Miss Sandy Bock, Port Ewen; and Miss Judy Saehloff, Kingston. Their apricot gowns were fashioned identically to those of the bride.

Miss Cynthia Baxter, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore an apricot gown styled similarly to those of the other attendants with a matching circlet in her hair.

Charles H. Baxter Jr. of Kingston was best man for his

Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

What do college students want? What is bugging them? Not every student is set to stage a riot or camp out in the dean's office. Not every one is desirous of wrecking a university.

In an effort to answer these questions, a pair of psychologists, Dr. Joseph Katz and Dr. Harold A. Korn of Stanford University in California, recently completed a four-year study of some 3,000 students at Stanford and Berkeley.

The team of research psychologists which Doctors Katz and Korn headed came up with some interesting results. In the main it was clear that the time-honored curriculum in which students are fed facts to give back to their teacher in examinations is no longer acceptable to the young. They demand courses which consider their own problems, the problems of our day. Many young students come to college with high expectations. They are looking for better knowledge of themselves and others, for security and a place in the modern world, they want to stretch their minds; they even demand a new awareness of the arts. They are given instead digests of information, condensed versions of some academic specialty, the survey course which jumps from fact to fact, year to year, place to place without asking the meaning of any of it.

While students are unhappy about what they find in their colleges, parents are distressed at the behavior of their sons and daughters. Yet the California means found that sex was by no means the cause of all the trouble. College students, it is true, are liberal in their thinking about sex and morality. They believe that people would be happier if they took premarital sex relations for granted. But they strongly disapprove of infidelity after marriage.

Moreover, premarital sexual relations should be, in the students' opinion, based on solid affection, mutual interest, a relationship that is serious rather than casual. The researchers found little promiscuity among college students.

Surprisingly enough, although at Stanford there are four men students to every woman, more than a fifth of the girls claimed to have had almost no dates during their four years. Did they all wear glasses?

On a scale of interest and activities, students ranked "career," family relations, love and affection, and developing a personal identity highest. Sexual needs were far down on the list. Participation in community affairs was even lower.

A look at these young people, on the basis of the current study, would indicate that they are earnest, eager for meaningful activity, desirous of affection. If they let their hair grow and go barefoot now and then, they are by no means the wild-eyed hippies their elders believe them to be. What they find in college is not good enough for them; it is not an answer to their deepest needs. They want something real, solid; something that enlarges the mind and spirit. Who does not want the same? Perhaps what they want most is to learn how to use their minds. College is evidently not helping them. Deans and faculties have something to think about.

Vows Taken In Kingston

Miss Donna Kathleen VandeBogart, daughter of Mrs. Helene VandeBogart of Mt. Tremper, became the bride of Erik Karl Stoutenburgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stoutenburgh of Woodstock on Saturday, June 8, at Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Pine Street, Kingston.

Ernest Kidd officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Aaron VandeBogart III, the bride wore an A-line floor-length gown styled of white embroidered organza over white taffeta. The empire waisted gown featured long sheer sleeves and a jewel neckline. Her shoulder length veil was fashioned of white embroidered organza, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white miniature carnations and ivy.

Miss Linda VandeBogart of Mt. Tremper was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a sleeveless A-line gown of Nile green organza over taffeta, and carried a bouquet of golden pompon chrysanthemums.

Lucas Stoutenburgh of Woodstock was best man for his brother and ushers were Bruce and Robin Stoutenburgh, also brothers of the bridegroom, and Harold Mills Jr. of Stone Ridge, A. I. law.

For her wedding trip to Nova Scotia, Canada, the bride selected an A-line pink lace dress with white accessories.

Benedictine Pavilion Rites Scheduled Sunday Afternoon

Final arrangements are being the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James F. Rigney, the Very Rev. Msgr. Christopher G. Kane and Hospital's new Spellman Pavilion Sunday at 2:45 p.m.

Hundreds of area residents are expected to attend the event on the hospital grounds which will be highlighted by the presence of Archbishop Terence Cooke, Roman Catholic Archbishop of New York. The program itself is divided into the blessing of the hospital and the dedication of the hospital.

Co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the dedication—Lawrence A. Quilty and Clifford A. Henze stated that "a delegation from the Archdiocese of New York will also be present in addition to the Archbishop."

They include the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph G. McIntyre, Larkin, Mrs. Juanita Mann.

Temple Emanuel

Friday, beginning at 7:30 p. m., the Youth Group of Temple Emanuel will conduct its annual installation Sabbath services. The newly elected officers will be officially installed. The sermon will be delivered by Roy Brower, out-going president. The services are being arranged by Rose Zucker, chairman of the youth group worship committee. Pam Gellen will be installed as the new president.

During the memorial portion of the services, the memories of Calvin Forst, Dr. Phillip Foley and Benjamin Weisburger will be invoked.

Following the services, the Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rifenburg, in honor of Mr. Rifenburg's entrance into the Jewish people.

The final session of the Religious School will be held Saturday morning. Final examinations will be given to the students, and special movies of Jewish interest will also be shown.

The Temple Brotherhood will sponsor a congregational picnic on Sunday beginning at 12 noon. The picnic will be held at the Jewish Community Center campsite. All members and prospective members of the Temple Emanuel and their families may attend. There will be no charge.

Rabbi Elchhorn will attend the annual meeting of the Central Conference of American Rabbis in Boston, from June 16-20.

The board of trustees will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, June 20, at 8 p. m.

Concluding exercises for the Temple Emanuel Religious School will be held on Friday, June 21, beginning at 7:30 p. m. All the children of the Religious School and their parents are asked to attend. Report cards will be distributed that evening. Temple Emanuel is a liberal Jewish congregation at 243 Albany Avenue, Kingston. Persons interested in membership in the Temple are asked to contact Rabbi Jonathan Elchhorn.

Legality of New Gun Ruling Questioned by Rifle Body

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Rifle Association has questioned the legality of a Post Office Department move to curb the traffic in mail order guns.

But if past practice holds and the early reaction of those who deal with weapons is any indication, it appears likely that it will be business as usual for the gun mail order houses until—and unless—Congress enacts stiffer controls.

Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson announced new postal rules Wednesday under which packages containing guns will not be accepted for mailing unless clearly labeled "Firearms."

Further, he said, delivery of firearms will be held up until the chief law enforcement officer of the community to which the package is addressed is notified.

Banned From Halls

Watson also announced sawed-off shotguns and short barreled rifles will be banned from the mails under "concealed weapons" regulations unless addressed to authorized law enforcement or military personnel.

"I don't think this will solve the problem," said Harold Gardswartz, a prominent New Mexico sporting goods executive. "I think people who commit crimes steal guns."

A postal department spokesman said Watson's ban, announced in a National Press Club speech and intended to go into effect immediately, will apply to guns "26 inches in length or which have the characteristics of a concealed weapon."

Pistols were not included because they have been banned from the mails for years, the spokesman said.

Harold W. Glassen, president of the NRA, told a news conference later that he questioned whether Watson had the authority to hold up mail delivery of guns, particularly to states that have no laws restricting the purchase of firearms. Most states don't.

"That can be tested in the courts. Let's see," said the department spokesman.

Watson also urged private express companies to follow the department's lead.

Such firms are free to deliver pistols now. But they would be restricted from selling handguns across state lines under a section of the omnibus crime control bill which was passed quickly after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and awaits presidential action.

No Indication

President Johnson has not indicated whether he will sign the bill now before him. But he has said it should have included an interstate sales ban on shoulder weapons as well as pistols and the administration already has introduced a new bill.

Ten senators, headed by Maryland Democrat Joseph D. Tydings, introduced a still stricter measure Wednesday that would go far beyond what Johnson has called for. It would provide for registration and licensing of all firearms.

27 Attend Jaycee Meeting In Red Hook

Twenty-seven men attended the second organizational meeting of the Red Hook Jaycees at Art Lutz' Motor Rest on Route 9 recently.

Presentations were given on leadership training by Paul Delisio of Woodstock, internal projects by William Edmunds of Saugerties, community service by John Spratt of Woodstock, external projects, George Pardonner of Saugerties and Jaycee organization structure, Frank Antalek of Saugerties.

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, will be held at the Tumor Clinic Building, 400 Broadway, Wednesday, June 19 from 9 to 10 a. m. These clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

Child Health Clinic

White extended an invitation to all young men of Red Hook to attend the next meeting which will again be held at the Motor Rest on June 18 at 7:30 p. m.

INVESTOR FORUM

A LIGHT IN THE CLEARING Investors reluctant to invest The U.S. government has the means at hand to defend the integrity of the dollar. America is the most powerful and richest country in the world. If these forces were well managed, the dollar should be strong and not in price.

A light has appeared in the clearing. Wilbur Mills, the able chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, is hopeful that very soon congressional authorities will approve substantial tax increases after budget expenditures have been reduced.

High taxes are better than a deteriorating dollar. Anyhow, such a prosperous country as the United States should be able to set its financial house in order. It is shameful to have Europe distrust the quality of our currency.

The peace negotiations in Paris could suddenly change the fiscal picture in Washington. The war is also costing America billions and billions of dollars, and, because domestic nonessential costs are not being cut and taxes are not being raised, federal deficits still prevail.

This entire situation has alarmed millions of investors who need an income from their idle dollars. And with interest rates high and security prices low, there is an abundance of short-term bonds than can be bought to yield 6 per cent to maturity.

And if, through a combination of circumstances such as a balancing of the federal budget and favorable peace negotiations in Paris, money should ease, a score of U.S. Treasury bonds would advance strongly in price.

There are eight different Treasuries due from August, 1968, to February, 1970, that are selling to yield around 6 per cent.

Investors reluctant to invest money during the present turbulence may well buy some of these obligations.

And if the war conditions improve and a balanced budget is achieved, a long, long list of U.S. Treasuries will improve in price.

Long-term obligations are probably selling on the bottom. Bonds due in 1980 can be bought for 83 cents on the dollar. Those due in 1995 can be bought for 74 cents on the dollar.

Social, economic and moral deterioration go hand-in-hand. Conditions in cities across America naturally influence the judgment of many investors, causing them to leave idle money in banks.

To all such persons, this column suggests the purchase of short-term U.S. Treasury bonds. When they mature, the owners may have their money, and possibly then the light in the clearing will be even brighter.

It is a dark world.

Many Obstacles To Keep Money Here

BY JOHN CUNIFF
NEW YORK (AP) — Administration efforts to keep dollars at home by curtailing overseas spending for pleasure are running head on into obstacles.

The objective is to reduce by $500 million the annual travel deficit, which in 1967 soared to $2 billion, the net result of Americans spending nearly $4 billion abroad while foreigners spent $2 billion here.

Lessening the prospects for substantial help in balancing the travel outgo and income are these factors:

— Measures that would impose taxes on foreign travel and limit spending abroad are still being argued in the Senate.

Began in Late May
The peak travel season, the time when students, educators and sightseeing secretaries head for Europe, began in late May and will extend to Sept. 28. A good part of the season will have passed before any bill could become law.

— Americans have plenty of money to spend on travel regardless of whether a travel tax is passed, and they seem also to have the desire to use this money.

The ease and glamor of airline travel is making trips to foreign lands, particularly to Europe, an almost irresistible attraction to people of moderate incomes.

Whatever the motivation, new and renewed passport applications for the first two months of 1968 rose sharply over a year earlier.

A study by the National Industrial Conference Board, and reported in the Conference Board Record, a monthly publication of the nonprofit organization, showed passports were being handed out early this year at a rate 30 per cent higher than a year ago. Less than 10 per cent were obtained for business.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the travel payments situation is the cooperation received from business in promoting travel of foreigners to the United States through reductions in transportation fares and hotel rates.

100,000 More Tourists
Estimates indicate that the new low-cost fares for Europeans and Middle Easterners visiting America may bring in as many as 100,000 additional tourists in the first year of its operation.

The Conference Board comments that this is of significance, because in 1967 about 1.7 million Americans traveled to Europe and the Mediterranean areas while only 900,000 from those areas toured America.

Another area of encouragement is Canada. Last year U.S. residents spent $1.1 billion in that country, much of it because of the Expo world's fair exhibit.

This year there could be some improvement. Although many Americans will travel to Montreal and to other Canadian cities because of the second edition of Expo, many Canadians who stayed home last year will visit the United States.

Circus Day In Kingston

The circus is here! Long live the circus, peanuts and pink lemonade.

The Clyde Beatty Cole Bros. Circus reached Kingston on schedule during the early morning hours. The circus grounds at Deitz Stadium was a bee hive of activity. Red wagons rolled, bands played, cumbersome elephants and lumping camels were all a weird part of the transient city.

Small boys were there in great numbers, leading Shetland ponies to water, and acting as a "reception committee" for the circus employees. The tents peanut snells and cracker jack nosed their way into the air, everything seemed to fall into its place.

Many of the women performers were busy with their washing of costumes and clothes. David Hoover was introducing newly recruited tigers into his act; some of the men performers were in the "big top" rehearsing new stunts for their act. A girl rider dressed in slacks was disciplining an obstinate horse and a mother was showing two teenage girls some acrobatic stunts.

Before the doors to the big show opened, the side show was well filled with patrons, viewing strange and unusual sights and kids enjoying an old time

London Punch & Judy show. The side show manager frequently exhibited on the outside an oddity for a moment's scrutiny.

In addition to the afternoon performance, another exhibition will be given tonight. The doors to the menagerie opening at 7 p.m. the big show will get underway promptly at 8 p.m. on account of its length.

The Clyde Beatty Cole Bros. Circus is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus for their charity projects. Shortly after midnight the last of the wagons will have vanished from the show grounds. And tomorrow circus employees, the tents, peanut snells and cracker jack boxes will be all that is remaining on the barren lot.

Many Obstacles To Keep Money Here

BY JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Administration efforts to keep dollars at home by curtailing overseas spending for pleasure are running head on into obstacles.

The objective is to reduce by $500 million the annual travel deficit, which in 1967 soared to $2 billion, the net result of Americans spending nearly $4 billion abroad while foreigners spent $2 billion here.

Lessening the prospects for substantial help in balancing the travel outgo and income are these factors:

Begin in Late May

The peak travel season, the time when students, educators and sightseeing secretaries head for Europe, began in late May and will extend to Sept. 28. A good part of the season will have passed before any bill could become law.

—Americans have plenty of money to spend on travel regardless of whether a travel tax is passed, and they seem also to have the desire to use this money.

—The ease and glamor of airline travel is making trips to foreign lands, particularly to Europe, an almost irresistible attraction to people of moderate incomes.

Whatever the motivation, new and renewed passport applications for the first two months of 1968 rose sharply over a year earlier.

A study by the National Industrial Conference Board, and reported in the Conference Board Record, a monthly publication of the nonprofit organization, showed passports were being handed out early this year at a rate 30 per cent higher than a year ago. Less than 10 per cent were obtained for business.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the travel payments situation is the cooperation received from business in promoting travel of foreigners to the United States through reductions in transportation fares and hotel rates.

100,000 More Tourists

Estimates indicate that the new low-cost fares for Europeans and Middle Easterners visiting America may bring in as many as 100,000 additional tourists in the first year of its operation.

The Conference Board comments that this is of significance, because in 1967 about 1.7 million Americans traveled to Europe and the Mediterranean areas while only 900,000 from those areas toured America.

Another area of encouragement is Canada. Last year U.S. residents spent $1.1 billion in that country, much of it because of the Expo world's fair exhibit.

This year there could be some improvement. Although many Americans will travel to Montreal and to other Canadian cities because of the second edition of Expo, many Canadians who stayed home last year will visit the United States.

Boy, 5, Killed

ONTARIO, N.Y. (AP) — Stephen Grasta, 5, of this village 15 miles east of Rochester, was killed Wednesday when he ran into the path of an automobile on the road in front of his home.

Legion Auxiliary Elects Officers

New officers for the Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary 1026 were installed by Mrs. Magda Moseman, chairman, Uster County American Legion Auxiliary at a recent dinner meeting at the Woodstock Pub.

The new officers are: Mrs. Laura Vogel, president; Mrs. Louise MacLeod, first vice president; Mrs. Mae McWilliams, second vice president; Mrs. Jean Baumgarten, secretary; Miss Florence Peper, treasurer; Sgt. at Arms, Mrs. Mae McWilliams; chaplain, Mrs. Ethel Hasbrouck; historian, Mrs. Marjorie Harder.

The county committee will be Mrs. Laura Vogel, Mrs. Magda Moseman and Mrs. Jean Baumgarten.

Mrs. Hasbrouck and Mrs. Violet Underhill reported on the third district spring conference held in Kingston recently. Mrs. Hasbrouck gave her annual report as president of the unit, and also, the year's report was given by Mrs. Marjorie Harder.

It was announced by Mrs. Underhill, membership chairman, that the unit was awarded by the department, a 1968 meritorious citation for reaching the membership goal.

100 Girl Scouts In Day of Action

Nearly 100 Girl Scouts from all program levels in the Woodstock-West Hurley Neighborhood participated in a recent "Girl Scouting in Action" Day at the West Hurley Fire House.

Each girl had opportunity to demonstrate basic skills and learn new techniques in the fields of campcraft, health and safety, stichery, knots and lashing, and compass.

The adults in charge were assisted by four members of the Senior Girl Scout Troop 172, Helen Turk, Cathie Fisher, Karen Kolls, and Gayla Halloran.

Rebekahs Plan Supper June 29

The regular meeting of Acapae Rebekah Lodge 623 was held recently at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, with Mrs. Ellen Essig, noble grand presiding.

Plans were made to hold a strawberry shortcake supper on Saturday, June 29 at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. The menu will include ham with dessert.

The date for the annual fair and roast beef dinner was set for Thursday, August 22 at the Bearsville Lodge hall.

25 Fresh Air Youngsters Expected

About 25 children between the ages of five and 12 are expected to arrive in the Woodstock area on July 17 to spend two weeks in the country with their Fresh Air family hosts.

For seven children Woodstock is becoming a familiar place as this will not be their first visit but one they have been eagerly anticipating after previous visits to the same host family.

Woodstock, through the Fresh Air program is known as a "Friendly Town" as many of its people have shown their willingness to provide a needy New York City child with a two week country vacation, an unforgetable experience combining fresh air, green grass and friendliness. For additional information about the Fresh Air program contact Mrs. John Ebbs Mrs. Gregory Gebert or Mrs. Leonard Waters.

Summer Services At Overlook To Open Doors

38 Students Uninjured In Bus Mishap

Thirty-eight students on their way to the Rhinebeck Central School at 7:50 a.m. today, narrowly escaped injury when a school bus on which they were riding was involved in a collision with a car on Ackert Hook Road in the Town of Rhinebeck.

State Police said the car was operated by Emily H. Whitley, 26, of Ackert Hook Road. The bus was driven by Sandy Brocchetti of 158 Rhinecliff Road, Rhinebeck.

Trooper J. J. Emsing, who investigated the accident with Sergeant William Anagnos and Trooper H. J. McNaillen, said the bus was traveling in a westerly direction and the car was going east and negotiating a curve on a narrow road, when the vehicles collided.

The bus continued on for 100 feet and struck a utility pole snapping it and knocking down wires. Two students appeared to be in shock but they soon recovered and all students were transferred to another bus and taken to school.

It was the second mishap to occur in Dutchess County involving buses in the last two days. On Tuesday a school bus carrying 19 Arlington Junior High School students struck an embankment and turned on its side on Cedar Valley Road, Town of Poughkeepsie. Town police said the driver, Ray L. Kniffen, 63, of Route 9, Staatsburg, apparently suffered a seizure before the accident. He was admitted to Vassar Hospital and placed in intensive care.

The 19 students were treated at Vassar and St. Francis' Hospitals and later released.

Procaccino Is Tapped for Area College Post

NEW YORK (UPI)—City Controller Mario A. Procaccino has been chosen president of a new upstate college, but he will continue in his elected city post.

The controller will take over the presidency of Verrazano College in Woodridge (Sullivan County), N. Y., a four-year liberal arts college opening in September, 1969.

Although the college, which will be established by a group of Italian-Americans, will have to wait three to five years before its buildings are constructed on its 300-acre campus, it will begin classes next year in the old Woodridge High School.

The privately financed college expects an enrollment of 1,500 students when in full operation. Procaccino, who is paid $40,000 a year by the city, has agreed to forego any salary or expenses as the president of the college.

The college is named after Giovanni Da Verrazano, the first man to actually enter New York Harbor after Columbus's discovery of the new world.

Rockland Youth Killed in Mishap

Nanuet, N.Y. (AP) — A 19-year-old youth was killed Wednesday night when his car struck a concrete abutment on the Garden State extension of the New York State Thruway near here during a heavy rainstorm.

Thruway police identified the victim as William Keyser, of 783 Highland Ave., Paramus, N.J.

Police said Keyser was traveling at high speed when the car skidded across the roadway, struck the abutment and was sheared in two. Keyser was pronounced dead at the scene by the Rockland County coroner.

He lived at 783 Highland Ave.

Elect Shanker Teacher Head For 3rd Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Shanker has been overwhelmingly reelected president of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers for his third two-year term.

The election was fought over the union's position on decentralization and Shanker, an advocate of moderate, gradual decentralization, said his victory meant the teachers were "shying away from radical stands."

About half of the 53,000 union members eligible to vote cast ballots and with 80 per cent tallied a slate led by Shanker had 17,002 votes; the New Coalition slate of Keith E. Baird, 1,624 votes and the staff slate of Sol Jaffe, 1,450 votes.

DPMA Honors Are Awarded

The Hudson Valley Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association (DPMA) recently announced that four area residents were awarded the Certified Data Processor certificate from the national office in Park Ridge, Ill.

Following are the recipients: Richard E. Banks of Kingston, Victor Costanzo of Hyde Park, Roland T. Dupont of Red Hook and Edward Reynolds of Lake Katrine.

The CDP certificate is awarded annually to individuals who meet the qualifications and also pass the examination. The examination is administered by more than 100 colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Heart of Sheep Into Man Is Failure

HOUSTON (UPI)—A surgical team failed today in an attempt to implant the heart of a sheep into a man.

St. Lukes Hospital Administrator Newell France said the animal heart was used as a last resort in an attempt to keep the patient alive until a suitable human donor was found.

The unidentified recipient, a 40-year-old man, died at 1:02 a.m., CDT today. The surgery had begun at 11:15 p.m.

Hospital officials said the recipient had been in extremely critical condition and probably would not have lived through the night had the implant not been attempted.

The man's family had consented to use of the animal heart, France said.

He said the heart of the 125-pound ram required "minimal" pumping before it could be fit into the man's body.

"To my knowledge, the sheep heart did not function at any time," France said.

The sheep heart was selected from a number of species because the size of the heart is similar to a human's and it was capable of pumping enough blood to support an adult human.

No Serious Injury

Gregg Sprague, 31, of Westerlo, narrowly escaped serious injury at 5 a.m. today when his car went out of control on Route 9W in the Town of Coxsack and crashed into guard rails. He was cited by Troopers E. E. LaPlante and A. J. Peterson of Leeds for driving at a speed not reasonable and prudent. The summons is returnable on Saturday before a local justice.

Condition Is Poor

The condition of David Boyle, 33, of Box 41, Bearsville, who was the victim of a stabbing in Woodstock early Tuesday, has been changed from critical to poor, according to reports from Benedictine Hospital.

Benedictine Hospital in the abdomen was Donald Rice, 35, of Avenue D, Manhattan. He is charged with first degree assault in connection with the incident which occurred in a building adjacent to the structure which formerly housed the Turnau opera.

The county committee will be Mrs. Laura Vogel, Mrs. Magda Moseman and Mrs. Jean Baumgarten.

Mrs. Hasbrouck and Mrs. Violet Underhill reported on the third district spring conference held in Kingston recently. Mrs. Hasbrouck gave her annual report as president of the unit, and also, the year's report was given by Mrs. Marjorie Harder.

It was announced by Mrs. Underhill, membership chairman, that the unit was awarded by the department, a 1968 meritorious citation for reaching the membership goal.

Mrs. Vogel named the chairman of the committees as follows: mountain camp, Mrs. Theresa Grazer; cancer control, Mrs. Violet Underhill; child welfare and rehabilitation, Mrs. Marge Styles; constitution and by-laws, Mrs. Vi O'Brien; publicity, Mrs. Marge Harder; music and poppies, Mrs. Jean Baumgarten; hospital equipment, Mrs. Magda Moseman and Mrs. Marge Styles; community service, Mrs. Walenah Cashdollar; education and scholarship and girls state, Mrs. Velma Grazer; Membership, Mrs. Violet Underhill.

100 Girl Scouts In Day of Action

Nearly 100 Girl Scouts from all program levels in the Woodstock-West Hurley Neighborhood participated in a recent "Girl Scouting in Action" Day at the West Hurley Fire House.

Each girl had opportunity to demonstrate basic skills and learn new techniques in the fields of campcraft, health and safety, stitichery, knots and lashing and compass.

The adults in charge were assisted by four members of the Senior Girl Scout Troop 172, Helen Turk, Cathie Fisher, Karen Kolls, and Gayla Halloran.

The Neighborhood Association met recently at the home of its chairman, Mrs. LeRoy Stoothoff for a review of the year's work and plans for next year's activities. The organization of troops for next year has been in progress and new girls in the area interested in joining a Girl Scout or Brownie troop should have their parents contact Mrs. Stoothoff.

Rebekahs Plan Supper June 29

The regular meeting of Agapae Rebekah Lodge 623 was held recently at the Bearsville Lodge Hall, with Mrs. Ellen Essig, noble grand presiding.

Plans were made to hold a strawberry shortcake supper on Saturday, June 29 at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. The menu will include ham with dessert.

The date for the annual fair and roast beef dinner was set for Thursday, August 22 at the Bearsville Lodge Hall.

25 Fresh Air Youngsters Expected

About 25 children between the ages of five and 12 are expected to arrive in the Woodstock area on July 17 to spend two weeks in the country with their Fresh Air family hosts.

For seven children Woodstock is becoming a familiar place as this will not be their first visit but one they have been eagerly anticipating after previous visits to the same host family.

Woodstock, through the Fresh Air program, is known as a "Friendly Town" as many of its people have shown their willingness to provide a needy New York City child with a two week "fresh air" vacation, an unforgettable experience combining fresh air, green grass and friendliness. For additional information about the Fresh Air program contact Mrs. John Ebbs Mrs. Gregory Gebert or Mrs. Leonard Waters.

38 Students Uninjured In Bus Mishap

Thirty-eight students on their way to the Rhinebeck Central School at 7:50 a. m. today, narrowly escaped injury when a school bus on which they were riding was involved in a collision with a car on Ackert Hook Road in the Town of Rhinebeck.

State Police said the car was operated by Emily H. Whitley, 26, of Ackert Hook Road. The bus was driven by Sandy Brochetti of 158 Rhinecliff Road, Rhinebeck.

Trooper J. J. Emsing, who investigated the accident with Sergeant William Anagnos and Trooper H. J. McNallen, said the bus was traveling in a westerly direction and the car was going east and negotiating a curve on a narrow road, when the vehicles collided.

The bus continued on for 100 feet and struck a utility pole snapping it and knocking down wires. Two students appeared to be in shock but they soon recovered and all students were transferred to another bus and taken to school.

It was the second mishap to occur in Dutchess County involving buses in the last two days. ## Spock Jurors Told Of Free Speech Dangers

BY WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON JR., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine; and Michael Ferber, 23, a Harvard graduate student.

They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines if convicted of the charges of conspiracy to aid and counsel young men to evade the draft.

James St. Clair, counsel for Coffin, called the trial a case of "extreme proportions" involving "serious and controversial issues of a religious and political nature."

He said there was "nothing secret about Coffin's views that the war in Vietnam and the country's draft laws were unjust."

He claimed Coffin's right to dissent was protected by free speech guarantees in the U.S. Constitution and his right to share his views with "like-minded people" protected under the right of assembly.

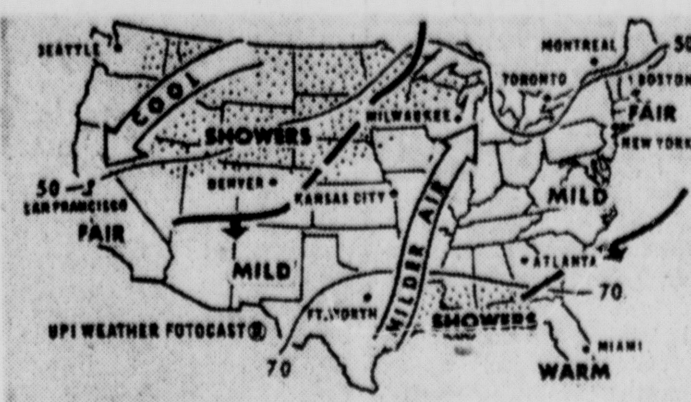

Leonard Boudin, lawyer for Spock, gives his final arguments today before the government makes its closing argument and U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford charges the jury on points of law. The jury then will begin deliberations on a verdict, possibly today or Friday.

On trial with pediatrician Spock and Raskin are Yale Ch plain William Sloane Coffin

School District Budgets Go Before State Voters

By HOWARD CLARK

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Voters trooped into the polls in large numbers in New York State Wednesday to pass on school district budgets ranging from $1 million to $20 million. Many didn't like what they saw. About one of every four proposed budgets was rejected. Many of the approved budgets passed by narrow margins.

In most cases, the proposed budgets represented an increase in costs — and taxes — over previous years because of the rising costs of education.

The task of school officials this year was further complicated by teacher salary negotiations and uncertainty over state aid legislation. This uncertainty delayed submission of many budgets to the voters.

Some districts voted on the budgets May 7, others will judge theirs on July 9.

861 Districts
There are 861 school districts in the state, including 62 non-voting city districts. The remaining 799 districts submit proposed annual budgets to the voters for approval.

A trend in the voting Wednesday was difficult to ascertain. The largest budget, the $20,499,140 amount submitted in the Levittown district on Long Island, was approved, 2,360,202. Another large sum, a $15,147,000 budget submitted to voters of the Wappinger Central School District near Poughkeepsie, was turned down, 1,700 to 1,532. Voters in the Schoharie District in Erie County approved a $3.1 million budget, despite a long tradition of rejecting a proposal the first time it is offered. On the other hand, the voters in the DePew district resoundingly turned down a $2.7 million budget, 1,003 to 162.

Local issues dominated the voting in many districts. Nyack Budget Defeated
In Nyack, voters defeated a $5 million budget by a vote of 1,973 to 1,571, apparently on a busing issue. The district had ordered busing from the Nyack area to Valley Cottage, six miles away, to balance its racial enrollment.

Other school officials said the voters in their district approved the proposed budget, because, as one put it: "They could not bear the thought of an austerity budget" for another year.

West Hempstead, Nassau County, $5,778,000, approved, tax rate of $7.45 per $1,000 assessed valuation unchanged; Jericho, Suffolk, $6,178,506, approved, tax rate increased from $7.22 to $8.29.

Negro on Death Row For Armed Robbery

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Supreme Court pushes toward adjournment, probably on Monday, a 28-year-old Negro waits on death row at Alabama's Kilby Penitentiary.

Edward Boykin Jr. is scheduled for electrocution June 28. The crime for which he was sentenced to die is armed robbery. Boykin was tried in September 1966 for the robbery of five Mobile, Ala., stores. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to death five times, once for each of the robberies.

His petition to the Supreme Court, filed by Mobile lawyer E. Graham Gibbons, said no one was killed or severely injured in the series of holdups. In one of the robberies, of a grocery chain store, a bullet ricocheted off the ceiling and struck a girl in the leg.

In Alabama, the trial jury can impose any penalty for armed robbery from 10 years in prison to death.

Boykin's appeal contends, as so many convicted men have unsuccessfully, that the death penalty is unconstitutional, that it violates the Eighth Amendment's prohibition on "cruel and unusual punishment."

On June 3 the Supreme Court ruled the death penalty may not be imposed or recommended by a jury from which all opponents of capital punishment have been automatically excluded. Some observers believe this points the way toward the eventual outlawing of the death penalty. For now, though, capital punishment is very much alive in 42 states.

Gibbons has filed with the Alabama Supreme Court a request for a stay of execution. If that appeal should be denied the next move would be to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If there is no action on the case by the U.S. Supreme Court before it adjourns for the summer, a Supreme Court justice could issue the stay of execution pending the high court's return to the bench Oct. 7.

O'Dwyer Gives Endorsement to Mrs. Geertsema

Paul O'Dwyer, candidate for United States Senator from New York, today announced his support of Tobie A. Geertsema from Woodstock, candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago this August.

O'Dwyer former councilman-at-large for New York City, endorsed Mrs. Geertsema and two other candidates from the 28th Congressional District, Marshall R. Efron and George H. Skau.

These candidates and O'Dwyer are on the ballot for the State Primary of June 18, next Tuesday, and all have declared their support of Senator Eugene McCarthy for president of the United States.

Paltz Lions Help YMCA Building Fund

Clarence Koenig, 1967-68 president of the New Paltz Lions Club, has presented a $100 check for the new Kingston Young Men's Christian Association building, which is being constructed, to Robert Murray, a member of the Board of Directors of the Kingston YMCA. Murray, assistant vice-president of the Huguenot Branch of the State of New York National Bank in New Paltz, is a resident of Kingston who has been active in the YMCA for years. He recently spoke to the members of the New Paltz Lions Club and explained the great need for the new YMCA building in Kingston. When he received the Lions Club check, Murray expressed deep appreciation and said he hopes many other organizations will follow the Lions Club example and submit their contributions.

Ten and Twenty Years Ago

June 13, 1948—Capt. William Scott, local civil air inspector, was named commander of the local Civil Air Patrol.

A program of improvements at local parks and playgrounds neared completion.

June 13, 1958—Objection to recent action by the Board of Supervisors in authorizing payment of $74,000 in architect fees and a suggestion that the present Ulster County jail be converted into an office space building and a new jail built elsewhere, were two suggestions offered by Worthington L. Rider, Economy Party candidate for mayor last November.

Republicans voted for the floating of a bond issue for the building of a new county office building, but Democrats voted against such a move, and the motion, requiring a minimum two-thirds vote, failed.

Spock Jurors Told Of Free Speech Dangers

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a writer and teacher from Temple, Maine; and Michael Perber, 23, a Harvard graduate student.

They face maximum sentences of five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines if convicted of the charges of conspiracy to aid and counsel young men to evade the draft.

James St. Clair, counsel for Coffin, called the trial a case of "extreme proportions" involving "serious and controversial issues of a religious and political nature."

He said there was "nothing secret about Coffin's views that the war in Vietnam and the country's draft laws were unjust."

He claimed Coffin's right to dissent was protected by free speech guarantees in the U.S. Constitution and his right to share his views with "like-minded people" protected under the right of assembly.

Leonard Boudin, lawyer for Spock, gives his final arguments today before the government makes its closing argument and U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford charges the jury on points of law. The jury then will begin deliberations on a verdict, possibly today or Friday.

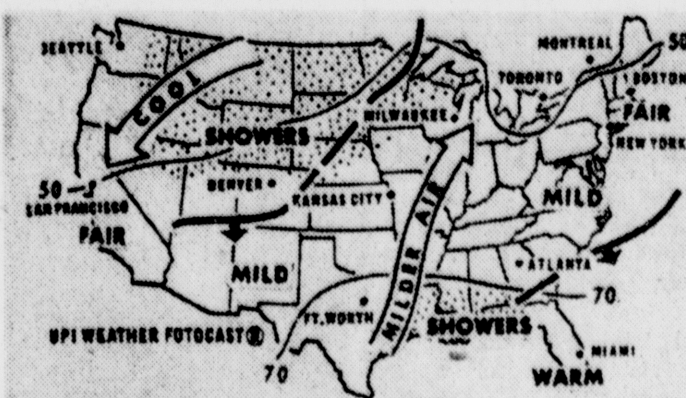

On trial with pediatrician Spock and Raskin are Yale Ch. plain William Sloane Coffin

School District Budgets Go Before State Voters

By HOWARD CLARK

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Voters trooped into the polls in large numbers in New York State Wednesday to pass on school district budgets ranging from $1 million to $20 million. Many didn't like what they saw.

About one of every four proposed budgets was rejected. Many of the approved budgets passed by narrow margins.

In most cases, the proposed budgets represented an increase in costs — and taxes — over previous years because of the rising costs of education.

The task of school officials this year was further complicated by teacher salary negotiations and uncertainty over state aid legislation. This uncertainty delayed submission of many budgets to the voters.

Some districts voted on the budgets May 7, others will judge theirs on July 9.

There are 861 school districts in the state, including 62 non-voting city districts. The remaining 799 districts submit proposed annual budgets to the voters for approval.

A trend in the voting Wednesday was difficult to ascertain. The largest budget, the $20,499,100 submitted in the Levittown district on Long Island, was approved, 2,360-2,020.

Another large sum, a $15,147,000 budget submitted to voters of the Wappinger Central School District near Poughkeepsie, was turned down, 1,700 to 1,532. Voters in the Sloane District in Erie County approved a $3.1 million budget, despite a long tradition of rejecting a proposal the first time it is offered.

On the other hand, the voters in the DePew district resoundingly turned down a $2.7 million budget, 1,003-162.

Local issues dominated the voting in many districts.

Nyack Budget Defeated In Nyack, voters defeated a $5 million budget by a vote of 1,973 to 1,571, apparently on a bus issue. The district had ordered buses from the Nyack area to Valley Cottage, six miles away, to balance its racial enrollment.

Hunt Ray's London Accomplices

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today formally authorized court hearings on American requests to extradite James Earl Ray to the United States to stand trial for the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Home Secretary James Callaghan signed the order telling London's chief magistrates to hold hearings on the American government case for extraditing the 40-year-old fugitive charged with the assassination.

The hearings and appeals might last through the summer, Earl Ray when the 40-year-old accused killer checked into a London hotel.

Blaiberg Gains In His Fight Against Hepatitis

CAPE TOWN, South Africa—World's longest surviving heart transplant patient, was "slightly improved" today in his fight against hepatitis, a hospital spokesman said.

A medical bulletin issued by Groote Schuur Hospital said the 59-year-old dentist's condition had changed very little.

"There has been no deterioration . . . and possibly a slight improvement," the bulletin said.

The hospital disclosed Wednesday night that Blaiberg had hepatitis and said he was "more than holding his own."

Blaiberg suffered a relapse Tuesday and was rushed back to the same ultra-sterile ward in Groote Schuur Hospital where he spent weeks following the transplant operation Jan. 2.

Behind the hunt to piece together the last days of freedom of Ray, was the desire of U.S. and British police to know who, if anyone, had helped Ray flee.

While the police hunted, American and British government lawyers moved on getting Ray extradited for the trial for the April 4 assassination of the civil rights leader in Memphis, Tenn.

The U.S. case for extradition—compiled in a wad of documents—was expected to be handed to Chief London Magistrate Frank Milton today by the Foreign Office.

Milton was expected to read the case and then hold private talks with Ray's court-appointed defense lawyers and the legal attache at the U.S. Embassy.

His ruling on extraditing Ray would come a week or 10 days from now after a hearing with the accused present.

Ray was locked up under 24-hour guard in south London's Wandsworth Prison. He was arrested Saturday at London International Airport for carrying false passports and a gun without permit.

Milton ordered him held without bail until Tuesday and that was expected to be extended.

County Share $159,625 for Car Tax Receipts

Ulster is the recipient of $159,625.45 in motor vehicle tax receipts, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today.

This total is the share of the state collected motor vehicle taxes for the three months ending March 31, 1968, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

Also receiving refunds were Dutchess County, $232,437.89; Greene County, $46,187.04 and Orange County, $270,672.11.

A total of $17,080,867.47 was distributed among the counties of the state and to the City of New York for the counties comprising the city.

Calcutta Air Crash Claims Six Lives

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — A jet airliner with 63 persons on board plunged through monsoon rainclouds and crashed into a rice paddy early today. All but six persons survived, airport officials said.

The officials said the Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 burst into flames after it crashed on landing at Calcutta's Dum Dum International Airport. The bodies of a stewardess, a child, three women passengers and a man were found in the wreckage.

Another 24 persons, including the pilot, were hospitalized with injuries, airline spokesmen said.

A Pan American spokesman in New York said several Americans were among the passengers but he withheld their names until relatives could be notified.

Airport officials said many of the injured passengers were thrown from the plane and others were pulled from the burning fuselage by firemen.

The plane was Pan American's flight No. 1 bound around the world from Los Angeles to New York. Its last stop was in Bangkok and it had received clearance to land by the control tower when it suddenly appeared through the low-hanging clouds and hit the ground short of the runway. Tower workers said the pilot radioed, "I can see the airport" just before the plane came into view.

It sheared off two coconut trees and hit the roof of a building as it went down. Parts of one wing were buried in the mud of the paddy, witnesses said.

A Pan American spokesman in New York said the plane carried a crew of 10 and 53 passengers, including five company employees. He said the one person listed with serious injuries was "not in danger" and the other 23 taken to hospitals suffered "minor injuries."

He said the remaining passengers and crew were taken to hotels.

The crash occurred during India's monsoon season and strong winds swept Calcutta.

Agriculture Building Scene Of Poor Vigil

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Poor People's marchers were maintaining a round-the-clock vigil at the Agriculture Department early today in support of their top priority goal—more liberal food aid for hungry Americans.

Groups of from 25 to 30 demonstrators—probably fewer than 100 in all—circled the department's main administration building south of the mall at 14th Street and Independence Avenue, SW.

The demonstration began late Wednesday after march organizers made public a list of demands they said would have to be met before they could begin to consider their campaign successful and prepare to evacuate Resurrection City.

Topping the list was a broadened food aid program to include lower priced or free food stamps for those with no incomes or very low incomes.

The marchers also urged establishment of food distribution programs in the country's 1,000 poorest counties, with the food given out on the basis of need rather than income.

The government should declare a food emergency, the marchers added, in 256 counties designated as "hunger counties" in a recent report by an independent citizens' study group.

Perspiring under a hot sun, the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the campaign, read a statement to Joseph M. Robertson, assistant secretary of agriculture, after shaking hands all around.

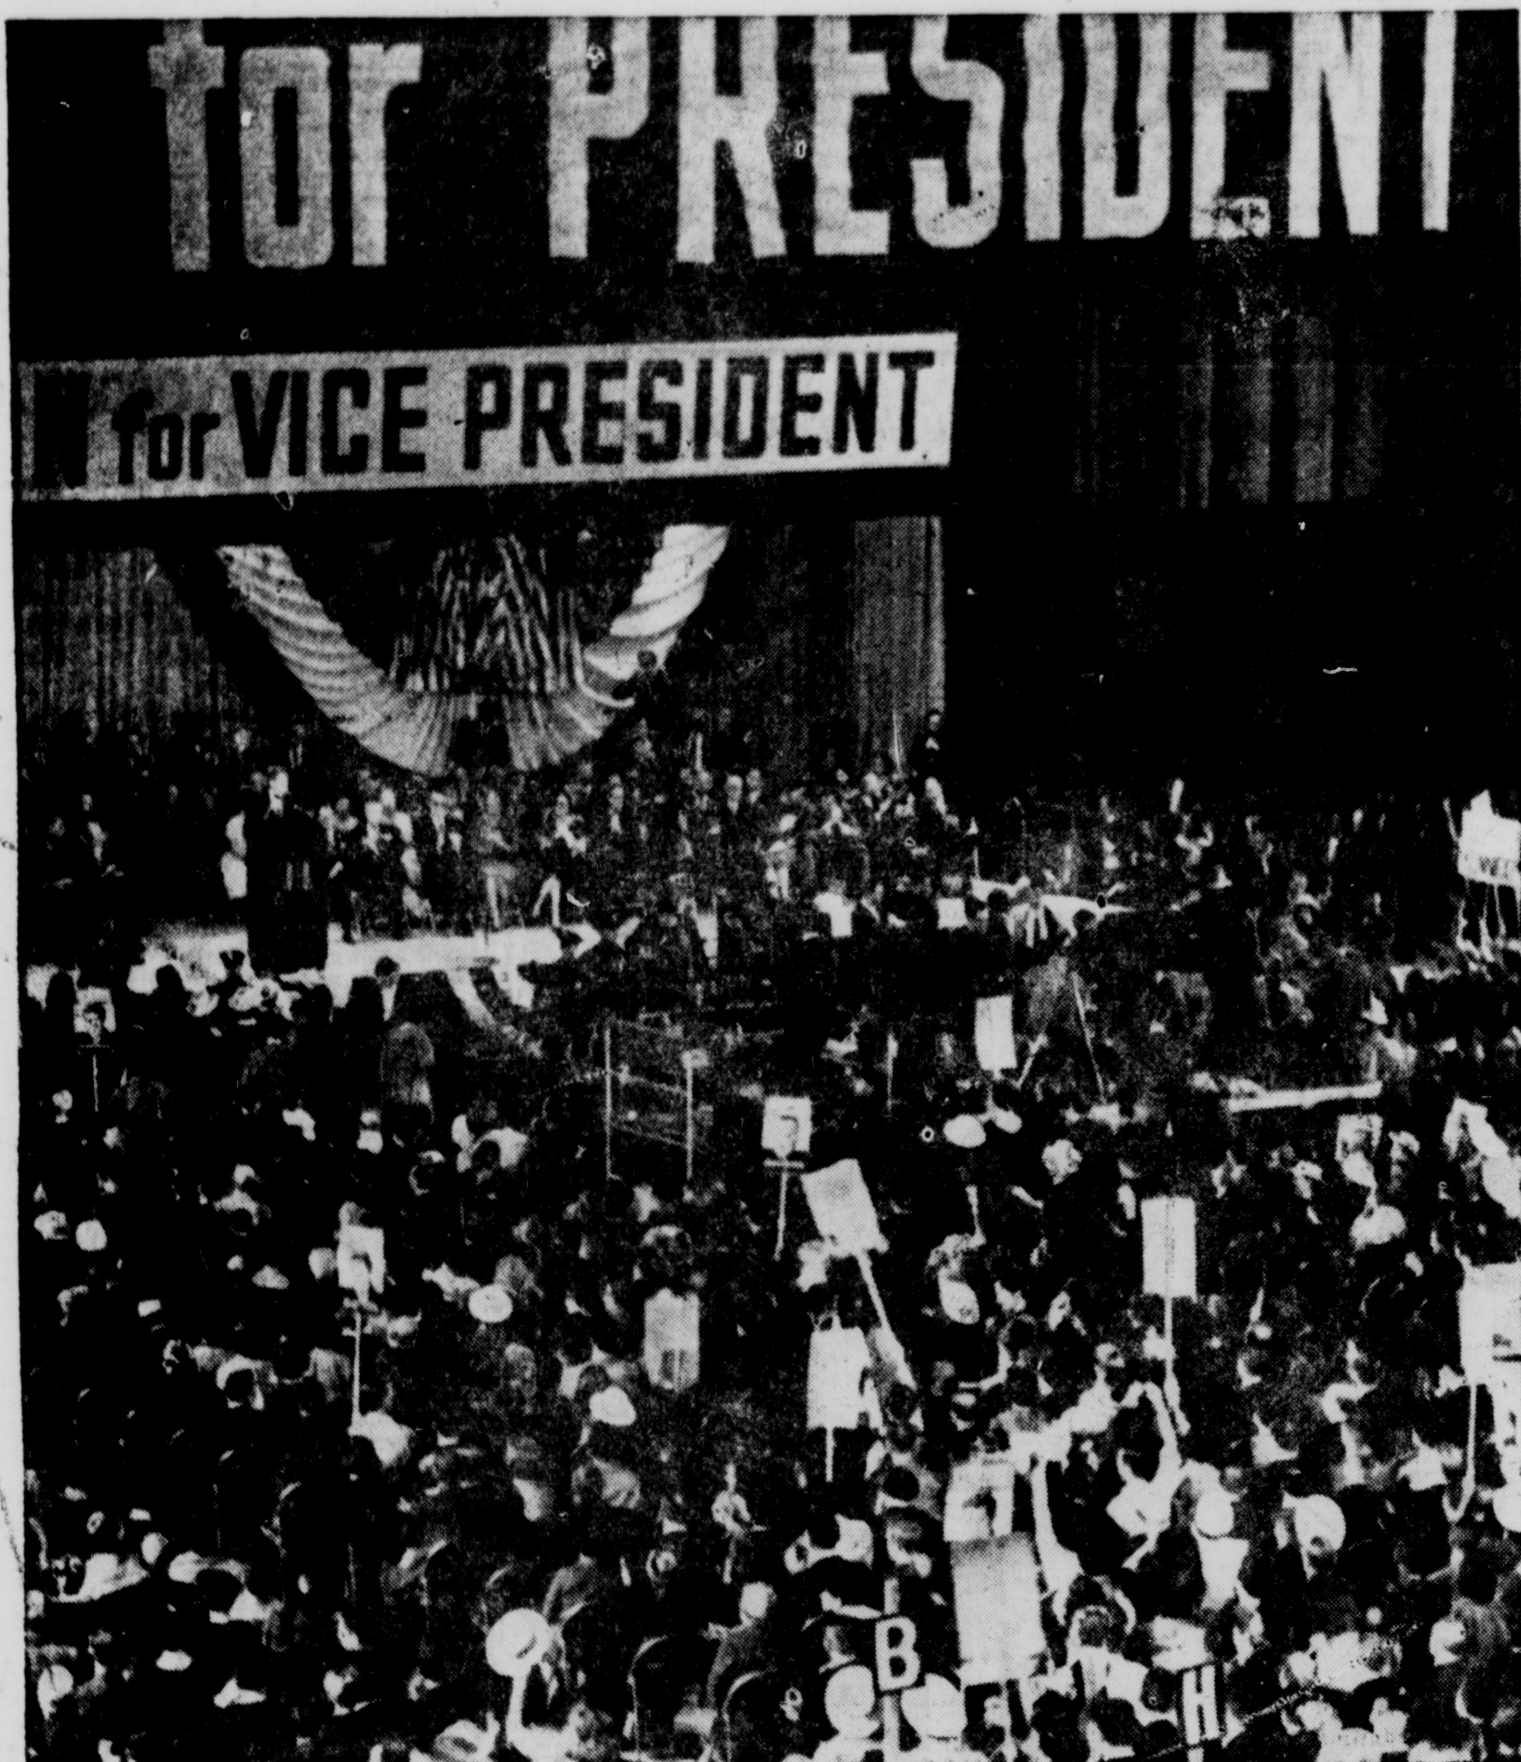

"We know and the secretary of agriculture knows that the present food programs operated by the department are failing to reach thousands upon thousands of poor Americans," he said.

"In what was said to be a coincidence, it was revealed Secretary Orville Freeman has changed his position and now favors an unlimited food stamp program for the poor."

Freeman's revised position coincided with that of 118 House members who have introduced similar bills. Led by Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., the group—primarily city congressmen—has threatened to block passage of basic farm bills unless the food stamp plan is expanded.

Hunt Ray's London Accomplices

LONDON (UPI)—Britain today formally authorized court hearings on American requests to extradite James Earl Ray to the United States to stand trial for the killing of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Home Secretary James Callaghan signed the order telling London's chief magistrates to hold hearings on the American government case for extraditing the 40-year-old fugitive charged with the assassination.

The hearings and appeals might last through the summer.

Callaghan's order made Ray liable for possible extradition not only for the killing of King in Memphis, Tenn., but for breaking out of a Missouri prison in 1967.

The order came as Scotland Yard hunted a shadowy man—or men—and a woman with an American "twang" accent to learn what Ray was doing in Britain before his arrest at London International Airport Saturday.

The man stood near James

Earl Ray when the 40-year-old accused killer checked into a London hotel.

The woman with the twang telephoned the hotel, asking for Ray.

Behind the hunt to piece together the last days of freedom of Ray was the desire of U.S. and British police to know who, if anyone, had helped Ray flee.

While the police hunted, American and British government lawyers moved on getting Ray extradited for the trial for the April 4 assassination of the civil rights leader in Memphis, Tenn.

The U.S. case for extradition—compiled in a wad of documents—was expected to be handed to Chief London Magistrate Frank Milton today by the Foreign Office.

Milton was expected to read the case and then hold private talks with Ray's court-appointed defense lawyers and the legal attache at the U.S. Embassy.

His ruling on extraditing Ray would come a week or 10 days from now after a hearing with the accused present.

Ray was locked up under 24-hour guard in south London's Wandsworth Prison. He was arrested Saturday at London International Airport for carrying false passports and a gun without permit. Milton ordered him held without bail until Tuesday and that was expected to be extended.

Blaiberg Gains In His Fight Against Hepatitis

CAPE TOWN, South Africa—world's longest surviving heart transplant patient, was "slightly improved" today in his fight against hepatitis, a hospital spokesman said.

A medical bulletin issued by Groote Schuur Hospital said the 59-year-old dentist's condition had changed very little.

"There has been no deterioration . . . and possibly a slight improvement," the bulletin said.

The hospital disclosed Wednesday night that Blaiberg had hepatitis and said he was "more than holding his own."

Blaiberg suffered a relapse Tuesday and was rushed back to the same ultra-sterile ward in Groote Schuur Hospital where he spent weeks following the transplant operation Jan. 2.

County Share $159,625 for Car Tax Receipts

Ulster is the recipient of $159,625.45 in motor vehicle tax receipts, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced today.

This total is the share of the state collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending March 31, 1968, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

Also receiving refunds were Dutchess County, $232,437.89; Greene County, $46,187.04 and Orange County, $270,672.11.

A total of $17,080,867.47 was distributed among the counties of the state and to the City of New York for the counties comprising the city.

Calcutta Air Crash Claims Six Lives

CALCUTTA, India (UPI) — A jet airliner with 63 persons on board plunged through monsoon rainclouds and crashed into a rice paddy early today. All but six persons survived, airport officials said.

The officials said the Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 burst into flames after it crashed on landing at Calcutta's Dum Dum International Airport. The bodies of a stewardess, a child, three women passengers and a man were found in the wreckage.

Another 24 persons, including the pilot, were hospitalized with injuries, airline spokesmen said.

A Pan American spokesman in New York said several Americans were among the passengers but he withheld their names until relatives could be notified.

Airport officials said many of the injured passengers were thrown from the plane and others were pulled from the burning fuselage by firemen.

The plane was Pan American's flight No. 1 bound around the world from Los Angeles to New York. Its last stop was in Bangkok and it had received clearance to land by the control tower when it suddenly appeared through the lowhanging clouds and hit the ground short of the runway. Tower workers said the pilot radioed, "I can see the airport" just before the plane came into view.

It sheared off two coconut trees and hit the roof of a building as it went down. Parts of one wing were buried in the mud of the paddy, witnesses said.

Bell Claims Reform Support In Fight to Cut Travia's Power

H. Clark Bell today said he has received promises of support from liberal and reform New York City Democrats in his fight to weaken Anthony J. Travia's iron-clad grip over the Constitutional Convention.

"I already have received promises of about 20 votes from the reformers," Bell declared.

He caused a stir yesterday when he rose during a brief convention session in Albany to challenge the Rules Committee's power over convention legislation.

Travia, a Brooklyn machine Democrat, is convention president and serves as chairman of the Rules Committee. The procedures of the convention give the Rules Committee a virtually free hand in deciding which proposals will be considered by the delegates for inclusion in a new or revised state constitution.

Bell, a Kingston attorney, is a Republican-Conservative delegate to the convention from the 38th Senatorial District.

He introduced a proposition seeking to extend from June 1 to June 15 the deadline for submission by individual delegates of proposals for constitutional changes.

In a second proposal, he asked that the deadline for submission of constitutional proposals by committees be extended from June 20 to July 20.

At present, the Rules Committee assumes virtually complete power over any constitutional proposals after the June 1 and June 20 deadlines.

Bell's push to move these deadlines back is a direct challenge to Travia's authority.

In his speech to the delegates yesterday, Bell pointed out that the convention rules are such that even one 'no' vote on the Rules Committee can bottle up vital convention proposals toward the end of the session.

"Under the present rules, it would be very easy for the Constitutional Convention to become the Committee on Rules Convention," Bell declared.

"I feel the present rules provide an unnecessary concentration of power in the Committee on Rules, and that some liberalization is absolutely necessary," he told the delegates.

"I feel that the Committee on Rules should be discharged from consideration of any proposition at any time by a majority vote. If a majority of the delegates to this convention wish to take action on any proposition, they should have the right to do so and the rules of this convention should not take away that right."

Bell noted that his propositions to dilute the Rules Committee's powers were referred by Travia to the Rules Committee itself — of which Travia is chairman.

Bell predicted a showdown on his challenge within two or three weeks. At that time, he said, the delegates will be asked to vote on a motion he will introduce to discharge his proposals from the Rules Committee. A simple majority vote is enough to get the proposals to the floor . . . .

Frustration in Albany

H. Clark Bell, Ulster delegate, warned last week that New York City domination will be complete when the Rules Committee, headed by Travia, a Brooklyn Democrat, assumes additional authority. Starting tomorrow no resolution or proposition can be pried out of the Rules Committee except by a unanimous vote of the delegates. This means that only those matters favored by Travia will be considered by delegates. He becomes a virtual czar as the convention goes into its home stretch.

Bell Raps Travia

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A scattering of Democrats sided quietly today with a Republican who contends that existing rules place too much power in the hands of Anthony J. Travia, Democratic president of the State Constitutional Convention.

Republican delegate H. Clark Bell of Kingston won privately varied expressions of sympathy from some Democrats, as well as Republicans, when he made that point on the convention floor Monday.

As the convention returned from a three-week recess, Bell arose to advocate changes in the working rules to relax the control of the powerful Rules Committee, headed by Travia.

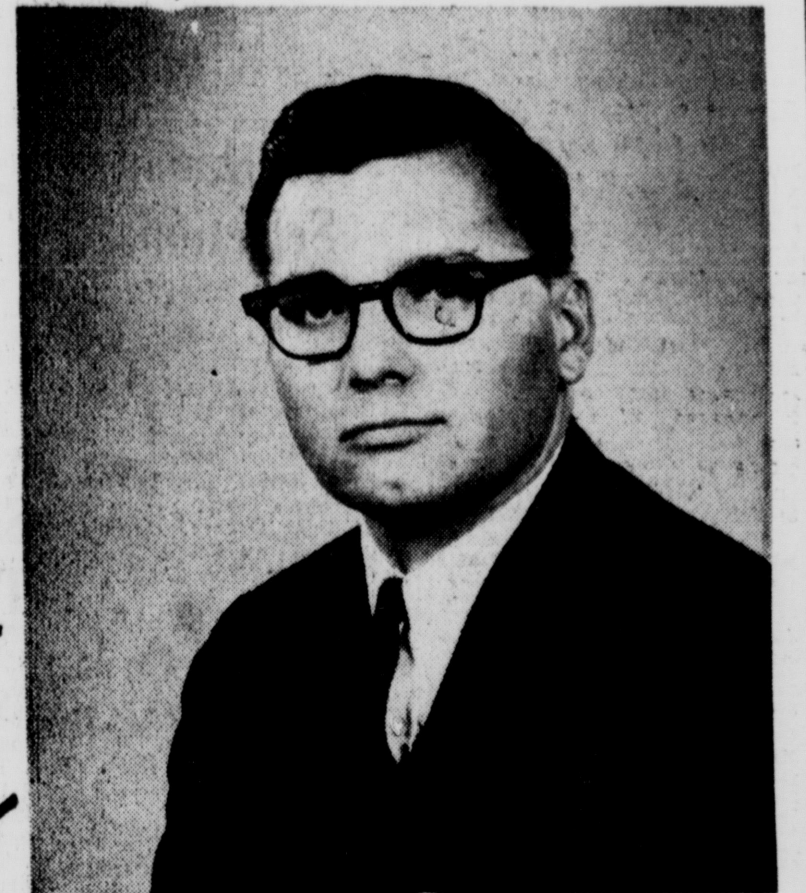

Bell's remarks and proposals enlivened a 78-minute working session.

Travia's Power Challenged

H. Clark Bell, a Dutchess-Ulster delegate to the Constitutional Convention, demonstrated (courage) in calling last week for a change in the rules governing the convention.

Bell's suggestions would curb some of the enormous power which the Convention Rules Committee — chaired by Brooklyn Democrat Anthony J. Travia — has in determining which propositions will be acted on by the convention.

Bell Wins Rules Reform

H. CLARK BELL said, "... the amendment of the rules of the Convention . . . indicates to me that the Delegates elected by the people of this State can and will exercise their collective judgement on the merits. When the resolutions calling for the amendment to the rules were introduced, I was hopeful that the delegates would rally and assert themselves, as elected representatives of all of the people of the State of New York."

$5 Million Welfare Boost

H. Clark Bell's warning to Dutchess and Ulster County residents that state takeover of all welfare costs would cost them $5 million annually deserves the thoughtful consideration of every person in the two counties who has a vote this fall.

Bell, one of three delegates from the two counties to the Constitutional Convention, in arguing against incorporating state responsibility for all welfare costs in the revised constitution, termed the plan "wrong in principle" in that it would impose an unfair tax burden on upstate residents. Nevertheless the big city dominated convention passed the proposal and it will be on the ballot Nov. 7.

Bell, a Woodstock lawyer, has emerged as one of the brighter lights of the convention. He is on sound ground in his opposition to state assumption of welfare costs and depriving local communities of any voice in welfare expenditures.

On the same day Governor Rockefeller said the additional cost to the state would be $534 million annually, if the complete costs were borne by the state. He also confirmed that 60 per cent of welfare expenditures are in New York City.

Thus, if the state takes over the welfare costs, Dutchess and Ulster residents will have their income taxes increased by $5 million annually to pay New York City welfare costs, if Bell's figures are correct and we have no reason to doubt them.

Bell Attacks Welfare Plan

ALBANY — H. Clark Bell, Ulster-Dutchess delegate to the Constitutional Convention, today attacked the welfare reorganization plan. He said it would impose an unfair tax increase on upstaters and that it was "wrong in principle." He said it would cost Ulster-Dutchess taxpayers about $5 million more annually.

The proposal, backed by Anthony Travia, convention president and majority leader, was approved by the convention yesterday. Calls for the state to assume the cost of paying for all welfare programs in the state, rather than having costs paid by local communities such as New York City.

Bell said Travia appointed a five-man "task force" to study the welfare problems in the state and four of the members are from New York City and all of them are Democrats.

"With New York City getting a tax windfall, the recommendation of the commission for the state to assume all costs, came as no surprise," Bell stated.

Bell maintained the problem could only be handled fairly on a national level.

He said: "A family of four in Mississippi on welfare will receive $33 per month. A family of four in our area will receive about $150 per month. There is, naturally, an in-migration into New York of low income families from areas which pay lesser benefits."

"The cost of welfare to local governments for this fiscal year for the state is about $328 million. Under existing law equal amounts are contributed by the state and federal governments. New York City has about 71 per cent of all the welfare cases in the state and now must contribute about $375 million a year to pay its welfare bill. By having the state assume the full cost New York City would immediately relieve itself of the tax bill of $375 million and part of its share would be paid by upstate communities."

"For example, Dutchess County welfare costs are $1,690,000, and under the Travia plan Dutchess County residents would have to pay about $5,280,000 as their share of the state plan," Bell explained.

Similarly, he said, Ulster's welfare costs would rise from $1,267,000 to $2,640,000 using 1967-1968 fiscal year figures.

The additional cost of $3 million to the two communities would be applied to New York City's welfare bill, he maintained.

Bell concluded: "Our Constitution should not have the Travia Plan frozen into it. This is a legislative matter and the state-legislature should have freedom to experiment and cooperate with the federal government and sister states to develop a coordinated national welfare administration."

Mets Option Goosen To Jackson Farm

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets Wednesday night optioned first baseman-catcher Greg Goossen to Jacksonville of the International League and reinstated shortstop Bud Harrelson, who came back after completing two weeks army duty Sunday.

Goossen, 22, was hitting .232 on 19 hits on 82 trips for the Mets. The 24-year-old Harrelson, a defensive stalwart, has a .198 batting average on 25 hits on 126 at bats.

Last Boy First In Feature Race At Monticello

MONTICELLO—Russell Dunn, driver of Last Boy, took advantage of a stretch break by front running Penney's His Nibs, and proceeded to guide his black gelding home the winner in the featured $1,500 trot at Monticello Raceway last night.

Leaving from post two, Last Boy grabbed off the early lead when 7.5 favorite Ded E. Hanover (1) went off stride before the start of the race.

Penney's His Nibs (4), driven by Bruce Kenn, went off stride for the first time just as the starting gate pulled away.

Last Boy, a five-year-old by Ego Hanover—Vickie Hanover out of Hoot Mon, and owned by Albert and Eugene Lipsi of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. held the lead until about 20 yards before the completion of the first half-mile.

With Dunn in control, Last Boy went the first quarter in :33.3. Penney's His Nibs recovered from the early break and was pushing last boy down the homestretch the first time around. Bruce Kenn piloted Penney's His Nibs past Last Boy just before the half, reaching the spot in 1:05.2.

Kenn kept the lead and Last Boy sat second. A length-and-a-half separated the pair heading to the three-quarters. Dunn closed ground then, pulled the gelding outside as they hit the three-fourth pole in 1:37.1.

In the final turn, Penney's His Nibs made the second and disastrous break and Dunn seized the opportunity, winning by two lengths.

A 5-1 shot Last Boy paid $12.20, $5.00 and $5.00. Mr. Gordon (4) placed and returned $5.60 and $5.00 while Blythe Jessica (5) was worth $5.20 for show.

Saratoga Race To Swamp Root

Swamp Root, enjoying a muddy track, led from wire to wire Wednesday night and captured the $2,000 feature trot at Saratoga Raceway.

The winner, clocked at a slow 2:15.25 for the mile, returned $24.80. Toddlers Windy was second and Little Laird was third.

The win highlighted harness racing activity on Upstate New York tracks.

At rain-soaked Roosevelt Raceway, Great Credit fought off a last-quarter challenge by Klara Bye Bye and went on to win the $5,000 Freeport Pace.

The 11-year-old New Zealand import clipped the mile at 2:06.15 and returned $5.60. Sir Charles Pick was second and Klara Bye Bye third.

Irish Flower, also racing on a muddy track, scored a two-length victory over Emporer Jones in the $1,500 feature pace at Vernon Downs.

Four Homers Pace Schrade Victory

4th Straight For Lasher

Four home runs paced Schrade Walden's hard hitting League leaders to their 19th consecutive Ellenville softball regular season victory, 3-2 over Wright's Service Station last night in Ellenville.

Charlie Holmes started the parade with a bases empty homer in the first inning. Holmes followed up with his second homer a long shot over the left fielder's head with one on in the third inning for two more tallies.

Whitney Zovistoski and Charlie Page clouted solo circuits in the fifth inning and Schrade Walden picked up another run on singles by Bert Darmstadter and Bob Hohmann to set the total at seven.

Bob Harding homered in the fifth with a man on for Wright's biggest inning.

Winner Bob Lasher (4-0) hopes to guide Schrade Walden to its 20th triumph tonight against the Silber Grill, weather permitting. Fifteen of the 19 straight wins are carry overs from last year.

The score: Schrade Walden (7) Wright's (3)

Beckenham, England, Peter Curtis of Britain, 6-4, 6-4, Stolle stopped John Paish of Britain, 6-4, 8-6 while Mrs. Court Smith, making a comeback, eliminated Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, Calif., 6-3, 6-4.

Rosemary Casals of San Francisco and Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of Great Britain stayed in the running in the women's division with easy victories.

That hardy veteran of the ENYGA trails, Walt Kubica of Pontoosic, carded 38-34 to tie John Smith of Cordial Greens and club member Graham Sharnan for first place in the weekly Eastern New York Golf Association tournament Wednesday at Buxton Lake in Averill Park.

Smith, who captured last week's tournament with a 71 at Windham, put together a pair of 37's. Sharnan toured his home layout in 35-38. His net 67 led the Class A field.

Jack Newman of Van Schalck (Cohoes) fired a 79 to lead a field of 39 Class B players at Catskill, while current Class C champion Joe Kollath of Ballston posted an 85 to tie Denny Dragon of the home club for Class honors.

George Westover of the host club, a 26 handicapper, won net with an 86-26-60.

Next week the Class A players will be at Hoosick Falls, while the B and C competitors play at Van Schalck.

Randall Favored to Win Seventh Herdegen Title

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

The 150-player field started out in pursuit of favored Billy Casper in the United States Open at Oak Hill CC in Rochester this morning.

Saturday morning at precisely 9 o'clock, 35 players in the 18th annual Herdegen Memorial launch the perennial stop-Leon Randall movement at Wiltwyck Country Club.

It's going to take tremendous golf to beat either of these champions. Randall, a six-time winner (back to back the last two years) even has the terrain going for him. Only his long time partner, Harvey Bostic, can consistently challenge Randall at Wiltwyck. And the tournament concludes Sunday at The Wiltwyck Club where the Blood Bomber has played the hallowed midtown layout as well as anybody in the history of the tournament.

Randall and Bostic are among six past champions competing in the 36-hole tournament. Others include: Bill Van Aken of Woodstock, a three-time winner; George Hughes, Twaalfskill, 4 titles; and single winners Clarence (Dubby) Raichle, Rick Barthel and Bostic. William (Buzzy) Costello, the 1963 champion, is in federal release and no longer eligible for the Herdegen which is restricted to players with a bonafide Ulster County residence.

Randall, who captured the 72-hole event with a 285 score in 1967, will be seeking an unprecedented third straight championship. The Wiltwyck ace is the only player ever to have repeated in the Herdegen, winning titles in 1959-60 and 1966-67.

Top Scholastic Players

In addition to the past champions, the field includes such top scholastic players as Ed Byman, Arnie Shienbold, Joe Bostic and Werner Kolin of the Kingston High School squad;

Mike Mostarsky of State University College, New Paltz; David Blakey, No. 1 man at UCCS; Jordan Pauker of Princeton. The Youthful contingent also includes David Dean of Woodstock, Dan Gaffney, Twaalfskill; Frank Muller of Ellenville; Frank Murray, Wiltwyck. Three members of the Barthel family—Ricky, Fred and Bob—are in the field. The Gaffneys—Charles and Dan—form the only father-son team in the field, while Harvey and Joe Bostic and Bill and Harold (Clancy) Van Aken are the brothers combinations. Veteran "name" entries include Bill Oltreale and Doug Sheppard of New Paltz; George Cosenza, Bill Kaufman, Frank Weller, Robert O. Merritt, Brian Smith and Joe Modica of Woodstock; Bill McCullen, Wiltwyck; Tom Coughlin, Twaalfskill.

Two Newcomers

Two newcomers in the field are Tom Bruggy of IBM Poughkeepsie and Donald Arthur of the Saweykill Country Club of Saugerties, former champion at Catskill Golf Club and Northampton, Mass. The pairings and tee times: (SATURDAY, JUNE 15) 9:00—Sheppard-Cosenza-Pauker 9:06—H. Van Aken-F. Barthel-Muller 9:12—Stapleton-Coughlin-Merritt 9:18—Kaufman-Modica-Dean 9:24—McCullen-Bryan-B. # Mets Solve Drysdale Magic in Ninth, 2-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—J. C. Martin doubled in the ninth inning Wednesday night to start a two-run rally that brought the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers and snapped Don Drysdale's seven-game winning streak.

The victory was the third straight for the Mets over the Dodgers and made their current road record 7-2, the best mark in the club's history. Drysdale had a 1-0 lead that he had protected from the fourth inning but the Mets exploded in the ninth. With one out, Art Shamsky singled and Martin doubled him home to tie the score. Jack Billingham was summoned from the Dodgers' bullpen to replace Drysdale and Jerry Grote single in Martin with the winning run. The Dodgers scored in the fourth inning when Len Gabrielson led off with a single, took third on Tom Haller's single and came home on a wild pitch by Mets' starting hurler Nolan Ryan.

Al Jackson, who relieved Ryan in the eighth inning, was credited with the win although Ron Taylor recorded the final out. Ryan gave up six hits in the seven innings he worked while Drysdale was touched for seven hits before being lifted in the ninth. Drysdale had a three-hitter going until the eighth inning when the Mets got a runner as far as third base for the first time on a pair of singles. But he retired the side and appeared headed for his eighth shutout of the season until the Mets staged their ninth inning rally.

Ron Swoboda, who collected one of the four Mets' hits in the ninth, tripped over the bag at first in beating out an infield single and had to be assisted off the field.

Two-Headed AL Race

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League isn't waiting for next year's expansion to go to two divisions, they've got two divisions right now.

And that's too bad for devotees of tight pennant races because the real battle seems to be for fourth place.

The pace-setting Detroit Tigers, who haven't won a flag since 1945, boosted their lead to five games over idle Baltimore and 5½ over Cleveland with a 2-1 victory over Minnesota Wednesday night. Those first three teams make up the first division—realistically, if not literally. Minnesota, 10 games back, heads the seven also-rans and there's only a three-game gap between the Twins and last-place Washington. In fact, the Twins are only one percentage

Three members of the Barthel family—Rick, Fred and Bob—are in the field. The Gaffneys—Charles and Dan—form the one father-son tandem in the field, while Harvey and Joe Bostic and Bill and Harold (Clancy) Van Aken are the brothers combinations.

Veteran "name" entries include Bill Olenak and Doug Sheppard of New Paltz; George Cosenza, Bill Kaufman, Frank Weller, Robert O. Merritt, Brian Smith and Joe Modica of Woodstock; Bill McCullen, Wiltwyck; Tom Coughlin, Twaalfskill.

Two Newcomers

Two newcomers in the field are Tom Brugg of IBM Poughkeepsie and David Arthur of the Sawyerkill Country Club of Saugerties, former champion at Catskill Golf Club and Northampton, Mass.

The tournament was reduced to 36 holes for the first time this year and players are competing by invitation. Automatic invitations went to all past champions and 1967 prize winners. Other players were selected on merit.

The winner is recognized as Ulster County Amateur champion and receives a trophy and the traditional Herdegen jacket. The first 12 finishers figure in the prize list.

Mets Solve Drysdale Magic in Ninth, 2-1

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—J. C.

Martin doubled in the ninth inning Wednesday night to start a two-run rally that brought the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers and snapped Don Drysdale's seven-game winning streak.

The victory was the third straight for the Mets over the Dodgers and made their current road record 7-2, the best mark in the club's history. Drysdale had a 1-0 lead that he had protected from the fourth inning but the Mets exploded in the ninth.

With one out, Art Shamsky singled and Martin doubled him home to tie the score. Jack Billingham was summoned from the Dodgers' bullpen to replace Drysdale and Jerry Grote

and came home on a wild pitch by Mets' starting hurler Nolan Ryan.

out. Ryan gave up six hits in the seven innings he worked while Drysdale was touched for seven hits before being lifted in the ninth.

Drysdale had a three-hitter going until the eighth inning when the Mets got a runner as far as third base for the first time on a pair of singles. But he retired the side and appeared headed for his eighth shutout of the season until the Mets staged their ninth inning rally.

Ron Swoboda, who collected one of the four Mets' hits in the ninth, tripped over the bag at first in beating out an infield single and had to be assisted off the field.

Two-Headed AL Race

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League isn't waiting for next year's expansion to go to two divisions, they've got two divisions right now.

And that's too bad for devotees of tight pennant races because the real battle seems to be for fourth place.

The pace-setting Detroit Tigers, who haven't won a flag since 1945, boosted their lead to five games over idle Baltimore and 5½ over Cleveland with a 2-1 victory over Minnesota Wednesday night. Those first three teams make up the first division—realistically, if not literally.

Minnesota, 10 games back, heads the seven also-rans and there's only a three-game gap between the Twins and last-place Washington. In fact, the Twins are only one percentage point ahead of Oakland, with Boston another point back. Who says there's no race?

In the only other Wednesday night action, Oakland drubbed Cleveland 7-0. The Baltimore-Washington and Chicago-New York single games and the California-Boston two-nighter were rained out.

Dick McAuliffe's eighth-inning tie-breaking homer and Mickey Lolich's five-hit pitching gave Detroit its third straight triumph over slumping Minnesota. The Tigers have won eight of their last nine games.

McAuliffe's shot, his seventh, broke up a duel between Lolich and Jim Kaat. It was the first hit off Kaat since the second inning. Lolich didn't allow a hit after the fifth.

John "Blue Moon" Odom hurled a seven-hitter and smacked his first major league homer as Oakland blanked Cleveland. The A's pounded Steve Hargan for four runs and five hits in the first three innings and Odom, Reggie Jackson and Dave Duncan all homered off reliever Bill Rohr.

Odom struck out five and walked only one in his first appearance since he hurled 8 2/3 hitless innings against Baltimore Friday night before a broken-bat blooper ruined his no-hit bid.

Yankee Tryouts Set at Saratoga

Tom Kane, Eastern New York Area Yankee scout, will supervise a New York Yankee "Tryout Camp" in Saratoga Springs on June 24-25. Jim Riter is chairman of the event.

Sponsored by the Saratoga High School Boosters Club in conjunction with the New York Yankee Minor League Operations, the camp will be the first in New York State this season. Kane will be assisted by Yankee scouts Pat Colgan of Pennsylvania and Joe Fisca of Buffalo.

High school seniors and college students between the ages of 17 and 21 years of age, inclusive, are eligible for the tryout camp, which will be conducted at the East Side Recreation Field on Lake Avenue in Saratoga.

Bats, balls, helmets and catcher's protective equipment will be supplied by the Yankee organization. Boys participating in the camp must supply their own uniforms, spikes, glove and arrange for overnight lodging, if necessary.

Interested applicants can obtain further information by writing James Riter, Athletic Director, Saratoga Springs High School, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Place Mathews On Disabled List

DETROIT (UPI)—Veteran Ed Mathews was placed on the 21-day disabled list by the Detroit Tigers Wednesday. General Manager Jim Campbell announced.

The Tiger first baseman who has hit three home runs this year to boost his career total to 512, good for sixth on the all-time list, entered Henry Ford Hospital last Saturday for treatment of a slipped disc in his back.

His disability will start from that date. Mathews joins Al Kaline on the inactive list. Kaline's 21 days on the disabled list expired Saturday and no replacement on the Detroit roster has been made, Campbell said.

Manager Ron Secreto has announced Billy Costello as the starting pitcher. Costello is expected to pitch the Chevrolets to their second league win.

The Kingston Braves' scheduled contest with the Newburgh Nuclears in a Hudson Valley Rookies League contest was rained out at Dietz Stadium.

The locals are scheduled to play two games at Newburgh this weekend, both at the Newburgh Recreation Field. They meet New Windsor Rockets Saturday at 6 p. m. and Cornwall Aces Sunday at 2 p. m.

In the Babe Ruth League today, Volunteer Firemen play Elks Club and Hurley Wagner takes on the American Legion.

Braves' Pat Jarvis Snaps Cardinal Hex

Pat Jarvis dazzled the St. Louis Cardinals with wire-to-wire speed Wednesday night but Don Drysdale wasn't quick enough to fight off the New York Mets' finishing kick.

Jarvis, Atlanta's hard throwing righthander hurled a three-hitter, as the Braves ended a long standing St. Louis hex by drubbing the National League leaders 7-1. The Mets caught up to Drysdale with two runs in the ninth to win, 2-1.

In other National League action, San Francisco trimmed Pittsburgh 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs down Cincinnati 4-1 in afternoon action. Houston was rained out at Philadelphia.

Jarvis, 6-4, held St. Louis hitless until the fifth inning and drove in the only two runs he needed with a pair of singles as Atlanta cooled off the sizzling Cardinals with a 13-hit attack. The Cards had won 13 of their previous 15 starts and had beat on the Braves 10 times in a row, sweeping their first six meetings this season.

Aaron Raps Homer

Hank Aaron clubbed a two-run homer, Tito Francona laced a bases-empty homer and two singles and Marty Martinez socked two doubles and a triple in the Braves' assault against loser Nelson Briles and three St. Louis relievers.

Hal Lanier scored the tie-breaking run at San Francisco as slick fielding second baseman Bill Mazeroski booted Dave Marshall's two-out grounder in the seventh inning. Jim Hart's 12th homer gave the Giants an insurance run in the eighth.

Bunning Loses Again

Mazeroski's error pinned the loss on luckless Jim Bunning, 3-8, while Bob Bolin, making only the second start of the season, posted his first victory with late help from reliever Frank Lipyn.

Ferguson Jenkins pitched a five-hitter and Ron Santo delivered two runs with a double and his 10th homer, leading the Cubs past Cincinnati.

Jenkins, 6-7, throttled the Reds after Tony Perez' second inning homer.

In the only area baseball action Wednesday evening, Rock Construction scored five runs in the fourth inning to edge Kiwanis 6-5 in a five-inning Babe Ruth League contest.

The Rock nine jammed four of their six hits off B. Cole in the winning rally. W. Samuels, the winner, permitted four hits and fanned seven. Cole had 11 strikeouts.

Darling and Perry of Rock Construction and Joe Tiano of Kiwanis each had two singles.

Yankee Tryouts Set at Saratoga

Tom Kane, Eastern New York Area Yankee scout, will supervise a New York Yankee "Try-out Camp" in Saratoga Springs on June 24-25. Jim Riter is chairman of the event.

Sponsored by the Saratoga High School Boosters Club in conjunction with the New York Yankee Minor League Operations, the camp will be the first in New York State this season.

Kane will be assisted by Yankee scouts Pat Colgan of Pennsylvania and Joe Fisco of Buffalo.

High school seniors and college students between the ages of 17 and 21 years of age, inclusive, are eligible for the try-out camp, which will be conducted at the East Side Recreation Field on Lake Avenue in Saratoga.

Bats, balls, helmets and catcher's protective equipment will be supplied by the Yankee organization. Boys participating in the camp must supply their own uniforms, spikes, glove and arrange for overnight lodging, if necessary.

Interested applicants can obtain further information by writing James Riter, Athletic Director, Saratoga Springs High School, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Chevrolets to Host Middletown Tonight

Rain washed out all except one Babe Ruth League contest Wednesday night, but rain-ridden teams hope to get a fresh start tonight.

Kingston's entry in the Hudson Valley Softball League—Ray Chevrolet—takes on Middletown in a league contest tonight at 8 o'clock at Block Park, which drains much better than other athletic fields in the area.

Manager Ron Secreto has announced Billy Costello as the starting pitcher. Costello is expected to pitch the Chevies to their second league win.

The Kingston Braves' scheduled contest with the Newburgh Nuclears in a Hudson Valley Rookies League contest was rained out at Dietz Stadium.

The locals are scheduled to play two games at Newburgh this weekend, both at the Newburgh Recreation Field. They meet New Windsor Rockets Saturday at 6 p. m. and Cornwall Abies Sunday at 2 p. m.

In the Babe Ruth League today, Volunteer Firemen play Elks Club and Hurley Wagner takes on the American Legion.

The Tiger first baseman who has hit three home runs this year to boost his career total to 512, good for sixth on the all-time list, entered Henry Ford Hospital last Saturday for treatment of a slipped disc in his back.

His disability will start from that date.

Mathews joins Al Kaline on the inactive list. Kaline's 21 days on the disabled list expired Saturday and no replacement on the Detroit roster has been made, Campbell said.

In the Babe Ruth League today, Volunteer Firemen play Elks Club and Hurley Wagner takes on the American Legion.

Coach Bill Ware recently, Seith, a junior in the school of Health and Physical Education at Ithaca College, helped the Ithacans to a 5-3 record in their second season of varsity lacrosse.

Fred Seith, Jr., of 13 Virginia Avenue, Saugerties, was awarded an Ithaca College Varsity lacrosse letter, announced Coach Bill Ware recently.

Seith, a junior in the school of Health and Physical Education at Ithaca College, helped the Ithacans to a 5-3 record in their second season of varsity lacrosse.

Local 4-Hers Win DUSO Championship

Doris Wilkie of New Salem ran off with the honors for the Reserve Champion, Helen Ambrose of New Salem won first place in 4-H grooming and placed second in the barrel races.

A northern vacation would be incomplete without a stop at the Conservation Department fish hatchery at Warrensburg.

We spent an hour there last Friday on our return home and a guided tour was most interesting, as we got "look see" at those famed coho salmon, 80,000 of them in the rearing ponds at the hatchery.

These were all hatched here and their rapid growth and feeding program was explained in detail by a most courteous employee. Their growth is astounding and they will outgrow the brook trout by several inches in a short time.

Some of the cohos, measuring six to eight inches that were stocked in the tributaries of Lake Ontario this year, will grow to 20-to-30 pound fish by the fall of 1969, if the food and water conditions warrant. This was strictly an experimental stocking, with fishermen and department officials eagerly awaiting the outcome.

Most of the cohos in the rearing ponds at present will go into Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and Lake Michigan.

Let's hope that from these experiments the cohos may someday just find their way to the Ashokan and a spawning run into the Esopus much like the present rainbows.

A parting glance at those 18-to-20-inch brookies in one pool should make any fisherman drool with envy as they cavort for public viewing.

LIKE RARE WINES, it seems real fishermen, mellow and improve with age. Such is the case of Bob McConnell of Ellenville, a modest 86 years young who still wades the area streams and comes up with his share of trout.

Just recently, Mr. McConnell was seen walking three miles to Greenfield Park, near Ellenville, to fish the Beaverkill stream. Upon his return, he had a display of his limit of brookies that would be the envy of any sportsman, all taken on flies.

We understand his legend of fishing and hunting stories go back to most of our boyhood days and his clippings and picture book back up his claims. We hope Mr. McConnell will find room for this in his memory book.

We salute you "old timer" and may you have many years more at your favorite sport.

HAD A NICE NOTE from a good friend and sportsman, Wayne Meyer from Da Nang, South Vietnam. At present he is in the base camp of the Navy Seabees, recuperating from a mine blast which injured his face and eardrum. Says he enjoys reading The Freeman and, in particular, our column. Hopes to come home in August and is looking forward to some good fresh air and fall fishing and hunting. We're rooting for all you boys, Wayne, and may God bless you.

Members of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County hosted their newly elected officers at the annual banquet held at the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club. Fred Markle and Nelson Shultis, club chefs, officiated over the sumptuous roast beef dinner.

Among the notables in attendance were Town of Esopus Supervisor George Freer; Bill Hollister, of the Conservation Department's Bureau of Game; Ken Wich of the Bureau of Fish and department wardens Phil Gillen, Jim Overbaugh, Al Schneller, Al Roberts and Paul Dewire.

Walter Bartsh of Gardiner, the newly elected president, welcomed the members and a moment of silent prayer was observed in memory of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

OLD RIP SEZ: Wouldn't it be nice if these boys who wait for stream stocking could learn how to count to 10?

Bernardini Top Gun at Katrine

8 Radio Relay Satellites Fired In Mighty Shot

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Titan 3C rocket packing the Air Force's mightiest space kick was launched today carrying eight radio relay satellites to close the gaps in the Pentagon's direct communications link with Vietnam.

The 124-foot, three-barreled rocket leaped off its launch pad at the space center at 10:04 a.m. EDT with a ground shaking roar.

Two solid propellant rockets strapped to the side gave the three stage space machine a takeoff kick of nearly 2.5 million pounds of thrust and moved the big bird quickly into a hazy layer of clouds and out of sight.

Above the clouds, the orange glow of a trail of flame twice as long as the rocket glowed briefly as the Titan angled over the Atlantic, aimed at an orbit about 21,000 miles in space.

There was a four minute hold to check some instrument readings a half minute before schedule takeoff, but it was the only difficulty in a smooth, six hour countdown.

R. L. Cantine, chairman of the Board, has announced the election of D. D. Uong to the Board of Directors of The Martin Cantine Company.

In addition to his duties as a director, Uong will serve as an advisor and consultant on technical problems related to coated specialties and new products. Uong has been identified with the industry for more than 40 years. He was a member of the Board of Directors of Fitchburg Paper Company before that company merged with Litton Industries, Inc. He was serving in the capacity of senior vice president in charge of New Products Development when he retired in 1965.

Plattsburgh Pastor, Wife Are Critical

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—An upstate New York minister and his wife were in critical condition at St. John's Hospital today, with burns received in a Vandalia, Ill., motel explosion and fire.

The Rev. John Cramer and his wife, Louise, both 33, of Plattsburgh, N.Y., were admitted to a hospital in Vandalia immediately after the explosion Wednesday and later were transferred to St. John's.

The Church of the Nazarene minister and his wife had stopped at the motel en route to a church convention at Kansas City, Mo. The explosion, which authorities said was ignited by some kind of gas, blew off the ceiling of their room and touched off flames.

The Rev. H. L. Hampton, of Fairlawn, N.J., who was traveling with the couple, was in an adjoining room. The room was damaged by the blast, but he escaped injury.

Cramer told authorities the explosion occurred when his wife turned on a light switch.

School Bus Hit, 13 Are Injured

NEW YORK (UPI)—A school bus carrying New Jersey youngsters to a museum outing in Manhattan was struck in the rear by a truck in the Lincoln Tunnel today, sending 13 children to the hospital with minor injuries.

Police said the truck "slid into" the rear of the bus when it came to a halt midway in the tunnel between New Jersey and New York.

Most of the injured youngsters had "whiplash injuries," police said. They were taken to St. Clare's Hospital.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Apollo command module that will return American astronauts from the moon uses only 3,000 watts of electricity—the voltage required by the ordinary electric range, says The World Almanac. The spacecraft, however, contains some 15 miles of wire, more than enough for 50 two-bedroom homes.

Stewart Gets Medal, Ends Career in AF

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — James Stewart recently ended a 27-year career with a rare distinction: the Air Force's Distinguished Service Medal.

It was only the second time the honor had been bestowed on a Reserve officer. The citation said that "the singularly distinctive accomplishments of Gen. Stewart culminate a long and distinguished career in the service of his country and reflect the highest credit upon himself and the U.S. Air Force."

Having retired from the service at 60, Jimmy Stewart returned from the Washington ceremonies and indulged in some rare reflection on his years with the Air Force. Actually, it was the Army Air Corps when he was drafted on March 22, 1941. Stewart took his training at Moffatt Field, Calif., was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942, went to England in 1943, flew 20 combat missions over Germany and left active duty as a colonel in 1945. Stewart explained why he chose to remain in the Air Force Reserve: "I got a lot out of my experience in the service during the war; I think that experience helped make me a better civilian. I was greatly impressed with the caliber of men I met and worked with, and I wanted to continue that relationship."

Two Vietnam Visits

For the next 23 years, the actor spent two or three weeks a year on active duty, including two visits to Vietnam. His most memorable experience, he said, was working with Gen. Curtis E. LeMay during the formative period of the Strategic Air Command. In addition to his active duty, Stewart made numerous appearances for the Air Force, in person and on film and television.

He conceded that some highly vocal segments of today's society are antimilitary, but he said that such expressions are common in peacetime.

"When I was a kid, military people were tucked away on a base somewhere; they never took part in any of the civic functions," he remarked. "If a boy ran off and joined the Army, he was considered to be a failure."

"Now the military is very much a part of our society, and I think that's a good thing. I find the caliber of military personnel is very high. You find among them a tough-mindedness and spirit to do the job correctly."

Producing Scholars

"The service academies aren't just technical schools any more; they're now stressing the humanities and the liberal arts. The Air Force Academy produces as many Rhodes Scholars as any university in the United States."

Huguenot Historical Meeting on Saturday

The Huguenot Historical Society will hold its 70th annual meeting in New Paltz Saturday. Upwards of 100 persons are expected to attend the meeting, with many traveling to New Paltz from areas outside the United States.

A luncheon will be held at the Deyo Assembly Hall on Broadway Avenue, the meeting place of the society.

One of the highlights of this year's meeting will be the awarding of a certificate and plaque to the Memorial House (Jean Hasbrouck House) by the Department of the Interior, National Historic Sites. The house was noted during the past year as one of the three outstanding houses in our nation. It is the only known house of its kind of Flemish architecture, built in 1694-1712, standing in this nation.

Dr. Lawrence J. Zollar, assistant superintendent, New York City, National Park Service Group, will represent the Department of the Interior in the presentation of the certificate and plaque. During the meeting of the members of the Society which will begin at 2 p. m., Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society, of New Paltz, Inc., will receive the award for the Society.

Reservations have been made for a number of people arriving by plane and automobile for the event. Some guests will remain in New Paltz for several days. One of the notables will be present Saturday is Mrs. Griswold Hurlbert, owner and manager of the Warren Tribune Chronicle, Warren, O., and several members of her staff. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hasbrouck will be present from Elma, Wash.

Bridge Results

The Glencree Bridge Club held its regular Fractional Point Game at the Elk's Club, and played 24 boards in a Mitchell movement.

On the North-South side, Ralph Wesselmann of Shokan and Henry Berleth of Woodstock took first place.

On the East-West side, Michael Luni of Tilton and James Cavin of Kingston won a free game with the highest over-all score.

On the North-South side, second place went to Miss Dorothy Maroon and Arling Kallenberg of Kingston; third spot was taken by Mr. and Mrs. W. Bryant of Poughkeepsie.

On the East-West side, second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley; third place went to Steve Lush and Abhay Jhaveri of Kingston.

The Glencree bridge club will hold its regular fractional home game next Tuesday, June 18, at the Elk's Club. There will be an Open Pairs Championship at the YWCA, Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, Monday, 7:30 p. m. All bridge players may attend.

8 Radio Relay Satellites Fired In Mighty Shot

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Titan 3C rocket packing the Air Force's mightiest space kick was launched today carrying eight radio relay satellites to close the gaps in the Pentagon's direct communications link with Vietnam.

The 124-foot, three-barreled rocket leaped off its launch pad at the space center at 10:04 a.m. EDT with a ground shaking roar.

Two solid propellant rockets strapped to the side gave the three stage space machine a takeoff kick of nearly 2.5 million pounds of thrust and moved the big bird quickly into a hazy layer of clouds and out of sight.

Above the clouds, the orange glow of a trail of flame twice as long as the rocket glowed briefly as the Titan angled over the Atlantic, aimed at an orbit about 21,000 miles in space.

There was a four minute hold to check some instrument readings a half minute before schedule takeoff, but it was the only difficulty in a smooth, six hour countdown.

Charge Savago Failed To Appear for Debate

Peter J. Savago failed to appear in a debate with H. Clark Bell at the Town of Kingston Town Hall last night according to a statement released this morning by town chairman Maurice Reedy.

Reedy said he was disappointed that Savago failed to appear at the Town Hall so that the enrolled Republicans of the

Uong Is Director

R. L. Cantine, chairman of the Board, has announced the election of D. D. Uong to the Board of Directors of The Martin Cantine Company.

In addition to his duties as a director, Uong will serve as an advisor and consultant on technical problems related to coated specialties and new products.

Uong has been identified with the industry for more than 40 years. He was a member of the Board of Directors of Pittsburgh Paper Company before that company merged with Litton Industries, Inc. He was serving in the capacity of senior vice president in charge of New Products Development when he retired in 1965.

Town of Kingston could have an opportunity to hear both candidates present their programs and submit to questions and answers from the audience.

Reedy said local public meetings afford candidates an opportunity to express their political views and to explore those of the public.

Chairman Reedy added that he appreciated Bell appearing and submitting to questions and answers from the concerned Republicans of the Town of Kingston.

"Although the Town of Kingston is small, we all like the opportunity to question candidates for public office on their positions and we thank Bell for appearing."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Apollo command module that will return American astronauts from the moon uses only 3,000 watts of electricity—the voltage required by the ordinary electric range, says The World Almanac. The spacecraft, however, contains some 15 miles of wire, more than enough for 50 two-bedroom homes.

Plattsburgh Pastor, Wife Are Critical

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—An upstate New York minister and his wife were in critical condition at St. John's Hospital today, with burns received in a Vandalia, Ill., motel explosion and fire.

The Rev. John Cramer and his wife, Louise, both 33, of Plattsburgh, N.Y., were admitted to a hospital in Vandalia immediately after the explosion Wednesday and later were transferred to St. John's.

The Church of the Nazarene minister and his wife had stopped at the motel en route to a church convention at Kansas City, Mo. The explosion, which authorities said was ignited by some kind of gas, blew off the ceiling of their room and touched off flames.

The Rev. H. L. Hampton, of Fairlawn, N.J., who was traveling with the couple, was in an adjoining room. The room was damaged by the blast, but he escaped injury.

Cramer told authorities the explosion occurred when his wife turned on a light switch.

School Bus Hit, 13 Are Injured

NEW YORK (UPI)—A school bus carrying New Jersey youngsters held its regular Fractional Point Game at the Elk's Club, and played 24 boards in a Mitchell movement.

On the North-South side, Ralph Wessellmann of Shokan and Henry Berleth of Woodstock took first place.

On the East-West side, Michael Liuni of Tilton and James Cavin of Kingston won a free game with the highest over-all score.

On the North-South side, second place went to Miss Dorothy Maroon and Arling Kallenberg of Kingston; third spot was taken by Mr. and Mrs. W. Bryant of Poughkeepsie.

On the East-West side, second place went to Mr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara of Hurley; third place went to Steve Lumish and Abhay Jhaveri of Kingston.

The Glencrie bridge club will hold its regular fractional house game next Tuesday, June 18, at the Elk's Club. There will be an Open Pairs Championship at the YWCA, Cannon Street, Poughkeepsie, Monday, 7:30 p.m. All bridge players may attend.

Stewart Gets Medal, Ends Career in AF

BY BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James Stewart recently ended a 27-year career with a rare distinction: the Air Force's Distinguished Service Medal.

It was only the second time that the honor had been bestowed on a Reserve officer. The citation said that "the singularly distinctive accomplishments of Gen. Stewart culminate a long and distinguished career in the service of his country and reflect the highest credit upon himself and the U.S. Air Force."

Having retired from the service at 60, Jimmy Stewart returned from the Washington ceremonies and indulged in some rare reflection on his years with the Air Force. Actually, it was the Army Air Corps when he was drafted on March 22, 1941. Stewart took his training at Moffatt Field, Calif., was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1942, went to England in 1943, flew 20 combat missions over Germany and left active duty as a colonel in 1945. Stewart explained why he chose to remain in the Air Force Reserve: "I got a lot out of my experience in the service during the war; I think that experience helped make me a better civilian. I was greatly impressed with the caliber of men I met and worked with, and I wanted to continue that relationship."

Two Vietnam Visits

For the next 23 years, the actor spent two or three weeks a year on active duty, including two visits to Vietnam. His most memorable experience, he said, was working with Gen. Curtis E. LeMay during the formative period of the Strategic Air Command. In addition to his active duty, Stewart made numerous appearances for the Air Force, in person and on film and television.

He conceded that some highly vocal segments of today's society are antimilitary, but he said that such expressions are common in peacetime.

"When I was a kid, military people were tucked away on a base somewhere; they never took part in any of the civic functions," he remarked. "If a boy ran off and joined the Army, he was considered to be a failure."

"Now the military is very much a part of our society, and I think that's a good thing. I find the caliber of military personnel is very high. You find among them a tough-mindedness and spirit to do the job correctly."

States. That's a pretty good indication that it is producing not just leaders, but scholars.

"Yes, I know a lot of people say, 'The military's only purpose is to make war—to kill.' I don't believe that. I've found in the military almost a reverence for humanity. When you deal with the kind of person I've encountered in the service, patriotism makes sense."

Huguenot Historical Meeting on Saturday

The Huguenot Historical Society will hold its 70th annual meeting in New Paltz Saturday. Upwards of 100 persons are expected to attend the meeting, with many traveling to New Paltz from areas outside the United States.

A luncheon will be held at the Devo Assembly Hall on Broadhurst Avenue, the meeting place of the society.

One of the highlights of this year's meeting will be the awarding of a certificate and plaque to the Memorial House (Jean Hasbrouck House) by the Society.

Department of the Interior, National Historic Sites. The house was noted during the past year as one of the three outstanding houses in our nation. It is the only known house of its kind of Flemish architecture, built in 1694-1712, standing in this nation.

Dr. Lawrence J. Zollar, assistant superintendent, New York City, National Park Service Group, will represent the Department of the Interior in the presentation of the certificate and plaque. During the meeting of the members of the Society which will begin at 2 p.m., Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society, of New Paltz, Inc. will receive the award for the Society.

Reservations have been made for a number of people arriving by plane and automobile for the event. Some guests will remain in New Paltz for several days. One of the notables who will be present Saturday is Mrs. Griswold Hurlbert, owner and manager of the Warren Tribune Chronicle, Warren, O., and several members of her staff, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hasbrouck will be present from Elma, Wash.

Bridge Results

The Glencrie Bridge Club held its regular fractional Point Game at the Elk's Club, and played 24 boards in a Mitchell movement.

Synagogue News

Agudas Achim

Congregation Agudas Achim, 24 West Union Street, Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, DD, Rev. Herman Slomovits, cantor.

Agudas Achim an Orthodox Synagogue, affiliated with the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, is open every day of the year for minyan services and private devotions. Visitors and new members are always welcome. Friday evening, the Sabbath Candles, will be lighted at 8:03. Mincha Services will start at 7:45 p. m.

Saturday morning services will start at 8:30. Norman Blindel will be called to the Torah, in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Miss Randi Goodman. Chester Gordon will be called to the Torah in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Miss Hana Zelnar. Rabbi Rappaport will speak on the topic, "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom," based on the week's Biblical portion from Numbers 8. The Mincha services will start at 7:45 and will be followed by a discussion of the weekly study portion of the Ethics of the Fathers.

Sunday morning services will start at 8. Mincha services on Sunday will start at 7.

Weekday services will be held at 7 a. m. and at 7 p. m. All parents are urged to have their children attend services during the summer so that their work in the Talmud Torah will not be totally interrupted. Saturday morning they should be in the Synagogue at 9:30. They may also attend evening services during the week at 7 p. m.

Shavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Shavath Israel, a Conservative Congregation, at 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday at 8 p. m. From now until after the High Holy Days, these services will be worship and prayer services, with no sermon or Oneg Shabbat, except for special occasions.

During the summer season the following schedule of services will be followed: Saturday services only in the morning at 9:30 a. m., Sunday mornings at 10 a. m., and weekday mornings at 8. Additional services will be announced for special occasions.

This Friday evening, in honor of their son's Bar Mitzvah, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Weinstein, will give the Oneg Shabbat, which will take place in the auditorium after the religious services. On Saturday, during services which will begin at 9:30 a. m., Herschel Saul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Weinstein, will become Bar Mitzvah. The Bar Mitzvah ceremony will take place with the boy chanting the prophetic reading of the Bible, as well as the concluding portion of the Bible reading of the week, and the chanting of the Shema service. Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman will give the Bar Mitzvah boy the lesson for the day, and also his blessing. The heads of the various congregation will present the boy with the traditional Bar Mitzvah gifts.

Tuesday, June 18, the Sisterhood will sponsor a luncheon for the benefit of Torah Fund, which is the occasion for assisting the financial needs of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City. The Hebrew class sessions of the Talmud Torah of Kingston are now closed. At the last session, held today, awards were given to the all-around best student of each class. A special award, presented by Mrs. and Mrs. Sam Barnovitz in memory of their parents, was presented to two most deserving students of the highest class, Diana Colen and Randy Speisman.

TESTIMONIAL — On hand for Ulster County Ambulance Association dinner were (L.) Mrs. Harriet Weber, High Falls, secretary of group; Thomas Burkhouse, of Nanonoh, vice president; the Rev. Emmet B. Waite, Poughkeepsie, coordinator for Ulster County Community College program accepting plaque from Gilbert Gray, Kingston, association president and Daniel Fochi, West Hurley, acting treasurer.

Ambulancemen Honor Course Coordinator

A dinner was held by the Ulster County Ambulance Association at Weng's Restaurant recently, honoring the Rev. Emmet B. Waite, coordinator of the course in Emergency Care and Rescue given by the Ulster County Community College. The guests were welcomed by Gilbert Gray, of Kingston, president of the association. Invocation was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Waite.

Certificates of Achievement in recognition of their participation in the course in Emergency Care and Rescue were presented to the graduates of the course. Those awarded the certificates were as follows:

Ronald Dixon, Franklin M. Brown and August Hull, of the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad; William L. McPeck, Barry Craft and Ernest Breitling, of the Saugerties Ambulance Service; Edith Earle and

Charlie Mullen, of the Wallkill Rescue Squad; Burton Shultis, John O'Leary, Rolf Bergenn, Calvin Brueckner, George C. Weber and Frank Raffaldi, of West Hurley Rescue Squad; T. H. Jones, James Silis, Harold D. Humphrey, and Richard Martine, of Doctors Ambulance, Kingston and John Lydecker, of Mt. Marion.

Gray introduced the guest of honor, the Rev. Mr. Waite. In his talk, the Rev. Mr. Waite stressed the necessity for responsibility in emergency care of the sick and injured, and said he felt the ambulance services and rescue squads were on the right track in taking this college course.

Gray presented the Rev. Mr. Waite with a certificate of appreciation for his efforts in behalf of the Ulster County Ambulance Association. A gift was presented to Cliff

Health for All

AS WE LIVE AND BREATHE

One of the benefits of civilization, along with no-return bottles and mini skirts, is that fashions in dying have changed from those our parents knew. And they're still changing.

People used to die of bubonic plague, smallpox, childbed fever. Not so any more, at least in this country. Those quick and dramatic deaths caused by outside influences like germs are not quite so fashionable today. Today people die more often from breakdowns of the machinery.

The machinery has time to wear out, since we live longer. So the popular causes of death nowadays are internal—cancer and heart disease, for example. Also, problems of the breathing machinery—the lungs.

As we live and breathe, we have to expect that the machinery will show wear and tear and it used to—and it does. Among causes of death in man, chronic respiratory (breathing) diseases are now seventh on the list. In about 88,000 deaths—both men and women—in a recent year, breathing problems were either the direct cause or a contributing factor.

Deaths from two diseases of breathing—emphysema and chronic bronchitis—have approximately doubled every five years since 1950. New cases of bronchitis combined with emphysema almost tripled over a recent four-year period. Chronic bronchitis alone more than doubled, and emphysema alone was more than two and a half times more prevalent.

We are not in the habit of thinking about our breathing; but we ought to be. If signs such as shortness of breath, chronic cough, wheezing and excessive spitting appear, better ask your doctor to check. We can change the statistics if we really take care of our breathing!

Synagogue News

Agudas Achim

Agudas Achim an Orthodox Synagogue, affiliated with the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, is open every day of the year for minyan services and private devotions. Visitors and new members are always welcome. Friday evening, the Sabbath Candles, will be lighted at 8:03. Mincha Services will start at 7:45 p. m.

Saturday morning services will start at 8:30. Norman Blinder will be called to the Torah, in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Miss Randi Goodman. Chester Gordon will be called to the Torah in honor of his forthcoming marriage to Miss Hana Zelman. Rabbi Rappaport will speak on the topic, The Seven Pillars of Wisdom, based on the week's Biblical portion from Numbers 8. The Mincha services will start at 7:45 and will be followed by a discussion of the weekly study portion of the Ethics of the Fathers.

Sunday morning services will start at 8. Mincha services on Sunday will start at 7.

Weekday services will be held at 7 a. m. and at 7 p. m. All parents are urged to have the children attend services during the summer so that their work in the Talmud Torah will not be totally interrupted. Saturday morning they should be in the Synagogue at 9:30. They may also attend evening services during the week at 7 p. m.

Shavath Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Shavath Israel, a Conservative Congregation, at 100 Lucas Avenue, every Friday at 8 p. m. From now until after the High Holy Days, these services will be worship and prayer services, with no sermon or Oneg Shabbat, except for special occasions.

During the summer season the following schedule of services will be followed: Saturday services only in the morning at 9:30 a. m., Sunday mornings 10 a. m., and weekday mornings at 8. Additional services will be announced for special occasions.

This Friday evening, in honor of their son's Bar Mitzvah, Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Weinstein, will give the Oneg Shabbat, which will take place in the auditorium after the religious services. On Saturday, during services which will begin at 9:30 a. m., Herschel Saul, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Weinstein, will become Bar Mitzvah. The Bar Mitzvah ceremony will take place with the boy chanting the prophetic reading of the Bible, as well as the concluding portion of the Bible reading of the week, and the chanting of the Mussaf service. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will give the Bar Mitzvah boy the lesson for the day, and also his blessing. The heads of the various congregation will present the boy with the traditional Bar Mitzvah gifts.

Tuesday, June 18, the Sisterhood will sponsor a luncheon for the benefit of Torah Fund, which is the occasion for assisting the financial needs of the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City. The Hebrew class sessions of the Talmud Torah of Kingston are now closed. At the last session, held today, awards were given to the all-around best student of each class. A special award, presented by Mrs. and Mrs. Sam Barnovitz in memory of their parents, was presented to two most deserving students of the highest class, Diane Colen and Randy Speisman.

TESTIMONIAL — On hand for Ulster County Ambulance Association dinner were (L) Mrs. Harriet Weber, High Falls, secretary of group; Thomas Burkhouse, of Napanoch, vice president; the Rev. Emmet B. Waite, Poughkeepsie, coordinator for Ulster County Community College program accepting plaque from Gilbert Gray, Kingston, association president and Daniel Fochi, West Hurley, acting treasurer.

Ambulancemen Honor Course Coordinator

A dinner was held by the Ulster County Ambulance Association at Weng's Restaurant recently, honoring the Rev. Emmet B. Waite, coordinator of the course in Emergency Care and Rescue given by the Ulster County Community College. The guests were welcomed by Gilbert Gray, of Kingston, president of the association. The invocation was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Waite.

Certificates of Achievement in recognition of their participation in the course in Emergency Care and Rescue were presented to the graduates of the course. Those awarded the certificates were as follows:

Ronald Dixon, Franklin M. Brown and August Hull, of the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad; William L. McPeck, Barry Craft and Ernest Breitling, of the Saugerties Ambulance Association; Edith Earle and

Charlie Mullen, of the Wallkill Rescue Squad; Burton Shultis, John O'Leary, Rolf Berggren, Calvin Brueckner, George C. Weber and Frank Raffaldi, of West Hurley Rescue Squad; T. H. Jones, James Sills, Harold D. Humphrey, and Richard D. Martine, of Doctors Ambulance, Kingston and John Lydecker, of Mt. Marion.

Gray introduced the guest of honor, the Rev. Mr. Waite. In his talk, the Rev. Mr. Waite stressed the necessity for responsibility in emergency care of the sick and injured, and said he felt the ambulance services and rescue squads were on the right track in taking this college course.

Gray presented the Rev. Mr. Waite with a certificate of appreciation for his efforts in behalf of the Ulster County Ambulance Association. A gift was presented to Cliff

Jones, of Saugerties Ambulance Service, in appreciation of his efforts in teaching first aid courses.

SALE OF HAY AT SEALED BID

Advertisement for bid is hereby given that sealed proposals are sought and requested for sale of approximately fifty acres of standing hay. The above referred to hay is located at the farm of the Ulster County Dept. of Social Services in Saugerties, New York. The sealed proposals must be clearly marked on the outside of the envelope "Hay Bid". Bids on the above must be submitted to the office of the Ulster County Purchasing Agent before 1:45 p. m. on June 13, 1968 and will be publicly opened at 2:00 o'clock p. m. on the same date.

The successful bidder will be required to pay 10% of the amount of his bid in cash or certified check on notification—balance in 30 days.

The Ulster County Purchasing Agent reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Compliance with Section 103a of General Municipal Law is required. Dated: June 4, 1968

Health for All

AS WE LIVE AND BREATHE

One of the benefits of civilization, along with no-return bottles and mini-skirts, is that fashions in dying have changed from those our parents knew. And they're still changing.

People used to die of bubonic plague, smallpox, childbed fever. Not so any more, at least in this country. Those quick and dramatic deaths caused by outside influences like germs are not quite so fashionable today. Today people die more often from breakdowns of the machinery.

The machinery has time to wear out, since we live longer. So the popular causes of death nowadays are internal—cancer and heart disease, for example. Also, problems of the breathing machinery—the lungs.

As we live and breathe, we have to expect that the machinery will show more wear and tear than it used to—and it does. Among causes of death in man, chronic respiratory (breathing) diseases are now seventh on the list. In about 88,000 deaths—both men and women—in a recent year, breathing problems were either the direct cause or a contributing factor.

Deaths from two diseases of breathing—emphysema and chronic bronchitis—have approximately doubled every five years since 1950. New cases of bronchitis combined with emphysema almost tripled over a recent four-year period. Chronic bronchitis alone more than doubled, and emphysema alone was more than two and a half times more prevalent.

We are not in the habit of thinking about our breathing, but we ought to be. If signs such as shortness of breath, chronic cough, wheezing and excessive spitting appear, better ask your doctor to check. We can change the statistics if we really take care of our breathing.

Dear Abby

Music as You Work, Irks

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I work in an office. The management went to a lot of expense to put in music. It's supposed to increase your efficiency, but it doesn't increase mine. In fact, it slows me up. Those tunes bring back memories. Some are good, but some are depressing and my mind wanders off, and I start thinking about everything but my work.

I asked my boss to cut off the music where I work. It's a whole area so they took a vote, and I lost. So the music stayed.

I work a lot better when it's quiet. Am I nuts? Or are they?

DEAR WONDERING: No body needs be "nuts." You're entitled to your own preferences, but in a "democratic system," the majority rules. (P.S. If it will make you feel any better, I'd have voted with you.)

WONDERING

DEAR ABBY: We are going to a wedding where the bride will be 4-months pregnant. Both she and the boy are 18 years old and will have graduated from high school the night before.

What is the proper thing to say to the young couple as well as to the parents when we go thru the receiving line?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: "Congratulations."

DEAR ABBY: How many chances do you think a person is entitled to? My wife was a nice, clean-cut girl from a good Christian home when I married her. (In fact, her Daddy was a minister.)

When our first child was 10 months old I came home from work one day and found the baby wet and screaming and all alone. My wife came home in a taxi at eleven o'clock that night, dead drunk.

She said she went to the corner grocery store, met a friend, and they went out for "a drink." One led to another and before she knew it, hours had passed. She begged for one more chance, so I gave it to her.

This has been going on for 6 years and it's always the same story. I can't count the "one more chance" I've given her.

We have two kiddies now, and my mother says she will take care of them for me if I decide to leave my wife, Abby. I love her. When she's sober, she's a wonderful, sweet person, but I can't go on like this. She's begging for "one more chance." What should I do?

BIG PROBLEM

DEAR BIG: Tell her you will give her one more chance if she agrees to give "Alcoholics Anonymous" a chance. A.A. has succeeded when every other formula for lasting sobriety has failed. They are listed in your telephone directory. But the one who needs the help has to do the calling.

DEAR ABBY: Recently your column used a letter describing the techniques of two mothers when their children yelled during injections. One mother promised a new doll if her daughter would shut up; the other spanked hers when she didn't.

I avoid either course by telling the child, "Remember, it will hurt a little when the doctor puts the needle in. If you think it hurts too much, don't yell. Just tell him it hurts, and he will take it right out 'goin'!"

GRANDMA

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The use of a two-club opening as a catch-all strong hand is almost universal in expert circles. Sometimes it shows a regular suit two bid, but most of the time it shows a 23-or-24-point no-trump hand. South's two-club call was in that class.

North's two-diamond response was a general negative and his three-club bid merely asked if South could show a four-card major suit.

It didn't take all this gadgetry to reach three no-trump. Any two players would be likely to find their way to that spot. They would also be very likely to make the contract.

All South has to do is concede one spade and wind up with three spades and two tricks in each other suit, but at the table West came up with a defensive coup that caused South to wind up with only seven tricks.

It wasn't done with mirrors—just by means of an unusual falsecard.

The queen of clubs was played from dummy at trick one, and East's king fell to South's ace. South led his five of spades and West played the queen!

South made the correct play of ducking in dummy. West led a second club. South ducked that lead and won the next club. Then South led a low diamond. West won with the jack and cashed his good club while East discarded a heart. Then West led a second diamond.

South won and played his other high diamond to see if that suit would break. West had already taken four tricks, so he could afford to throw his heart away.

Now South led the ace and his last low spade. West followed with the three and nine, and the time for decision had arrived. South thought awhile. He realized that something might well be going on, but it surely looked as if West had started with four spades to the queen. Jack. South played the ten from dummy, and instead of making three spades tricks wound up with only one.

Quick Quiz

Q—What is the average temperature range in Moscow?

A—At Moscow, the mean temperature for January, the coldest month, is 14 degrees. In July, the warmest month, the mean temperature is 66 degrees.

Q—Does paper, which is made of wood fibers, shrink and swell like lumber?

A—No, the fibers are intertwined and point in all directions, while in wood they are more or less parallel.

Q—What is amber?

A—The hardest resin known, it makes a very fine but expensive varnish. It comes from the fossils of extinct pine trees that once grew on the shores of the Baltic Sea.

Q—What event first served notice to the world that America has become a global power?

A—The global cruise of President Theodore Roosevelt's "Great White Fleet" from 1907 to 1909. The president dispatched 16 battleships from Hampton Roads, Va., on Dec. 16, 1907, for the first round-the-world cruise of an American fleet.

Q—Is there any article in the charter of statehood of Texas that grants privileges not given to other states?

A—The special privileges which are accorded to Texas by its constitution are the reserved right to all public lands of the state, and the right to subdivide into not more than five states.

Q—What provision is made for the press to cover proceedings in Congress?

A—A special space in the galleries is set aside for members of the press, and is known as the "Press Gallery."

Q—Has any filly ever won the Kentucky Derby?

A—Only one—Regret in 1915.

Computer Not Entertaining

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Television producers are, obviously, fascinated by the unusual uses of computers. The networks use them to project election results. Sponsors use them to pretest the appeal of programs and the selling power of commercials.

Just the Beginning

One even got into a variety show Wednesday night on "Music Hall" on NBC. That the effort—part of a comedy sketch—was a minor disaster is probably beside the point. It's just the beginning, folks.

The summer show starred John Davidson as host. He projected, in addition to a pleasant baritone, a boy-next-door charm and a kinship to the college crowd which made up his studio audience.

After some singing, Davidson demonstrated a two-button control switch furnished to each member of the audience. By pushing one of the two buttons, the audience would "write" the sketch. They were to vote, at critical moments, whether Davidson, in a white cowboy suit, or comedian Pete Barbuti, in black, would be the hero; whether the damsel in distress would be a school marm or a dance hall girl; whether the hero or the villain would be dispatched in the shoot-out.

Although the computer behaved well and the audience voted, it just didn't work out as entertainment. In addition, just about everything else went wrong. Breakaway bottles slipped out of hands and shattered prematurely, the sheriff's star kept dropping off Davidson's shirt and the tightness of his cowboy pants made picking it up a problem. And with each mishap, the performers broke up.

Sunday Big Day

Sunday will be the most important day in the life of Bill Burrud, "Animal Secrets," a series he has been building up for the past 10 years, will have its network premiere. It replaces "College Bowl" on NBC during the vacation period, and is one of the most dramatic sights of the world. It concerns the annual mass migration of more than a million animals from the Serengeti Plain to the Ngorongoro Crater in Africa at the beginning of the rainy season.

Burrud, who began as a child actor and has been an independent producer and narrator of syndicated travel shows, believes that true adventures are infinitely more exciting than fiction. He points to ABC's undersea series by Jacques Cousteau and CBS' National Geographic Society specials as evidence. "What could be more exciting than seeing animals, many of them natural enemies, moving together without conflict for more than 500 miles?" Burrud asked. "Everything from lions to gazelles and cheetahs. Hell, it may even make the public think more about conserving these creatures."

Joe—No, I don't, but I know what he was doing when he was your age.

Memorial Vote For RFK Favored

By JERRY RANKIN
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Some members of California's Democratic National Convention delegation favor a first-ballot memorial vote for the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

That's one finding of an Associated Press poll which also uncovered little open support among the delegates for either of the two surviving presidential candidates, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey or Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

The survey reached 113 persons, about two-thirds of the 172 members. The rest were unavailable.

Highway Discussion
BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Representatives of New York, New Hampshire and Vermont say they will meet later this month to discuss a highway that would connect northern New York and northern New England.

The New Hampshire-Vermont Development Council and the Black River-St. Lawrence Economic Development Commission of New York said Wednesday the meeting would be held here June 20.

N.Y. State and June 18 Primary: Hubert-Gene Vying, 71 for Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Supporters of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy will compete for the bulk of the Democratic convention delegates that Robert F. Kennedy was expected to win in New York State's primary election next Tuesday.

Democrats will elect 123 delegates — three from each of the state's 41 congressional districts — and Kennedy had planned a strong campaign to win the lion's share. His prospects had been rated good.

RFK slates stay
Although Kennedy has been removed from the scene, the delegate slates that favored his presidential candidacy still will appear on the ballot and are eligible for election. Most observers assume, however, that Kennedy partisans will switch to pro-Humphrey or pro-McCarthy slates.

Jordan Mortars Wound Four Israeli Settlers
By United Press International
A Jordanian mortar barrage wounded four Israeli settlers in the northern Beisan Valley Wednesday night, Israeli military spokesmen said in Jerusalem today.

The Israelis said their counterfiring silenced the Jordanian mortars about midnight. They said the shelling occurred near the Geshur settlement and that the four wounded were not hurt seriously.

In Jerusalem Wednesday, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said Israeli security officials were investigating the transmission of funds by King Hussein of Jordan to former officials of his regime in occupied Jordan. He said the money had been used to subsidize opposition to Israel.

Dayan said 381 Arab guerrillas and 71 Jordanian soldiers had been killed in clashes along the frontier since the six-day Middle East war ended a year ago. He said another 1,824 Arab irregulars were taken prisoner. Israeli losses during the same period were listed as 108 soldiers and 20 civilians killed.

are the usual scraps over less-er local offices across the state. The competition for Democratic presidential delegates is the most extensive in memory in this state. In the past, delegate-hunters have been discouraged by the unwieldy process of having to wage separate campaigns in so many congressional districts and by the fact that the elected delegates are not bound by law to support any candidate at the nominating convention.

Nevertheless, McCarthy supporters entered full or partial slates in 37 districts, seeking a total of 109 delegates. Kennedy men filed in 30 districts, for 88 seats. The official Humphrey effort is concentrated in 25 districts, on 75 seats.

Hope for Tribute Vote
The men who were running Kennedy's campaign say they still hope to elect a large number of delegates, as a tribute to the slain senator. Privately, however, they concede it is likely that many Democrats will make another choice — in districts where an alternative is offered.

Opinion is divided as to whether Humphrey or McCarthy would be the main beneficiary of late switches.

Congressional Scene
The congressional phase of the primary offers several noteworthy contests.

In Brooklyn, reapportionment threw veteran Democratic Reps. Edna F. Kelly and Emanuel Celler into the same district. A third contender, Robert M. Heller, jumped into the race.

In Harlem, Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, who has been denied seating by the House of Representatives, nevertheless is trying for renomination, against challenger John H. Young.

In Manhattan's "silk stocking" district, once represented by Mayor John V. Lindsay, two state legislators, Sen. Whitney North Seymour Jr. and Assemblyman S. William Green, are fighting for the Republican nomination in place of retiring Rep. Theodore R. Kuypferman. Three Democrats are vying for their party's nomination in the same district.

Memorial Vote For RFK Favored

By JERRY RANKIN
SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Some members of California's Democratic National Convention delegation favor a first-ballot memorial vote for the assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.
That's one finding of an Associated Press poll which also uncovered little open support among the delegates for either of the two surviving presidential candidates, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey or Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.
The survey reached 113 persons, about two-thirds of the 172 members. The rest were unavailable.

Highway Discussion
BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Representatives of New York, New Hampshire and Vermont say they will meet later this month to discuss a highway that would connect northern New York and northern New England.

The New Hampshire Vermont Development Council and the Black River-St. Lawrence Economic Development Commission of New York said Wednesday the meeting would be held here June 20.

N.Y. State and June 18 Primary: Hubert-Gene Vying, 71 for Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Supporters of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy will compete for the bulk of the Democratic convention delegates that Robert F. Kennedy was expected to win in New York State's primary election next Tuesday.
Democrats will elect 123 delegates—three from each of the state's 41 congressional districts—and Kennedy had planned a strong campaign to win the lion's share. His prospects had been rated good.
RFK Slates Stay
Although Kennedy has been removed from the scene, the delegate slates that favored his presidential candidacy still will appear on the ballot and are eligible for election. Most observers assume, however, that Kennedy partisans will switch to pro-Humphrey or pro-McCarthy slates.

In the Republican column, Gov. Rockefeller is assured of at least 71 of the 82 GOP delegates that will be chosen. Backers of Richard M. Nixon are challenging only 11 delegate seats—four in the Rochester area, four in the Buffalo area and three on Long Island.
The election also will feature the first test of New York's new direct—primary law replacing the old state convention method of nominating candidates for statewide office. Enrolled party members thus will choose their U.S. Senate candidates by ballot.
Three Democrats are battling down to the wire for their party's nomination.
Eugene H. Nickerson, the Nassau County executive, is favored largely because he was the official choice of the Kennedy-dominated Democratic State Committee and has strong organization support. U.S. Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville has been campaigning as a defender of President Johnson's administration, while former New York Councilman Paul O'Dwyer has identified himself with McCarthy.

The Republican incumbent, Jacob K. Javits, has no competition for the GOP nomination, but his endorsement by the Liberal Party is being challenged by labor lawyer Murray Baron.
Lawyer James L. Buckley, an older brother of columnist William Buckley, is running unopposed for the Conservative party nomination.

In what appears to be a banner year for primary fights, a compilation by The Associated Press shows there also are 31 contests for congressional nominations, 68 for seats in the State Assembly and 15 for Senate nominations. In addition there are the usual scraps over lesser local offices across the state.
The competition for Democratic presidential delegates is the most extensive in memory in this state. In the past, delegate-hunters have been discouraged by the unwieldy process of having to wage separate campaigns in so many congressional districts and by the fact that the elected delegates are not bound by law to support any candidate at the nominating convention.

Nevertheless, McCarthy supporters entered full or partial slates in 37 districts, seeking a total of 109 delegates. Kennedy men filed in 30 districts, for 88 seats. The official Humphrey effort is concentrated in 25 districts, on 75 seats.

In the wake of Kennedy's assassination, his partisans cancelled plans for a homestretch campaign effort that was to have been supported by widespread advertising and mailings. Some slates of pro-Kennedy delegates said they would go the convention uncommitted, if elected.

Hope for Tribute Vote
The men who were running Kennedy's campaign say they still hope to elect a large number of delegates, as a tribute to the slain senator. Privately, however, they concede it is likely that many Democrats will make another choice—in districts where an alternative is offered.
Opinion is divided as to whether Humphrey or McCarthy would be the main beneficiary of late switches.

There is considerable question also over the effect that Kennedy's passing might have on the race for the Senate nomination. Nickerson supporters were concerned that his base of pro-Kennedy votes might be undermined. Resnick sought to identify himself closely with Humphrey, although he has not been endorsed by the vice president.

Congressional Scene
The congressional phase of the primary offers several noteworthy contests.
In Brooklyn, reapportionment threw a veteran Democratic Rep. Edna F. Kelly and Emanuel Celler into the same district. A third contender, Robert M. Heller, jumped into the race.
In Harlem, Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, who has been denied seating by the House of Representatives, nevertheless is trying for renomination, against challenger John H. Young.

In Manhattan's "silk stocking" district, once represented by Mayor John V. Lindsay, two state legislators, Sen. Whitney North Seymour Jr. and Assemblyman S. William Green, are fighting for the Republican nomination in place of retiring Rep. Theodore R. Kufnerman. Three Democrats are vying for their party's nomination in the same district.
